A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

NOTE.—By January next 100 sets only of the Dictionary would be available for sale.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill is intended to give effect to the decision, lately arrived at by the Government of India, in consultation with the Local Government and with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, to establish a Chief Court in Lower Burma. The details will be found explained in the annexed Notes on Clauses.

DENZIL IBBETSON,

The 4th January, 1900.

Notes on Clauses.

PRELIMINARY.

Besides the usual preliminary matter, which needs no explanation, this chapter contains (clause 3) a saving of the Regulations in force in the Hill District of Arakan, where the administration of civil justice is governed by special laws.

CHAPTER II.

THE CHIEF COURT.

This chapter follows generally the Punjab Courts Act, 1884, as amended. The titles of Judicial Commissioner and Recorder are abolished, as no longer necessary in one Court which will have jurisdiction throughout Lower Burma and the Judges of which will have authority to exercise the Court's jurisdiction in every case, wherever it may arise.

Clause 8.—Sub-clauses (a) and (b) will confer on the Chief Court the jurisdiction in respect of European British subjects throughout the whole of Burma now possessed by the Recorder of Rangoon under section 46 of the Lower Burma Courts Act, 1889. Sub-clause (c) continues to the Chief Court the Original Civil and Criminal jurisdiction now possessed by the Recorder. Sub-clause (d) provides for the exercise of insolvency jurisdiction under the Statute 11 & 12 Vict., c. 21, in Rangoon Town only. It is not proposed to provide for the exercise of such jurisdiction in Moulmein, Akyab and Bassein as at present.

Clause 9.—It appears desirable to enact in express words that the jurisdiction of the Court shall ordinarily be exercised by a single Judge of the Court.

Clause 19.—The subjects referred to in the various sub-clauses are considered to be such as may properly be dealt with by rules.

In sub-clause (3) of this clause it is proposed to give power to the Chief Court to fine ministerial officers of that Court only, the power of fining ministerial officers of subordinate Courts being conferred by clause 36 upon Judges of the Divisional and District Courts.

CHAPTER III.

THE SUBORDINATE CIVIL COURTS.

Clause 21.—The nomenclature for the subordinate Courts adopted in the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, is followed.

Clause 23.—The necessity for making special provision for the Rangoon Town, the circumstance that the Thayetmyo district is a portion only of the Minbu division, and the Arakan Hill Tracts being within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Arakan, stand in the way of the adoption of a section following the terms of section 9 of the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, under which an area constituted a division, etc., for revenue and administrative purposes, is the area for a Divisional, etc., Court's jurisdiction. The more elastic provisions of the Punjab Courts Act have, therefore, been followed, and it is proposed to provide by notifications for the division of Lower Burma into areas for the purposes of the jurisdiction of the various Civil Courts.

These areas will, as a rule, be the same as the areas for the purposes of revenue and general administration, but special provision will have to be made for exceptional cases, where it may be desirable that Courts presided over by officers appointed to perform judicial functions only should have jurisdiction over a larger area than a revenue township, subdivision, district, or division, as the case may be.

It is made compulsory to divide Lower Burma into divisions and districts, but optional to make subdivisions and townships, as it may be more convenient in certain cases to make either the District Court or the Subdivisional Court the Court of first instance.

Clause 26.—The Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, has been followed, omitting the limitation as to the Small Cause Court powers of a Township Court, as in some cases it may be desirable that a Township Court should have Small Cause Court powers beyond one hundred rupees.

Words have been added to enable the Local Government to confine the exercise of Small Cause Court powers to a portion of the area over which a Court has ordinary jurisdiction.

Clause 27.—The provisions in the present Lower Burma Courts Act have been adopted as sufficient provision for the Rangoon Court of Small Causes.

Clause 28.—This clause differs from the corresponding provision of the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, on which it is based, in that it makes an appeal from the decree of a Subdivisional Judge lie to the Divisional instead of to the District Court, and further permits of the assigning of the appeals from any specified Subdivisional Court, as well as from the District Court, to the Chief Court. The present arrangements, under which appeals from Subdivisional Courts are frequently heard by junior officers of little judicial experience, appear to be open to grave objection, and this change of the law is proposed on the understanding that additional Judges of the Divisional Court will be appointed, wherever this is needed, to prevent the Divisional Judges from being overburdened with work. As to the other change in the law, it is thought that with a Chief Court of four Judges, one of the best ways of relieving overworked Divisional Courts will be to transfer the appeals from some Subdivisional Courts to the Chief Court, and, further, it is believed that in some cases it will be more convenient for the suitors to go to Rangoon to present their appeals than to the head-quarters of the Commissioner of the Division.

Clause 29.—The provisions of the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, have been adopted, as it appears desirable that the limitation for appeals in the subordinate Courts should be the same in both parts of the province.

Clause 30.—This clause continues the special law of second appeal which at present obtains in Lower Burma in a somewhat different form. It takes the place of sections 22 to 26 of the Lower Burma Courts Act, 1889, which, subject to certain discretionary powers reserved to the Courts, confer a general right of second appeal to the Judicial Commissioner except as regards matters of fact as to which the two Lower Courts have concurred. Under this clause, in addition to the second appeals permissible under section 584 of the Code of Civil Procedure, a second appeal to the Chief Court is given as of right on matters of fact, as well as on questions of law, when the decrees of the two Lower Courts are at variance, subject to the condition in the case of small cause and unclassed suits that the value of the suit exceeds five hundred rupees. These provisions have been tentatively inserted with the view of eliciting an expression of opinion from those concerned.

Clause 34.—It has been thought better to abandon the system under the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, by which the officer in charge of an area for executive and administrative purposes is ipso facto the Judge of the Civil Court for that area.

CHAPTER IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

Most of the provisions of this chapter, which are in the main taken from the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, the Lower Burma Courts Act, 1889, and the Punjab Courts Act, 1888, need no explanations.

Clause 41.—It is proposed to extend the Legal Practitioners Act, XVIII of 1879, to Lower Burma upon the coming into force of this Act, and no further provision than this clause, which simply declares that all advocates and pleaders practising in the Courts which it is proposed to abolish are entitled to be enrolled and to practise in the new Courts, would appear to be necessary.

Clause 42.—The power conferred by this clause on the Local Government to make rules, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, as to process-serving establishments for all Courts (Civil, Criminal and Revenue) in Lower Burma, is similar to that already possessed by it in Upper Burma under section 32 of the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896.

CHAPTER V.

PROVISION FOR PENDING AND PAST PROCEEDINGS.

The necessity for these provisions, which are chiefly taken from similar provisions in the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1896, and the Punjab Courts Act, 1884, is obvious.

Clause 45.—This clause makes special provision for the transfer of any pending insolvency proceedings in the Moulmein Town Court under the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict., c. 21), to the District Court of Amherst, and for the continuance of the exercise by this last-mentioned Court of jurisdiction under the Statute in proceedings so transferred.

CHAPTER VI.

GENERAL.

Clauses 48 and 49 and Schedules.—It is hoped that these contain every Act and Regulation which it will be necessary to either amend or repeal.

The Chief Court being constituted a "High Court" within the definition of that term in the General Clauses Act, 1897, in respect of every Court in Lower Burma, many provisions of the present Lower Burma Courts Act, 1889, need not be inserted. The Burma Laws Act, 1898, also renders the repetition of some provisions unnecessary.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, December 23rd, 1899.

No rain was reported from any station on Sunday. On Monday a light shower slightly exceeding a tenth of an inch was received at Quetta and Minimarg in North Kashmir reported a light fall of snow. Snow continued falling in small quantities in Kashmir on Tuesday and Trincomalee received 1·36 inches of rain. Pressure gave way in Persia on Wednesday and a shallow depression was formed in the Persian Gulf which gave moderately heavy showers of rain to Bushire and Jask. The depression advanced in an easterly direction and on Thursday morning was lying over the Mekran coast. It had commenced filling up, but pressure gave way briskly to rapidly in Baluchistan, Sind and the West Punjab and on Friday morning the depression had entered Sind, having given a quarter of an inch of rain to Quetta and Chaman. The depression extended into the Central Punjab by Saturday morning, but had nearly filled up and was of but little importance. Light showers had again fallen in Baluchistan and light snow was falling in North Kashmir. The only precipitation in the plains was a very light shower at Peshawar on Friday.

Showers continued during the greater part of the week at Trincomalee, the total amount received at that station being 4·74 inches, but no rain of any importance has been reported from stations in South India. Weather during the past week has thus been fine over the whole of the Indian region with the exception of Baluchistan, Kashmir and Ceylon.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 30th December.—There was no rain during the week. Water supplies are diminishing and generally insufficient. Agricultural operations, except harvesting, are confined to areas under irrigation. The standing crops continue to deteriorate generally. The harvest is yielding indifferently. Pasturage is growing scarce in parts, but fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are slightly easier in the Circars, and slightly dearer in the Deccan and parts of the Carnatic: elsewhere the rise has been considerable.

Bombay.—For week ending 1st January.—There was no rain during the week. Rain is urgently wanted for the standing late crops which are withering in parts of the Karnatak and Deccan. The harvesting of early crops is completed in several districts and is progressing in others. The sowing of spring crops is in progress in Ratnagiri, the Upper Sind frontier and in irrigated lands in Ahmedabad. The standing spring crops are in good condition in Sind, Konkan and Baroda and in irrigated lands in Kaira, Panch Mahals and in four districts of the Deccan. The fodder supply is scanty in parts of the Deccan and in Bijapur, Belgaum and Baroda. Cattle are suffering severely owing to scarcity of fodder in five districts of Guzerat and in parts of Poona, Satara, Nasik and Rajkot. Prices have fallen in five districts, risen in four and are stationary elsewhere. The average daily numbers on relief are as follows:—British districts:—On test works 43,427, on relief works 419,246, dependants 92,593. Total on works 555,266. In poor-houses 4,265, on village relief 18,863. Total on gratuitous relief 23,128. Grand total on relief 578,394. Native States:—On relief works 272,347, dependants 41,099. Total on works 314,446. In poor-houses 12,905, on village relief 5,979. Total on gratuitous relief 18,884. Grand total on relief 333,330.

Bengal.—For week ending 1st January.—No rain fell during the week. The harvesting of winter rice is being rapidly completed. All cold weather crops, including poppy, are doing well except in parts of Chota Nagpur. Sugarcane is being pressed. The price of common rice is reported to have risen in 20 districts and fallen in 6 only; it is stationary in the remainder. Fodder is generally sufficient and the condition of cattle is good.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 3rd January.—The weather has been clear except in a few districts where it has been occasionally cloudy. The spring crops, though much in need of rain, are in flower and in ear in some places and are generally reported to be in good condition at present, except in Bareilly, Budaun and Shahjahanpur, where white ants are causing them damage. Irrigation and weeding continue. The pressing of sugarcane is still in progress. Supplies are still reported to be sufficient, but fodder is becoming scarce over an increased area. Prices have slightly risen in 21 districts and are stationary elsewhere. In Bulandshahr immigration continues, and in Aligarh immigrants from Bikaner are increasing, there were 2246 persons on three relief works in Jhansi, the fall in the number being due to fines for short work. One test relief work was opened in Agra, but it has failed to attract workers. There were 338 persons who were receiving relief in poor-houses.

Punjab.—For week ending 3rd January.—There was a light fall of rain in parts of the Jhelum and Rawalpindi districts. Sugarcane-pressing and cotton-picking are still going on in Jullundar, Lahore, Amritsar and Sialkot. The harvesting of the autumn crops is nearly over in Dera Ismail Khan. The sowings of spring crops continue on irrigated lands in Hissar, Rohtak, Gurgaon, Karnal, Amballa and Sialkot, and have been finished in Jullundar, Mooltan, Lahore and Gujrat. Sowings on unirrigated lands have not been made for want of rain in some districts. Crops are being watered from wells and canals. The outturn of the autumn crops is average in Sialkot and much below average in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of the standing crops is getting worse in Rohtak, bad in parts of Mooltan, poor in parts of Dera Ismail Khan, below average in Amballa, and average to below average in Rawalpindi. They are suffering in Amballa and Ferozepur for want of rain and insufficiency of canal water. They are good in Gurgaon and in parts of Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. Prospects generally depend on the winter rains. Rain is very badly wanted throughout the province. Water is decreasing in wells in Gurgaon, it is scarce in Karnal, and in the Bara stream of Peshawar it is running low. Gram and rape crops are damaged by caterpillars in the Fazilka Tahsil of the Ferozepur district, and by insects in parts of Dera Ismail Khan. Cattle are dying from starvation in Shahpur. They are in very poor condition in Jhelum and in parts of Dera Ismail Khan. The cattle in other districts also are lean on account of overwork and want of fodder. Fodder is generally scarce throughout the province; it is said to be sufficient in parts of Peshawar. Sugar-cane reeds and leaves of trees are being used as fodder. The scarcity is being keenly felt throughout the province. The average number on relief was as follows:—On relief works—Hissar 57,547, Rohtak 13,521, Delhi 3,447. Test works—Gurgaon 7,662, Ferozepur 4,438, Karnal 6,799, Mooltan 2,035, Gujrat 851, Jhelum 1,812. Dependants—Gurgaon 1,080, Delhi 393, Karnal 660. Gratuitously relieved—Gurgaon 557, Delhi 80. Prices are rising in Hissar, Rohtak, Karnal, Amballa, Jullundar, Mooltan, Amritsar and Rawalpindi, and falling or unchanged in other districts. Burma.—For week ending 3rd December.—In Lower Burma the reaping and threshing of paddy continue. The crop will probably be short in Prome. In Upper Burma the reaping of paddy progresses. Sessamum and juar are being reaped in the Budalin sub-division. In Lower Chindwin the sowing of miscellaneous crops continues and dry weather paddy is still being sown in nurseries. The standing crops are in good condition. The price of paddy has risen in Tharrawaddy and slightly in Rangoon and has fallen in Amherst.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 2nd January.—The weather is occasionally cloudy. The nights and mornings are cool, but the days are abnormally warm. The winter crops continue to suffer for want of rain or dew, but generally the prospects have not much changed since last week. What exists of the winter crops in Betul is being irrigated. Except in irrigated tracts, wheat and linseed are in bad condition, especially on light soils. Gram and masur have begun to flower. Of the late sown autumn crops tur and til are being reaped in parts. The outturn of til in Bhandara is estimated at 14 annas. The harvesting of autumn juar continues in Chanda. Water supply and fodder are scarce in parts. The demand for employment is generally increasing. Relief works are being extended. The number of Public Works Department relief camps now open is 106. Board of Trade (Fisheries and Harbour Department), London, December 19, 1899.

The Board of Trade have received, through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a despatch from Her Majesty's Representative at Sofia, enclosing the following Notices respecting quarantine in Bulgaria, viz.:—

(Traduction.)

de la Direction Sanitaire Civile de la Principauté du 23 Novembre '99.

A Messieurs les médecins de quarantaine à Varna, Bourgas, Hebibtchévo et Silistra, les médecins d'arrondissement à Onhialo, Baltchik, Toutracan, Nicopol, Rahovo, Tzaribrod, Doubuitza et Harmanly.

Dans l'Ordonnance sub No. 224 du Ministére de l'Intérieur du 14 Juin a.c., communiquée par télégramme No. 2235 de la même date, it est dit, entre autres, que "les vieux sacs ayant servi venant de localités non contaminées, ne peuvent entrer en Bulgarie qu'après une désinfection rigoureuse par la vapeur."

D'après le Conseil Médical Supérieur, la permission de laisser entrer de vieux sacs ayant servi comprend seulement les sacs qui ont été exportés de la Principauté avec de la marchandise et qui sont retournés pour être de nouveau remplis pour l'exportation, et cela en vue de la nécessité de faciliter les commerçants. Cependant, des informations parvenues à la Direction Sanitaire, il résulte que les vieux sacs venant de l'étranger ne sont pas ceux qui ont été exportés de Bulgarie, mais des sacs d'une toute autre provenance. Les commerçants—propriétaires mêmes de pareils sacs n'ont pas nié le fait qu'ils avaient acheté ces sacs par l'entremise de commissionnaire quelconques de Constantinople ou d'autres endroits, des boulangers et des magasins de la place. De sorte que les sacs achetés de cette façon ont contenu des farines ou d'autres marchandises comme riz, poivre, épices été et, dans ce cas il n'y a pas de doute que leur provenance peut être assimilée à celle des marchandises mêmes, à savoir: des Indes de l'Egypte et d'autres pays contaminés. C'est pour cela que l'entrée de ces sacs par les points quarantenaires avait donné lieu à des malentendus entre les intéressés et les autorités de quarantaine.

Il est parsuite évident que quelques uns de nos commerçants interprêtent différemment la mesure concernant les sacs déclarée par l'Ordonnance sub No. 224.

En conséquence, et vieux la possibilité que de pareils sacs importés introduisent la peste ainsi que d'autres maladies, le Conseil Médical Supérieur, par décision du 9 de ce mois approuvée par le Ministère de l'Intérieur, et en complément de son télégramme No. 2235 du 14 Juin a.c. porte ce qui suit à la connaissance des autorités susmentionnées pour les fins requises et de droit:

1° Laisser entrer, après une désinfection rigoureuse par la vapeur, seulement les vieux sacs ayant servi qui ont été exportés de la Principauté avec de la marchandise et qui ont été retournés pour être de nouveau remplis:

2° Pour éviter tous malentendus, l'entrée sera permise seulement dans le cas où les sacs auraient le plomb ou autres signes certifiant que ces sacs sont les mêmes qui ont été exportés de Bulgarie et non pas des sacs achetés des marchés d'autres Etats, l'entrée de ces derniers sacs étant interdite.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, December 30th, 1899.

Light snow continued falling in North Kashmir during the first four days of the week.—Tuesday's observations showed that a shallow depression was forming in the Persian Gulf which after giving light to moderate rain at Bushire on Tuesday and Wednesday, advanced eastward and entered Sind on Friday. It had, however, partially filled up, and the deficiency of pressure in its central area was small, being less than one-tenth of an inch. A few drops of rain had been received at Quetta and snow had recommenced falling in Kashmir. On Saturday the depression had intensified slightly and had advanced in a east-north-easterly direction into the South Punjab, but it gave no precipitation except in Kashmir where light to moderate snow continued, and at Abbottabad in the North Punjab where a light shower of rain was received. Minimarg in North Kashmir reported a fall of snow equivalent to one inch of rain which is the heaviest fall recorded at the meteorological observatories in that area this winter.

Rain fell in Ceylon during the first three days of the week, Colombo recording a total of 3 24 inches, and a light shower was reported from Mergui in Tenasserim on Wednesday. A few light showers have also been received in the districts of Tinnevelly and Madura and in Assam.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, December 24th.—Pressure had been steady or had fallen slightly in North-East India and Burma and had risen elsewhere, the rise being brisk to rapid in the Punjab and Sind. Weather continued feebly Mean temperature was again normal or in defect in Upper and Central Burma, Assam, Bengal, the Madras Coast and Madras Deccan. The excess in the remaining provinces was largest in the North-Western Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces. Minimarg reported another light fall of snow and Ceylon a fall of 1·54 inches of rain.

Tuesday, December 26th.—Pressure had risen briskly in Baluchistan and the North-Western Provinces and had been steady or had changed by small amounts in other provinces. Temperature had fallen rapidly in the North-Western Provinces, Central India, Gujarat and South India and had risen rapidly in Baluchistan. The rise had been slight to brisk in North-East India. Mean temperature was in general excess of the normal, the only provinces in which it was normal or in slight defect being Lower and Central Burma, Assam, Orissa, Bihar, the West and Madras Coasts, Mysore and South India. The excess ranged from 8° to 8½° at Jacobabad, Amraoti and Mooltan. No rain was reported.

Friday, December 29th.—Pressure has fallen rapidly in North Kashmir, slightly to briskly in Baluchistan and Rajputana and had been steady or had fallen slightly elsewhere. A shallow depression had entered Sind and pressure was in considerable defect in the depression area. Light snow had fallen in Kashmir and on the higher ranges to the north of Simla. Mean temperature was in large excess in Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, the Punjab and Baluchistan. It was in defect in Mysore, South India and the West Coast.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 6th January.—There was no rain during the week. The water supply is insufficient in many places and is generally diminishing. Agricultural operations are confined to areas under effective irrigation. The standing crop is deteriorating except where irrigated, and much of the crop in the Deccan and in the adjoining districts is very bad. Harvesting continues with indifferent outturn. Pasturage is growing scanty generally, but fodder is available in most places and cattle continue in a normal condition. Prices have risen generally except on the west coast. Export towards Bombay has revived, though employment is growing scarce in parts of the Deccan. There is no immediate necessity for relief.

Bombay.—For week ending 8th January.—There was no rain during the week. The harvesting of early crops is completed in several districts and progressing in others. The sowing of spring crops is in progress in irrigated lands in Nasik and Ahmedabad, and in Ratnagiri, Kanara and Baroda. The standing spring crops are in good condition in Sindh and Konkan, and in irrigated lands in Kaira, Panch Mahals and four districts of the Deccan, and withered or withering elsewhere. The fodder supply is scanty in parts of the Deccan and in Dharwar, Broach and Baroda. Cattle are suffering severely owing to scarcity of fodder in Rajkot and in three districts of Gujarat and in parts of Khandesh, Nasik and Poona. Prices have fallen in two districts and risen in six districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The daily average numbers on relief are as follows:—British districts—On test works 35,519, on relief works 494,800, dependants 124,496. Total on works 655,015. In poorhouses 4,747, on village relief 22,243. Total on gratuitous relief 25,990. Grand total on relief 682,005. Native States:—On relief works 277,666, dependants 39,294. Total on works 316,960. Poorhouses 13,792, village relief 4 790. Total on gratuitous relief 18,582. Grand total on relief 335,542.

Bengal.—For week ending 8th January.—There was no rain during the week. The winter rice is nearly all harvested and is now being threshed. The pressing of sugarcane is going on. The prospects of the spring, poppy and other cold-weather crops are good except in parts of the Chota Nagpur Division and in Angul. Rain is wanted for the spring crops. The price of common rice is practically stationary, the variations reported being very slight and confined to a few districts only. Cattle are generally in good condition, aud there is no want of fodder anywhere. Test works have been opened at Tua in Puri.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 10th January.—There has been no rain though the weather is cloudy in most districts. Rain is urgently required for the spring crops which, however, are generally reported to be promising so far, but gram is suffering in Bundelkhand, in Budaon and Shahjahanpur. Damage by whiteants continues, and in Bijnor and Kheri some injury has been caused by frost. Irrigation of spring and poppy crops is actively carried on and weeding of the latter continues. The pressing of sugarcane is going on. Supplies and fodder are sufficient, but the latter is reported from a number of districts to be expensive. Prices have risen in two districts. Immigration still continues in Bulandshahr. There were 3,540 persons on three relief works in Jhansi and 71 inmates in the poorhouse. In Agra there were 85 workers on one test work and 39 persons in the poorhouse, of whom 16 were immigrants. The Muttra poorhouse contained 135 inmates.

Punjab.—For week ending 10th January.—Slight rain has fallen in parts of the Amritsar, Sialkot, Gujrat, Jhelum and Rawalpindi districts. Sugarcane pressing is still going on in Jullundar, Lahore and Sialkot. Spring sowings are completed or nearly completed in Gurgaon, Amballa, Mooltan and Gujrat; but continue in Hissar and Sialkot. The standing crops are being watered in Amballa and Lahore. No sowings have yet been made on unirrigated areas in most districts on account of the prolonged drought. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are good or fair in Gurgaon, Karnal, Amritsar and Gujrat and in parts of Dera Ismail Khan; average or below average in Jullundur, Sialkot, and Rawalpindi; and bad in other districts owing to insufficiency of water and want of rain; crops are drying up in Shahpur. The outturn of the autumn crops was much below average in Dera Ismail Khan. The yield of spring crops is expected to be fair in Amballa—other districts have not reported. Rain is very badly wanted throughout the province. The supply of water in the Kalapani stream in Dera Ismail Khan is again running short. Gram and rapeseed crops are being damaged by caterpillars in parts of Ferozepur. Cattle are reported to be in fair condition in Karnal only; they are starving in Lahore, Shahpur and Jhelum; their condition is reported to be very poor in other districts also, owing to overwork and want of fodder. Fodder is said to be scarce throughout the province, this scarcity is keenly felt in general. Sugarcane weeds, etc., are used as fodder in some districts. The average number on relief was as follows:—Relief works—Hissar 62,715 including dependants; Rohtak 2,797; Delhi 2,420; Shahpur 6,142. Test works—Gurgaon 7,800; Karnal 8,173; Ferozepur 5,680; Mooltan 2,816; Lahore 662; Amritsar 1,115; Gujrat 724. Dependants—Delhi 492; Karnal 445; Mooltan 1,372. Gratuitously relieved—Gurgaon 18; Poorhouse inmates—Hissar 2,914; Rohtak 63; Delhi 95; Otherwise relieved—Hissar 14,472; Rohtak 2,448; Shahpur 156; Non-working children—Gurgaon 472. In addition to the above, 1,450 persons were employed on relief works in the Native States as noted below:—Relief works—Pataudi 292; Dujana 362; Loharu 644; Gratuitously relieved—Loharu 42: Dujana 110. Two test works were opened in Amballa, but no labourers appeared. Prices of grains are generally rising in Karnal, Amballa, Sialkot, and Rawalpindi. A fall in the price of wheat is reported from Amritsar only, the prices in other districts are unsettled, that is, they are rising in some and are either falling or are unchanged in others. Wheat is selling from 10 to 12½; gram 11 to 13¾; barley 11 to 12; great millet 11¾ to 14; bulrush millet 10 to 12½; maize 11 to 16¼; and rice 9 to 10 seers per rupee.

Burma.—For week ending 6th January.—In Lower Burma reaping is completed in six districts and nearly completed in three. Threshing continues. The prospects remain as before. In Upper Burma the reaping of paddy is completed in Thayetmyo and Myitkyina, nearly completed in Pakokku and Katha, and continues elsewhere. The reaping of sessamum continues in Sagaing and in Lower Chindwin. Plucking of cotton is completed in Myingyan. The cultivation of miscellaneous crops and of dry weather paddy is progressing. The standing crops are in good condition. The price of paddy has fallen in Akyab, Pegu, Tharrawaddy, Prome, Thayetmyo and Mergui, and has risen slightly in Thongwa, Pakokku and Mandalay.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 9th January.—The weather was cloudy at the close of the week. The days are generally warm. There has been no rain or dew. Agricultural prospects are generally unchanged. The reaping of tur and til continues in parts. The harvesting of autumn juar (sorghum vulgare) is in progress in Chanda Cotton picking is completed in Hoshangabad. The winter crops are holding out fairly well in Narsinghpur and in parts of Chhindwara; in Wardha however all the crops except wheat and gram have entirely withered; in Chanda wheat and linseed have proved a total failure; elsewhere in the south and east of the province they are in very poor condition. The prospects of gram, til and ringni (cold weather) juar are nil. The harvesting of winter crops has commenced in a portion of the Mandla district. The outturn is estimated at wheat 70, gram 90, other crops 30 to 60. In other parts of that district the estimates range between 30 and 60. The pressing of sugarcane continues in Betul, Sambalpur, Bilaspur and Bhandara. Rain might still benefit the wheat somewhat in the north of the province, but it is not likely to do much good in tracts where the crops are in flower. Water supply and fodder are generally inadequate. Relief works are being extended. There are 113 Public Works Department relief camps now open. The numbers on relief during the week were as follows:—Relief works—men 290,346, women 164,106, children 125,365,

AT the Court at Balmoral, the 7th day of October, 1899.

PRESENT.

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sir Fleetwood Edwards.

WHEREAS by Treaty, grant, usage, sufferance, and other lawful means, Her Majesty the Queen has power and jurisdiction within the territories comprised within the limits of the East Africa Protectorate :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers on this behalf by "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," or otherwise, in Her Majesty vested, is pleased, by and with the advice of her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. In this Order—

"The Principal Order" means "The East Africa Order in Council, 1897," and any other Order relating to the East Africa Protectorate.

2. For the purposes of the Principal Order and this Order—

(i) "British subject" includes a British-protected person, that is to say, a person who either (a) is a native of any Protectorate of Her Majesty beyond Africa and Arabia, and is for the time being in the East Africa Protectorate, or (b) by virtue of "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," or otherwise enjoys Her Majesty's protection in the Protectorate.

(ii) "Native" means any person who is not a British subject, as hereinbefore defined, or of European or American race or parentage, but as respects such portions of the Protectorate as are under the sovereignty of the Sultan of Zanzibar, does not include a person who, by virtue of any Treaty between Zanzibar and any foreign Power (other than Her Majesty), is exempt from the jurisdiction of the Sultan of Zanzibar.

(iii) "Foreigner" means a subject or citizen of a State in amity with Her Majesty, not being a native, as hereinbefore defined.

3.—(i) The Protectorate Court shall ordinarily sit at Mombasa, but may also, as occasion requires, sit at any other place in the Protectorate.

(ii) The judicial officer shall be styled "Her Majesty's Judge for the East Africa Protectorate," and is in this Order referred to as the "Protectorate Judge."

(iii) The Protectorate Judge may visit any Court in the Protectorate, and examine any Court books, registers, or records, and give directions as to the proper keeping thereof.

(iv) In case of the illness of the Protectorate Judge or of his temporary absence from Mombasa, the Commissioner may appoint either a person qualified to be appointed Protectorate Judge or an officer employed in the civil administration of the Protectorate to act as Protectorate Judge. When the Protectorate Judge is absent on judicial duty within the Protectorate, the Acting Judge shall not hold sittings elsewhere than at Mombasa except with the consent of the Commissioner. The sittings of the Protectorate Judge and of the Acting Judge shall severally be deemed sittings of the Protectorate Court.

4. Subject to the other provisions of the Principal Order, the Code of Criminal Procedure, and the other enactments relating to the administration of criminal justice in India for the time being applied to the Protectorate, shall have effect as if the Protectorate were a province of India. The full Court for Zanzibar shall be deemed to be the High Court, and the powers both of the Governor-General in Council and of the Local Government under those enactments shall be exercisable, subject to any directions of the Secretary of State, by the Commissioner.

Until other provision is made in exercise of the powers conferred by the Criminal Procedure Code, the Protectorate shall be a Sessions Division, the Protectorate Court shall be the Sessions Court, and the Protectorate Judge shall be the Sessions Judge.

5. Subject to the other provisions of the Principal Order, the Code of Civil Procedure, "The Bombay Civil Courts Act, 1869," and the other enactments relating to the administration of civil justice for the time being applicable to the Protectorate, shall have effect as if the Protectorate were the Presidency of Bombay, the full Court for Zanzibar shall be deemed to be the High Court, and the powers both of the Governor-General in Council and the Local Government under those enactments shall be exercisable, subject to any directions of the Secretary of State, by the Commissioner.

Until other provision is made in exercise of the powers conferred by "The Bombay Civil Courts Act, 1869," or otherwise, the Protectorate shall be deemed to be one district, the Protectorate Court shall be the District Court or Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district, and the Protectorate Judge shall be the District Judge.

6. The provisions of Parts V, VI, and VII of the Principal Order relating to the Protectorate Court or the Court (except Articles 23, 31, 39, 41, 42, and 44) shall apply to all Criminal and Civil Courts established under the Principal Order or this Order in the several provinces of the Protectorate, subject, however, to the limits of jurisdiction of the respective Courts.

7. Where under any enactment of the Statute Law of England, which is applicable to the Protectorate, it is provided that the powers or jurisdiction of two Justices of the Peace may or shall be exercised by a Stipendiary Magistrate sitting alone, such powers or jurisdiction may or shall be exercised by the Commissioner and by every Sub-Commissioner and District Officer within his province or district.

8. In Article 45 of the Principal Order the words "and published as the Commissioner directs" shall be substituted for the words "and published as he directs."

9. Provided that nothing in any Regulations made under this Article shall make any instrument inadmissible in evidence in any criminal proceedings.

As from the time when any Regulations under this Article come into force Article 47 of the Principal Order shall be repealed, without prejudice to anything done or suffered thereunder.

11. The Commissioner may, by any Queen's Regulations made under the powers of the Principal Order or this Order, fix such penalties for the breach of any Regulations as may seem proper, and where no penalty is so fixed a person found guilty of such breach shall on conviction be liable to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment of either kind, which may extend to two months, or both, in addition to such forfeiture as is mentioned in Article 45 of the Principal Order.

(b) The enactments mentioned in the Schedule to this Order are hereby made applicable to the Protectorate as from the commencement of this Order.

(c) Any other existing or future enactments of the Governor-General of India in Council, or of the Governor of Bombay in Council, shall also be applicable to the Protectorate, but shall not come into operation until such times as may in the case of any of such enactments respectively be fixed by the Secretary of State.

(a) So much of the fourth and fifth sections of the said Act as relates to sending a report of the issue of a warrant, together with the information, or a copy thereof, or to the sending of a certificate of committal and report of a case, or to the information to be given by a Magistrate to a fugitive shall be accepted, and in lieu of such information the person acting as the Magistrate shall inform the fugitive that in the British possession or Protectorate to which he may be conveyed he has the right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus or other like process.

(b) So much of the sixth section of the said Act as requires the expiration of fifteen days before issue of warrant, shall be excepted.

(d) For the purposes of Part II of the said Act, the Protectorate, Aden, Zanzibar, the East Africa and Uganda Protectorates, and British India shall be deemed to be one group of British possessions.

9. The Secretary of State may, by order published in such manner as he directs, declare that any of the Laws or Ordinances for the time being in force in any British possession, and not inconsistent with this Order, shall have effect, and be administered in the Protectorate, with such modifications or adaptations as may be necessary; and thereupon such Laws or Ordinances as so modified or adapted shall have effect as if they had been applied by this Order.

PART IV.—Criminal Matters

10. Subject to the other provisions of this Order, the Code of Criminal Procedure and the other enactments relating to the administration of criminal justice in India, for the time being applicable to the Protectorate, shall have effect as if the Protectorate were a Presidency of India.

For the purposes of those enactments—

(a) The Consul-General shall hold and form a Court to be called the Protectorate Court, which shall have all the powers of a Sessions Court in India; and

(b) The Protectorate Court shall in relation to all Courts within the Protectorate have the same appellate jurisdiction and the same powers of revision as are possessed by a High Court in India; and

(c) The powers both of the Governor-General in Council and of the Local Government under those enactments shall be exercisable by the Secretary of State, or with his previous or subsequent assent by the Consul-General.

11. If any person smuggles or imports into or exports from the Protectorate any goods whereon any duty is charged or payable to the Government of the Protectorate, with intent to evade payment of the duty, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

12. Any act which if done in British India would be an offence against the law for the time being in force in British India relating to trade-marks, merchandise marks, copyright designs, or inventions, shall, if done in the Protectorate, be an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

13.—(1) In cases of murder or culpable homicide, if either the death or the criminal act which wholly or partly caused the death happened in the Protectorate, a Court acting under this Order shall have the like jurisdiction over any person charged either as a principal offender or as an abettor, as if both the criminal act and the death had happened in the Protectorate.

(2) In the case of any offence committed on the high seas, or within the Admiralty jurisdiction, by any person who at the time of committing such offence was on board a British ship, or by any British subject on board a foreign ship to which he did not belong, a Court acting under this Order shall have jurisdiction as if the offence had been committed within the Protectorate.

(3) In cases tried under this Article no different sentence can be passed from the sentence which could be passed in England if the offence were tried there.

14. When a sentence of death has been passed by the Protectorate Court the Consul-General shall consider whether it is or is not desirable that the sentence should be reconsidered by the Secretary of State.

If he considers that it is so desirable, he shall append to the Minutes a certificate under his hand to that effect, together with such observations as he may think fit, and shall, at the earliest opportunity, transmit the same to the Secretary of State.

If he considers that it is not so desirable, he shall, not sooner than seven days after the passing of the sentence, certify on the Minutes his confirmation of the sentence by writing under his hand.

The Secretary of State may confirm or remit or commute the sentence.

A sentence of death shall not be carried into effect until it is confirmed by the Consul-General or the Secretary of State, as provided in this Article, but upon such confirmation shall be carried into effect according to law.

When the Secretary of State commutes a sentence, the commuted sentence shall be carried into effect as if the Protectorate Court had passed, and had authority to pass, that sentence.

15.—(a) The Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, by general order, prescribe the manner in which, and the places in the Protectorate at which, sentences of imprisonment are to be carried into execution.

(b) The Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, in any case, by warrant under his hand and official seal, cause an offender convicted and sentenced to imprisonment before the Court to be sent and removed to, and imprisoned in, any place either in the Protectorate or in Aden.

16. Where an offender convicted before the Court is sentenced to imprisonment, and the Consul-General, proceeding under section seven of "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," authority in that behalf being hereby given to him, considers it expedient that the sentence should be carried into effect within Her Majesty's dominions, the place shall be a place in some part of Her Majesty's dominions out of the United Kingdom, the Government whereof consents that offenders may be sent thither under this Article.

17.—(1) Where it is shown by evidence on oath, to the satisfaction of the Consul-General, that any person subject to this Order has committed, or is about to commit, an offence against this Order, or is otherwise conducting himself so as to be dangerous to peace and good order in the Protectorate or is endeavouring to excite enmity between the people of the Protectorate and Her Majesty, or is intriguing against Her Majesty's power and authority in the Protectorate, the Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, by order under his hand and official seal, prohibit that person from being in the Protectorate, during any time therein specified, not exceeding two years, or may order him to be deported in manner provided by this Order.

(2) If the person named in the order of prohibition fails to obey, or acts in contravention of the order—

(i) He shall be guilty of an offence against this Order, and on conviction thereof, shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, without prejudice to tho operation of the order of prohibition.

(ii) Whether the offender has been convicted of, or imprisoned for, that offence or not, the Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, order him to be deported.

(3) The Consul-General, by order under his hand and official seal, may vary any order of prohibition (not extending the duration thereof), and may at any time revoke the same.

(4) The Consul-General shall forthwith report to the Secretary of State every order made by him under this Article, and the grounds thereof, and the proceedings thereunder.

18.—(a) Where a person is convicted of an offence, the Court before which he is convicted may, if it thinks fit, require him to give security to the satisfaction of the Court for his future good behaviour, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, cause him to come or be brought before the Court.

(b) If any person required by an order under this Article, or under the law relating to criminal procedure for the time being in force, to give security for good behaviour or for keeping the peace, fails to do so, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order that he be deported from the Protectorate.

(c) Any order of deportation not made by the Consul-General must be approved by him.

19.—(a) Any person ordered to be deported under this Order shall be, as soon as practicable, and in the case of a person convicted, either after execution of the sentence, or while it is in course of execution, removed in custody, under the warrant of the Consul-General, to the place named in the warrant and there discharged from custody.

(b) The place shall be a place in that part (if any) of Her Majesty's dominions out of the United Kingdom to which the person belongs, or in some other part of those dominions, the Government whereof consents to the reception therein of persons deported under this Order, or a place under the Protectorate of Her Majesty, or in the country out of Her Majesty's dominions to which the person belongs.

(c) The Court, on making an order of deportation, may, if it thinks fit, order the person to be deported to pay all or any part of the expenses of his deportation, to be fixed by the Court in the order.

(d) The Consul-General shall forthwith report to the Secretary of State every order of deportation made under this Order, and the grounds thereof, and the proceedings thereunder.

(e) If a person deported under this Order returns to the Protectorate without permission in writing of the Consul-General or Secretary of State, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

(f) He shall also be liable to be again deported under the original or a new order, and a fresh warrant of the Consul-General.

(g) The Consul-General may at any time revoke or vary any order or warrant of deportation.

20.—(a) Where, under this Order, a person is to be sent, or removed, or deported from the Protectorate, he shall, by warrant of the Consul-General under his hand and seal, be detained, if necessary, in custody, or in prison, until a fit opportunity for his removal or deportation occurs, and then, if he is to be deported beyond sea, be put on board one of Her Majesty's vessels of war, or, if none is available, then on board some other British or other fit vessel.

(b) The warrant of the Consul-General shall be sufficient authority to the person to whom it is directed or delivered for execution, and to the Commander or Master of the vessel, to receive and detain the person therein named, in the manner therein prescribed, and to send or remove and carry him to the place therein named, according to the warrant

(c) In case of sending or removal for any purpose other than deportation, the warrant of the Consul-General shall be issued in duplicate, and the person executing it shall, as soon as practicable after his arrival at the place therein named, deliver, according to the warrant, with one of the duplicates of the warrant, to a constable, or proper officer of police, or keeper of a prison, or other proper authority or person there, the person named in the warrant, to be produced on the order of the proper Court or authority there, or to be otherwise dealt with according to law.

21. The Consul-General, and every officer for the time being exercising the powers of a Magistrate, shall have in and for the Protectorate, province, or district, as the case may be, all the power and jurisdiction appertaining to the office of a Justice of the Peace.

22. A sentence of imprisonment under this Order, or any Regulations made under this Order, may be with or without hard labour, in the discretion of the Court, unless it is expressed to be without hard labour.

23. Subject to the other provisions of this Order, the Code of Civil Procedure, "The Bombay Civil Courts Act, 1869," and the other enactments relating to the administration of civil justice for the time being applicable to the Protectorate, shall have effect as if the Protectorate were the Presidency of Bombay.

The following enactments of "The Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890," that is to say, section 2, sub-sections (2 to (4), sections 5 and 6, section 16, sub-section (3), shall apply to the Protectorate Court as if in the said sections the said Court were mentioned in lieu of a Colonial Court of Admiralty, and the Protectorare were referred to in lieu of a British possession.

25—(a) Every District Court shall endeavour to obtain, as early as may be, notice of the death of every British subject or foreigner dying in the Protectorate leaving property to be administered, and all such information as may serve to guide the Court with respect to the securing and administration of his property.

(b) On receiving notice of the death of such a person, the Court shall put up a notice thereof at the Court-house, and shall keep the same there until probate or administration is granted, or, where it appears to the Court that probate or administration will not be applied for, or cannot be granted, for such time as he thinks fit.

(c) The Court shall, where the circumstances of the case appear so to require, as soon as may be, take possession of the property in the Protectorate of the deceased, or put it under its seal (in either case, if the nature of the property or other circumstances so require making an inventory), and so keep it until it can be dealt with according to law.

(d) All expenses incurred by the Court in so doing shall be the first charge on the property of the deceased, and the Court shall, by sale of the propery, or part thereof, or otherwise, provide for the discharge of these expenses.

26. Where a British subject or foreigner dies in the Protectorate intestate, his property shall, until administration is granted, vest in the Consul-General.

27. 28. If any person other than the person named executor, or the administrator, or a person entitled to represent the deceased, without obtaining probate or letters of administration, or an officer of the Court, takes possession of and administers, or otherwise deals with, any part of the property of the deceased, he shall, as soon as practicable, notify the fact and the circumstances to the District Court, and shall furnish to that Court all such information as the Court requires, and shall conform to any directions of the Court in relation to the custody, disposal, or transmission of the property, or the proceeds thereof, and, in case of any contravention of this Article, he shall be liable to be punished with fine, which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(b) The Court shall thereupon have authority to enforce the agreement, and the award made thereunder, and to control and regulate the proceedings before and after the award, in such manner and on such terms as the Court may think fit

PART VI.—Miscellaneous.

31. Subject to the approval of the Secretary of State, the Protectorate Court may frame Rules of Procedure and other Rules, consistent with this Order, for the better execution of the provisions herein contained in respect of civil or criminal proceedings, and for regulating the conditions on which persons other than parties may be permitted to practice as advocates or solicitors in any Court, and for suspending or excluding (subject to a right of appeal) such persons from practice in case of misconduct; provided that any scales of remuneration fixed by such Rules shall have been sanctioned by the Treasury.

32. The Consul-General may make Regulations (to be called Queen's Regulations) for the following purposes, consistent with the provisions of this Order, that is to say:—

(v) Generally for the peace, order, and good government of the Protectorate.

Any Regulations under this Article with respect to the registration of documents, may prescribe the period within which any documents are to be registered, and such penalties for non-registration, whether by stamp duties or otherwise, and whether, in lieu of, or in addition to, the other penalties provided by this Article; but nothing in any such Regulations shall make any instrument inadmissible in evidence in any criminal proceeding.

Any Regulations under this Article shall, when allowed by the Secretary of State, and published by the Consul-General, have effect as if contained in this Order: Provided that in case of urgency declared by any such Regulations, the same shall take effect before such allowance and shall continue to have effect unless and until they are disallowed by the Secretary of State, and until notification of such disallowance is received and published by the Consul-General; and such disallowance shall be without prejudice to anything done or suffered under such Regulations in the meantime.

The Consul-General may fix such penalties for the breach of any Regulations as may seem proper, and, where no penalty is so fixed, any person guilty of such breach, shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment which may extend to two months, or both, in addition to any forfeiture as aforesaid.

(c) Nothing in this Order shall affect any Order in Council prescribing a table of fees to be taken by Consular officers; and, where a fee is taken under that Order, no fee shall be taken in respect of the same matter under this Order.

35—(a) All fees, charges, expenses, costs fines damages, and other money payable under this Order, or under any law made applicable by this Order, may be enforced under order of the Court by attachment and sale of goods, and in case of deficiency by imprisonment (without hard labour) which may extend to one month.

Public Works Department Circular No. 52, dated 24th September 1878, publishing the rules under which officers of the Public Works Department, while on furlough, are permitted to visit engineering works in the United Kingdom at the public expense.

The Government of India, in consultation with the Secretary of State, have had under consideration the following questions :—

The scope of the rules of 1878 referred to above, that is to say, the classes of officers to whom they might be considered applicable.

The more frequent application of more liberal terms, under the Circular order of 1891, to specially selected officers, in consequence of the modification in the rules relating to the practical course at the Royal Indian Engineering College under the orders of Public Works Department Resolution No. 2352 G., dated 1st September 1897.

The procedure to be followed by officers desirous of visiting engineering works in the United Kingdom under the rules referred to.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is, with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, pleased to lay down the following general rules for guidance :—

I. That the rules of 1873 are, as a rule, applicable only to junior officers; but applications from senior officers will, in special cases, be considered on their merits. In either case it is to be understood that no officer is entitled to claim any such privilege as a matter of right.

II. That each application for greater facilities for studying engineering works during furlough than are afforded by the rules of 1873 will continue, as has been the case since 1891, to be considered on its merits.

III. That, in the case of officers whose service does not exceed twelve years, applications to visit engineering works in the United Kingdom, under the rules of 1873, shall be made direct by the officers themselves to the Secretary of State, who will deal with them. In all other cases, whether relating to officers of more than twelve years' service who desire the benefit of the rules of 1873 or to officers who desire greater facilities than are obtainable under those rules (vide Rule II), the applications shall be submitted, through the Local Government under which the officer may be serving, to the Government of India, supported by a recommendation from the Local Government showing the object which it is proposed to secure by allowing assistance from the public purse to the officer applying, and the extent of the assistance which it is desired should be given to him.

From ditto, No. 10—VII-553 B., dated 5th January, 1900, and enclosures [Papers No. 14].

2. Chapter VIII of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, aims among other things at providing for the transfer of that description of property known in England as choses in action and described in that Act as actionable claims. Section 130 of the Act defining actionable claims, having, from the generality of its terms, occasioned misconception as to the true nature of the property therein defined and elsewhere in the Act referred to, we are of opinion that the section should be removed from Chapter VIII and that the term "actionable claim" ought to be more accurately defined in the interpretation clause which governs the construction of the Act as a whole. We therefore propose to add to section 3 of the Act a definition of "actionable claim", more precise than the definition contained in the new section 130 proposed by the Bill as introduced and one which may more nearly be taken to be (in the words of the Statement of Objects and Reasons) "a fair working definition of the term chose in action as used in English law."

3. Actionable claims, as we propose to define them, are to be distinguished from mere rights of suit. We are of opinion that no mere right of suit ought to be transferable, and we propose the omission of certain words in section 6 (e) of the Act, in order to make the rule therein laid down a rule of general application. In the same section clause (h) we propose an amendment which will bring the language of this Act into harmony with that of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

4. "Actionable claims" being defined in section 3 of the Act by our proposed addition thereto, we have omitted the definition contained in the new section 130 (1) proposed by the Bill as introduced. Clause 130, sub-section (2), has also been rendered superfluous by the same addition, and we have also omitted it.

5. In section 131 (now 130) we have added words to make it clear that a transfer takes effect upon the execution of the instrument of transfer subject to the proviso in sub-section (1). We have also expressly provided that the transferee may sue in his own name, without obtaining the consent of the transferor. The second illustrative case appended to this clause has been restated and somewhat amplified.

6. In section 132 (now 131) we propose to enact that a notice of transfer shall be signed by the transferor or his agent, or in case of the transferor's refusal, by the transferee, and shall state the name and address of the transferee. The latter part of this rule goes beyond the requirements of English law, but we submit that a notice in general terms, not stating the name and address of the transferee, would not be sufficient as a safeguard against fraud. A debtor is, we think, entitled to know the name and address of the person to whom he becomes liable on a transfer of the claim against him.

7. Section 133 has been taken up into new section 130.

8. In section 134 (now 132) we have substituted the expression "all the liabilities and equities entitled to priority over the right of the transferor" for the expression "all the liabilities, defences and priorities to which the transferor was subject." The illustrative cases appended to this section, being, we think, open to criticism we have endeavoured to provide illustrations taken from the English law reports which exhibit more clearly the actual working of the rule laid down.

9. In section 136 (now 134) we have substituted the words "received by the transferor or recovered by the transferee" for the words "recovered by either the transferor or transferee." At the end of the section we have added the words "or other person entitled to receive the same."

10. In section 138 (now 136) we have included debentures along with stocks and shares, and for the words "and delivery order" we substitute "railway receipt, warrant or order for the delivery of goods."

11. Section 139 as proposed by the Bill as introduced has been severely criticised by the judicial authorities who were consulted in regard to this Bill. It has been pointed out that the words "which is in controversy" in sub-clause (1) are by no means easy to interpret; and there is a strong body of opinion in favour of omitting clauses (b) and (d) of sub-clause (2). On careful consideration, we think it safer to omit the whole section, and have struck it out accordingly.

12. In section 140 (now 137) we think the general word "officer" is sufficient, without specifying clerks and bailiffs. We have altered the language of the section so as to cover the case of a practitioner who stipulates for an interest in the subject-matter of a suit. It seems to us expedient that the judges, officers and legal practitioners of our Courts should be precluded from dealing in actionable claims generally, and not merely in those claims which fall within the jurisdiction of the Courts to which they respectively belong at the time of such dealing; and we have altered the section in accordance with this view.

4. For Chapter VIII of the same Act, the following Chapter shall be substituted, namely:—

"CHAPTER VIII.

"OF TRANSFERS OF ACTIONABLE CLAIMS.

Transfer of actionable claim.

"130. (1) The transfer of an actionable claim shall be effected only by the execution of an instrument in writing signed by the transferor or his duly authorized agent, and shall be complete and effectual upon the execution of such instrument, and thereupon all his rights and remedies, whether by way of damages or otherwise, shall vest in the transferee, whether such notice of the transfer as is hereinafter provided be given or not:

Provided that every dealing with the debt or other actionable claim by the debtor or other person from or against whom the transferor would, but for such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, have been entitled to recover or enforce such debt or other actionable claim, shall (save where the debtor or other person is a party to the transfer or has received express notice thereof as hereinafter provided) be valid as against such transfer.

(2) The transferee of an actionable claim may, upon the execution of such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, sue or institute proceedings for the same in his own name without obtaining the transferor's consent to such suit or proceedings and without making him a party thereto.

Exception.—Nothing in this section applies to the transfer of a marine or fire policy of insurance.

Illustrations.

(i) A owes money to B, who transfers the debt to C. B then demands the debt from A, who, not having received notice of the transfer, as prescribed in section 131, pays B. The payment is valid, and C cannot sue A for the debt.

(ii) A effects a policy on his own life with an Insurance Company and assigns it to a Bank for securing the payment of an existing or future debt. If A dies, the Bank is entitled to receive the amount of the policy and to sue on it without the concurrence of A's executor, subject to the proviso in sub-section (1) of section 130, and to the provisions of section 132.

Notice to be in writing, signed.

"131. Every notice of transfer of an actionable claim shall be in writing, signed by the transferor or his agent duly authorized in this behalf, or, in case the transferor refuses to sign, by the transferee or his agent, and shall state the name and address of the transferee.

Liability of transferee of actionable claim.

"132. The transferee of an actionable claim shall take it subject to all the liabilities and equities entitled to priority over the right of the transferor to which he was subject in respect thereof at the date of the transfer.

Illustrations.

(i) A transfers to C a debt due to him by B, A being then indebted to B. C sues B for the debt due by B to A. In such suit B is entitled to set off the debt due by A to him, although C was unaware of it at the date of such transfer.

(ii) A executed a bond in favour of B under circumstances entitling the former to have it delivered up and cancelled. B assigns the bond to C for value and without notice of such circumstances. C cannot enforce the bond against A.

Warranty of solvency of debtor.

"133. Where the transferor of a debt warrants the solvency of the debtor, the warranty, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, applies only to his solvency at the time of the transfer, and is limited, where the transfer is made for consideration, to the amount or value of such consideration.

Mortgaged debt.

"134. Where a debt is transferred for the purpose of securing an existing or future debt, the debt so transferred, if received by the transferor or recovered by the transferee, is applicable, first, in payment of the costs of such recovery: secondly, in or towards satisfaction of the amount for the time being secured by the transfer; and the residue, if any, belongs to the transferor or other person entitled to receive the same.

[V of 1866, s. 15.]

Assignment of rights under marine or fire policy of insurance.

"135. Every assignee, by endorsement or other writing, of a policy of marine insurance or of a policy of insurance against fire, in whom the property in the subject insured shall be absolutely vested at the date of the assignment, shall have transferred and vested in him all rights of suit as if the contract contained in the policy had been made with himself.

Saving of negotiable instruments, etc.

"136. Nothing in the foregoing sections of this Chapter applies to stocks, shares or debentures or to instruments which are for the time being, by law or custom, negotiable, or to any mercantile document of title to goods.

Explanation.—The expression "mercantile document of title to goods" includes a bill of lading, dock-warrant, warehouse-keeper's certificate, railway receipt, warrant or order for the delivery of goods, and any other document used in the ordinary course of business as proof of the possession or control of goods, or authorizing or purporting to authorize, either by endorsement or by delivery, the possessor of the document to transfer or receive goods thereby represented.

Incapacity of officers connected with Courts of Justice.

"137. No Judge, legal practitioner, or officer connected with any Court of Justice shall buy or traffic in, or stipulate for, or agree to receive, any share of, or interest in, any actionable claim, and no Court of Justice shall enforce, at his instance or at the instance of any person claiming by or through him, any actionable claim so dealt with by him as aforesaid."

Repeal.

5. So much of the Policies of Insurance (Marine and Fire) Assignment Act, 1866, as is unrepealed, and so much of the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897, as relates thereto, are hereby repealed.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate the law relating to Prisoners confined by order of a Court, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th January, 1900:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate the law relating to Prisoners confined by order of a Court was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From Government, Burma, No. 696-L.—32, dated 20th October, 1899 [Paper No. 10].
From Government, Bombay, No. 7291, dated 23rd October, 1899 [Paper No. 11].
From Government, Bengal, No. 661 P.—D., dated 27th October, 1899 [Paper No. 12].
Telegram from Agent to Governor General in Baluchistan, No. 318, dated 8th November, 1899 [Paper No. 13].
From Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 3627-VI—310C., dated 15th December, 1899, and enclosure [Papers No. 14].

2. We have adopted the suggestion of the Government of Bombay that sections 19 and 20 of the Prisoners Act, 1871 (V of 1871), should be entirely repealed and that all cases in which persons sentenced in Native States are to be imprisoned in British India should be dealt with under section 16 of that Act, as reproduced in clause 15 of the Bill. We agree with the Local Government that, owing to the amendments made in section 16 of the Act of 1871 by the Prisoners Act (1871) Amendment Act, 1894 (VII of 1894), section 18 of the former Act has been in great measure superseded, and we think that, if power is conferred on the Local Government, as well as the Governor General in Council, to sanction, under section 16 (clause 15 of Bill), the reception of persons sentenced by the Courts of Native States in British Indian Jails, and if provision is made for the reception in such jails of persons sentenced by such Courts without obtaining a special sanction in each case when at least one Judge of the Court is a British officer, the law will be simplified without being materially altered. We have therefore omitted clauses 18 and 19 of the Bill as introduced, and recast the second part of sub-clause (1) of clause 15 so as to give effect to our proposals. These changes have necessitated certain consequential changes in sub-clause (3) of clause 20 of the Bill as introduced (now sub-clause (3) of clause 18).

3. We have, on the suggestion of the Government of Bengal, supplied what appears to us to be an obvious omission in the existing law by expanding the provisions of clause 39 of the Bill as introduced (now clause 37) so as to enable a Criminal Court inferior to that of a first class Magistrate to require, through the medium of the District Magistrate, the attendance of prisoners to give evidence or answer charges before it.

4. The same Local Government has pointed out that sub-clause (2) of clause 41 of the Bill as introduced (now clause 39) does not properly provide for the case of a prisoner confined within a Presidency-town whose removal for the purpose of giving evidence elsewhere is required. We have accordingly enlarged the sub-clause by providing that in such cases the orders for removal shall be sent to the Commissioner of Police.

5. Mr. Justice Knox of the Allahabad High Court has noticed that the Bill appears to be defective in that it makes no provision whereby a Criminal Court can require the attendance of a prisoner confined in a prison situate beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court to which such Criminal Court is subordinate for the purpose of answering a charge of an offence in that Court. Clause 39 of the Bill as introduced (now clause 37) is limited to cases in which the prisoner so charged is confined in some place within the limits of the jurisdiction of the High Court to which the Criminal Court is subordinate, while clause 42 only provides for the case of prisoners required to give evidence. To cure this defect we have inserted words in the latter clause (now clause 40) which will make it cover prisoners charged with offences.

6. It has been suggested that it would be desirable to make it clear how the custody of prisoners sent to a Court either to give evidence or to answer a charge is to be provided for pending their return to their original prison. We have therefore added a power to make rules on this point to sub-clause (1) (a) of clause 53 of the Bill as introduced (now clause 51).

7. The other amendments made by us in the Bill are not of sufficient importance to call for explanation.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, January 6th, 1900.

The shallow depression lying over the South Punjab on Saturday, the 30th December, advanced in an east-south-easterly direction into the North-Western Provinces and Bihar on Sunday the 31st, but it was of no importance, and filled up during the next few days without giving any rain. Another feeble depression formed in the Persian Gulf on Tuesday and Wednesday and advancing along the Mekran Coast gave ·71 inch of rain at Quetta on Friday, but had practically filled up before entering India. It was the cause of slightly unsettled weather in Kashmir and along the hills in the Punjab where light falls of rain and snow were received on Friday and Saturday. Simla, Srinagar and Minimarg were the only stations at which the precipitation exceeded a tenth of an inch.

A few light showers, probably due to thunderstorms, have been received during the week in Assam, Upper Burma, and Tenasserim. No rain has fallen in the Peninsula.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, December 31st.—Pressure had fallen generally, the fall being brisk to the east of a line joining Umballa and Cocanada. The shallow depression in the South Punjab on Saturday had advanced in an east-south-easterly direction into the North-Western Provinces and Bihar. Light rain and snow continued in Kashmir. Mean temperature was in defect in Burma and South India. It was from 6½° to 8½° in excess in the Punjab, Central India, Berar, the North-Western and Central Provinces, Sind, Rajputana and Gujarat.

Monday, January 1st.—Pressure had risen slightly in Baluchistan and Sind, had fallen rapidly in Kashmir, slightly in parts of the Punjab and Rajputana, and had been steady or had changed by small amounts elsewhere. The shallow depression in the North-Western Provinces was filling up and was of no importance. Temperature had fallen rapidly in the Punjab and Gujarat. Mean temperature was normal or in defect in Burma, the West and Madras Coasts, South India and Mysore. Minimarg in North Kashmir had received a light fall of snow.

Tuesday, January 2nd.—Pressure had risen briskly to very rapidly in the Punjab, Kashmir and West Rajputana and had fallen slightly to briskly in the Peninsula. Light snow had again fallen in North Kashmir, and Sibsagar had received a shower of rain. The mean of the day and night temperatures was in slight to moderate defect in Burma, the West Coast and South India; and was normal in Sind, Mysore and the Madras Coast. It was from 5° to 8° above then normal in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, the North-Western and Central Provinces, Berar, Central India and Rajputana.

Wednesday, January 3rd.—Pressure had fallen briskly to rapidly in Persia, and briskly in Baluchistan. It had risen slightly to briskly in the North-Western Provinces and adjacent districts of the Punjab, Rajputana, and Central India; and had been steady or had changed by small amounts elsewhere. No rain had fallen in India, but Bushire had received a light shower and weather was disturbed over the Persian Gulf. Temperature had fallen briskly to rapidly in the Punjab, Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, Central India, and Berar; and was normal or in slight defect in the Punjab, Sind, Tenasserim, Lower and Central Burma, and the South Madras and West Coasts. It was in large excess in Lower Bengal, Chota Nagpur, the North-Western and Central Provinces, Berar and the Bombay Deccan.

Thursday, January 4th.—Pressure had been steady in Baluchistan and Burma; and had risen slightly to briskly in India, the rise being largest in Central India and the adjacent districts. Showers had fallen in Assam and Tenasserim. Rain had fallen in the Persian Gulf and a shallow depression was advancing eastwards along the Mekran Coast. Mean temperature was in defect in the Punjab and West Coast; normal in Burma, Rajputana, Mysore, the Madras Coast and South India; and in slight to large excess in other provinces.

Friday, January 5th.—Pressure had fallen briskly to rapidly in Kashmir and had risen slightly to briskly in Baluchistan, Gujarat, the Southern half of the Peninsula, North-East India and Tenasserim. The shallow depression lying over the Mekran Coast the day before had practically filled up, but had given ·71 inch of rain to Quetta. Light snow had fallen in Kashmir, and a few very light showers of rain had been received along the hills in the Punjab. A thunderstorm had given Bhamo half an inch of rain. Mean temperature was in defect in South India and the West Coast; and normal in Assam, the Punjab, Central India, Mysore, and the Madras Coast. It was in large excess in Berar, the Central Provinces and Orissa.

Saturday, January 6th.—The barometer had fallen slightly to briskly in Burma, North-East India and the Upper India hill districts; and had been steady or had risen slightly elsewhere, the rise having been rapid in Baluchistan and brisk in Lower Sind and Gujarat. Mean temperature was normal or in excess in all provinces, except the West Coast where it was in moderate defect. The excess ranged from 5° to 8° in Rajputana, Berar, the Central Provinces and Orissa. Light falls of rain and snow had been received in the Upper India hill districts.

Temperature.—Temperature has fallen during the week in North West India and in Central India, the fall being most marked in the Punjab and Sind. It has been practically steady in the Central Provinces, the West Coast, Mysore, and the Madras Coast; and has risen rapidly in Orissa.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 13th January.—Some heavy showers have fallen in parts of the central and southern districts and in the Nilgiris, and a few light showers in parts of Malabar. No rain has fallen elsewhere. There is some slight improvement of the water supplies where rain fell, but generally they are deficient except in Ganjam. Cultivation and sowing continue where irrigation is available but only in small areas The standing crop is poor and is suffering in parts of the Circars, the Deccan and in parts of other districts, but has improved in central and southern districts where rain fell. The harvest continues to yield indifferently. Pasturage is very scarce in many places, but fodder is generally available and cattle are in normal condition. Prices have risen slightly in most districts.

Bombay.—For week ending 15th January.—Light rain fell during the week in four districts of the Deccan and in Belgaum, Dharwar and Kanara. The harvesting of early crops is completed in all districts except in parts of Kolaba, Kanara, Dharwar and Nasik. Sowing of spring crops is progressing in Ratnagiri and Kanara and in irrigated lands in Nasik. The standing spring crops are in good condition in Sind and the Konkan, and in irrigated lands in Ahmedabad, Surat, Panch Mahals, Belgaum and Baroda and four districts of the Deccan. Fodder is scarce in parts of the Deccan and Karnatak and in Baroda. Cattle are suffering severely owing to insufficiency of fodder in Rajkot, in three districts of Gujarat, and in parts of four districts of the Deccan. Prices have fallen in four districts and risen in five districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The daily average numbers on relief are as follows :—British districts :—On test works 37,102, on relief works 527,858, dependants 149,884. Total on works 714,844. In poor-houses 6,608, on village relief 27,189. Total on gratuitous relief 33,797. Grand total on relief 748,641. Native States :—On relief works 270,481, dependants 36,402. Total on works 306,883. Poor-houses 18,345 ; village relief 5,657. Total on gratuitous relief 24,002. Grand total on relief 330,885.

Bengal.—For week ending 15th January.—Rain is reported to have fallen towards the end of the week in several districts in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. The winter rice harvest is nearly over and the pressing of sugarcane is going on. The prospects of the spring crops in Bengal and Bihar continue generally good, and in Palamau some improvement is reported owing to the rainfall of the 15th instant. Rain is needed in Puri, Ranchi, Singhbhum and Champaran. The poppy crop in Bihar so far promises well. The price of common rice is reported to have risen in 14 districts and fallen in 5 ; it is stationary in the remainder. There is plenty of fodder in every district, and cattle are generally in good condition.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 17th January.—There was no rain in the provinces before Saturday, but from the 13th to the 15th rain fell in most districts, though the reports are yet incomplete. From the ordinary reports and from special telegrams received from Commissioners, it appears that there has been heavy rain in the hill districts, Naini Tal reporting 3 inches. In the submontane districts the rainfall has also been good or heavy, and also in the Allahabad and Benares Divisions. Bijnor is said to have had fair rain, but the Agra Division, where rain was badly wanted, appears to have received less than other parts, though full details have not yet been received. In Bundelkhand there has been good rain which presumably extended to Hamirpur, though not mentioned in the weekly report. The rain has been extremely beneficial to standing crops and prospects have immensely improved, though more rain is still wanted in some parts of the provinces Slight damage by hail is reported from Mainpuri and by frost from Kheri, Bahraich, Cawnpore, Hamirpur and Banda. Supplies and fodder are ample, but the latter continues to be dear in half a dozen districts. Prices are almost stationary, but have slightly risen in 18 districts. There were 1,350 persons on 3 relief works in Jhansi, and 84 persons in the poor-house; the small numbers are owing to the fall of rain on Saturday. In Agra there were 102 workers on one test-work which is open, and 29 inmates in the poor-house. In Muttra the poor-house contained 152 inmates, of whom 19 are immigrants.

Punjab.—For week ending 17th January.—Rain has fallen in Delhi and Karnal and in parts of Rohtak, Amritsar, Rawalpindi and Peshawar. Hail-storms are also reported to have occurred in Delhi and Karnal. Sugarcane pressing continues in Jullundur, Amritsar and Sialkot. Sowings on irrigated lands have been finished. The standing crops are being watered from canals and wells. The condition of the standing crops on irrigated lands is reported to be good in Gurgaon, Amritsar and Peshawar and average or below average in Mooltan and Rawalpindi and in parts of Jullundur. The crops on unirrigated lands are bad everywhere and are withering for want of rain in Ferozepur, Dera Ismail Khan and Shahpur. High winds and the absence of rain have affected the prospects of the standing crops in Gurgaon, but the outlook will improve in Delhi if it rains during the current month. The water supply is running short in Gurgaon and Karnal; it has almost stopped in the Kalapani stream in Dera Ismail Khan. Rain is urgently wanted in all parts of the province. The outturn of sugarcane is said to be below average in Sialkot. Gram and rape crops are being damaged by caterpillars in parts of Ferozepur. The condition of cattle is said to be good in Peshawar and fair in Karnal; they are weak and out of condition in other districts owing to overwork and want of sufficient fodder. The cattle are mostly fed on leaves of trees and weeds, etc., and are being sold at low rates in Gurgaon. Cattle are dying of starvation in Gujrat, Shahpur, Jhelum and Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder is reported to be scarce throughout the province. This scarcity is being very keenly felt by the people especially in unirrigated tracts. The average number on relief was as follows:—Hissar 66,268 including dependants, Rohtak 5,024, Gurgaon 881, Delhi 2,414. Test works:—Gurgaon 10,474, Karnal 9,038, Amballa 150, Ferozepur 4,672, Mooltan 3,879, Lahore 738, Amritsar 782, Gujrat 905, Jhelum 1,229. Dependants:—Gurgaon 9, Delhi 517, Karnal 397, Mooltan 1,487. Poor-house inmates:—Hissar 2,842, Rohtak 75, Delhi 97. Otherwise relieved:—Hissar 16,178, Rohtak 2,362, Gurgaon 1,099, Karnal 37. Two test works were closed in Amballa for want of labourers to work on the wages offered. In addition to the above, 1,210 persons were employed on relief works in the Native States as detailed below:—Relief works: Pataudi and Loharu 273 and 532, respectively. Gratuitously relieved: Pataudi and Loharu 332 and 73, respectively. Prices, especially of wheat, the staple food grain, are rising in Hissar, Rohtak, Delhi, Ferozepur, Mooltan, Amritsar, Sialkot, Shahpur, Peshawar, Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan, and falling in Gurgaon, Amballa, and Rawalpindi. The prices of other food grains are either rising or are unchanged. A fall in the price of gram is reported from Amballa. The price of rice has also fallen in Sialkot. Wheat is selling from $9\frac{1}{2}$ to 12, gram $10\frac{15}{16}$ to $12\frac{3}{4}$, barley 10 to $12\frac{3}{4}$, great millet $10\frac{3}{4}$ to 14, bulrush millet $9\frac{3}{4}$ to 12, maize 11 to 15 seers per rupee. Rice is selling in Sialkot from $9\frac{1}{2}$ to $10\frac{1}{2}$ seers, and bejar (mixed grains) in Gurgaon and Karnal at 12 seers per rupee.

Burma.—For week ending 13th January.—In Lower Burma reaping is completed in seven districts, nearly completed in three, and is progressing in Akyab, Kyaukpyu, Myaungmya, Toungoo, Thatôn and Mergui. Threshing is progressing everywhere except in parts of Tharrawaddy and Prome. Prospects are excellent. In Upper Burma the reaping of wet weather paddy is completed in three districts, nearly completed in four, and continues elsewhere. Reaping of juar has commenced in Thayetmyo and that of sessamum and jura is progressing in Sagaing and Lower Chindwin. Cultivation of dry weather paddy progresses in Thayetmyo, Mandalay, Bhamo and Myitkyina, the Ruby Mines, Shwebo, Sagaing, Upper Chindwin, Kyaukse and in the Southern Shan States. Miscellaneous crop cultivation is completed in Myitkyina and Myingyan. Crops generally promise well. The price of paddy has risen in Akyab, Prome, Henzada, Amherst and Thayetmyo and fallen in Rangoon, Pegu, Thongwa, Thatôn, Minbu, Mandalay and Upper Chindwin.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 16th January.—The weather is cloudy and cool. There was general but unevenly distributed rain during the week. In Jubbulpore the fall approximated to 2 inches, in Narsinghpur to an inch and a half, and in Mandla to a little over an inch; elsewhere from three-fourths of an inch to a few cents only. A few drops fell at Nagpur and none at Chanda. Hail fell in Chhindwara, Narsinghpur, Bhandara, Saugor, Seoni and Balaghat, and is reported to have slightly damaged the crops in parts of the three latter districts. The recent rain is believed to have benefited the late spring crops in northern districts, and to a slight extent wheat in Betul and Balaghat, but crops in flower will, it is feared, be slightly damaged. The full effects will be better known next week. Clouds have caused damage to wheat, gram, til, masur and ringni juar in places, and frost has done some damage in Banda of the Saugor district. TRADE REPORT FOR THE KHORASSAN AND SEISTAN CONSULAR DISTRICT FOR THE YEAR 1898-99.

GENERAL REVIEW OF TRADE.

This report must, like many of its predecessors, be prefaced with the remark that the statistics on which it is based are not reliable. They are, moreover, statistics of the trade of Meshed. Statistics of the trade of Khorassan are not procurable.

The year under review has been a period of prosperity for trade in almost all its branches and the value both of imports and exports shew a material increase on the results of the preceding year. The total value of the imports is given as £360,522, but the real value of the goods imported for local use or consumption falls somewhat short of this sum, for Meshed, it must be remembered, is the distributing centre of a not inconsiderable trade of India with Russia and of Russia with Afghanistan. Green tea, for instance, figures in the statistics as an important Meshed import. It is, however, imported chiefly for exportation to Russia and the tea merchants say that there is little or no sale for it in Meshed. From the statistics a considerable amount would appear to have remained at Meshed during 1898-99, but the tea merchants, who should be in the best position to judge, deny that this was the case and explain that the Customs authorities have no means of checking the quantity of green tea which does pass on to Russia, as much of it is smuggled through. The Russian piece-goods again destined for Afghanistan are said to be almost entirely sent by the Meshed route. About £17,000 or £18,000 worth is said to have passed through to Herat during 1898-99.

IMPORTS.

Sugar and piece-goods are unquestionably the most important of Meshed imports. The former may be said to have become a Russian monopoly, as none but Russian sugar can now be put profitably on the market, and the bulk of the piece-goods trade is also falling into Russian hands. The causes of Russian success are not difficult to explain. For goods of foreign other than Russian manufacture or production there may be said to be only three practicable routes, namely, the Bunder Abbas and Yezd route, the Tabriz route, and the Quetta-Seistan route. The distance from Bunder Abbas to Meshed is 966 miles, from Tabriz to Meshed 943 miles, and from Quetta to Meshed by Seistan 1,090 miles, and the goods imported by these routes are carried on mules and camels which entails constant loading and unloading often in the most inclement weather. There are, moreover, innumerable other disadvantages among which may be mentioned the carelessness of the muleteers and camel drivers, the obstruction of the local officials, and the absence of proper shelter at many of the halting places. Russian goods, on the other hand, are brought by steamer and rail to Ashkabad which is connected with Meshed by a cart-road whence they are sent in country carts, which, in the event of bad weather, can be covered with tarpaulins or other water-proof material. There need consequently be no loading or unloading of the goods en route, and many of the cart-drivers are Europeans. There are suitable caravanseries at the chief halting places, and the obstruction of the local officials is reduced to a minimum owning to the presence of Russian officials at the Russo-Persian frontier, at Kuchan, and at Meshed. In the matter of freight also the advantages on the side of Russian trade are equally apparent. A pood or 36 pounds of Russian goods can be sent from the heart of Russia, from Moscow to Meshed in summer viâ Tsaristan and Krasnovodsk for about 7 krans and during winter viâ Petrovsk and Krasnovodsk for about eleven krans. The approximate average cost of carriage of the same weight of goods, viz., 36 pounds, was during 1898-99 from Bunder Abbas to Meshed 19 krans, from Tabriz to Meshed 16½ krans and from Quetta to Meshed 15 krans. Under these conditions the cause for surprise is not that the Russian manufacturers should be capturing the Khorassan markets, but that foreign competition should remain as formidable as it is.

EXPORTS.

The export trade of Meshed is chiefly with Russia which purchased during 1898-99 £124,792 worth of Khorassan produce and manufacture or nearly two-thirds of the total exportation. Opium is the only export of importance which finds its way south. The bulk of it is sent viâ Bunder Abbas to Bombay to be despatched thence to China.

BRITISH IMPORTS.

Despite the disadvantages under which British trade labours, there has been during 1898-99 an increased importation of British goods under most important heads. There is, it is true, a decrease in the value imported by Bunder Abbas, but this decrease can be more than accounted for by the decline of the Indian and Chinese tea transit trade with Russia. After deducting the value of goods imported for exportation to Russia and Afghanistan, the value of Meshed imports may be said to be roughly £300,000. The British share of this amount was rather more than a third.

GREEN TEA.

There is a considerable decrease in the quantity of green tea imported, both Chinese and Indian, but as has been explained these teas are imported chiefly for exportation to Transcaspia and Turkistan and are not an important Meshed import. It does not, moreover, follow that because there has been a decrease in the quantity sent viâ Meshed that the trade is declining, as the bulk of these teas is being, it is said, despatched viâ Batoum.

BLACK TEA.

Black tea, on the other hand, is imported chiefly for local consumption, and the demand for it in Meshed is described as being steadily on the increase. There has been a decreased importation, but this is again due to the despatch of the bulk of this tea destined for the Transcaspian markets viâ Batoum instead of as formerly viâ Meshed.

INDIGO.

The indigo imported is medium quality produced in Khairpur and Multan. The trade is entirely in the hands of British Indian merchants. The quantity imported during 1898-99—an increase to the extent of about £7,000 on the importation of the preceding year—is said to represent approximately the local requirements, and it is not believed that there is much room for further development.

ENGLISH AND INDIAN SHEETING.

This import has risen from £2,032 in 1897-98 to £6,760 in 1898-99 or an increase of £4,728. The sheeting imported was for the most part of superior quality and of English manufacture. It is largely taking the place of country cloth for the making of clothes being of softer texture.

BLEACHED AND UNBLEACHED LONG-CLOTH.

There is a slight decrease under the head of bleached long-cloth partly due to overstocking during 1897-98 and partly to the increased favour which unbleached long-cloth is finding. The increased importation of the unbleached article which is said to take dyes extremely well and is being much used for clothing, more than counterbalances the decrease under the head of bleached long-cloth. In those articles and in sheeting, Russian competition is described as having made no headway.

MISCELLANEOUS PIECE-GOODS.

Although, as has been said, the Russian manufacturers are fast securing the bulk of piece-goods trade, English piece-goods have by no means been driven from the field and were imported during 1898-99 to the value of £26,000. They continue to be the most important British import and are brought to Meshed chiefly viâ Tabriz. About £20,000 worth is said to have come by this route during 1898-99. The value of these goods imported by Bunder Abbas was only £6,388.

MUSLIN AND TURKEY RED.

There has been a largely increased importation of both these articles. In the Muslin trade there is no serious competition as the muslin turned out by the Russian manufacturers is of inferior quality and finds no favour. They have been, however, more successful with Turkey reds, and although the Russian articles cannot compete in quality and durability with the British Turkey red, it can be put on the market at a cheaper price, and consequently secures a large share of the local demand.

COTTON YARN AND TWIST.

Russian competition again is responsible for the decreased importation under this head. Their manufacturers are reported to have succeeded in turning out a cheap print which is a close imitation of the country cloth which is still being largely woven in Meshed from English cotton yarn, but the demand for which is now decreasing.

COPPER.

Copper has been in strong demand throughout the year, the importation being treble that of 1897-98. This metal is chiefly required for the making of cooking and domestic utensils, and the increased importation may be ascribed to the general prosperity consequent on a revival of trade.

DRUGS AND SPICES.

These commodities are chiefly of Indian preparation or produce. There was an increased importation under both heads.

Russian imports.

The value of Russian imports has risen from £121,307 in 1897-98 to £163,322 during the year under review, the chief increase being under the head of piece-goods. In five years the Russian import trade has risen from £59,208 to the amount stated.

SUGAR.

Russian sugar has apparently finally captured the Khorassan market and has driven all other competitors from the field.

The demand during the year was normal, and the only point noticeable was the increased favour which crystallized sugar is finding.

CANDLES AND KEROSINE OIL.

The importation of Russian candles was slightly less than in the preceding year due probably to overstocking. The decrease in the quality of kerosine oil imported is much more marked and is said to be due to the despatch by sea to the Persian Gulf of the kerosine oil for the province of Kirman which hitherto has been sent by Meshed.

PIECE-GOODS.

The value of Russian piece-goods imported during 1898-99 is given as £59,414 or more than treble the importation of 1897-98. These figures however not only represent the local demand but also a part of the requirements of the province of Herat which is largely supplied with these goods through Meshed. That the people of Herat should be obliged to get their piece-goods through Meshed and to pay the Persian import duty in addition to the Afghan is one of those anomalies of which trade in the East is so fruitful. The chief causes of Russian success in this branch of trade have been explained, but it must at the same time be admitted that the quality of Russian piece-goods is steadily improving, that the local taste in colour, pattern, and design is being closely studied by the Russian manufacturers, and that these goods would be formidable rivals to the English piece-goods even if conditions were less favourable to them.

IRON GOODS AND STEEL.

The bulk of the iron and steel imported is Russian. There is an increased importation under both heads notably in the case of steel, the imported value of which has risen from £345 to £1,016.

GLASS AND CHINAWARE.

Although the value of Russian glass and Chinaware imported is not so high as in 1897-98, there was still a good demand for these articles.

The Russian manufacturers have practically command of the market in this branch of trade.

BRASS, BRASSWARE AND BRASS WIRE.

There is a striking increase under this head. The value of these goods imported in 1897-98 was £627, in 1898-99 it advanced to £2,562.

MATCHES.

Strong efforts are being made by the Russian manufacturers to secure the market in this article, and they have been attended by a considerable measure of success, the value of Russian matches having risen from £141 in 1897-98 to £1,036 in 1898-99.

SACKCLOTH.

The demand for sackcloth is largely dependent on the state of the wool trade, the centre of which is Turbat-i-Haidari. There is a slightly increased importation.

TEA.

The importation of tea from Russia continues to increase. In 1896-97 the value imported was £390, in 1897-98 it rose to £472, and in the year under report it has again risen to £800.

As explained in the last report this tea is the Chinese black tea which seems to be increasing in favour.

MERV AND BOKHARA TRADE.

There is a decrease in the Merv and Bokhara imports due to a decline in the demand for skins and leather.

IMPORTS viâ TURKEY, TABRIZ, AND TEHRAN.

There is a much heavier importation by the Tabriz route than in the preceding year notably under the heads of piece-goods, broadcloth, and cutlery, watches, and fancy goods. The value of the piece-goods brought by this route is given as £22,418, an increase of over £700 on the figures for 1897-98, of which about nine-tenths is said to be British. Four-fifths of the broadcloth also is British, and there is a large increase under this head, the importation being nearly double that of 1897-98. The value of cutlery, watches, and fancy goods has risen from £1,560 in 1897-98 to £4,227. These goods are chiefly of German and Swiss manufacture. A considerable increase is also reported in the importation of aniline dyes, which are another important import by this route.

AFGHAN IMPORTS.

There is an increase of £14,?94 in the value of Afghan imports. Postins, sheep and lamb-skins and carpets are the articles of which there has been an increased importation. The value of sheep and lamb-skins imported has risen from £6,900 in 1897-98 to £14,310, and the trade in these skins is reported to be very profitable.

EXPORTS TO INDIA.

The only export of importance sent south is opium, and, although a considerable amount is reported to be yearly despatched to Bombay, it is not in reality an export to India, and it is merely sent to Bombay for transhipment to China. There is a considerable increase in the quantity of silk exported. This silk is said to find great favour with the bunyas or native merchants of Shikarpur and the entire exportation is consigned to them.

EXPORTS TO RUSSIAN TERRITORY.

Wools, shawls, carpets, skins, and country cloth are the chief articles of export to Russia. The wool trade is reported to have been brisk and profitable, and the exportation of shawls, carpets, and country cloth also has largely increased. The strides, which the export trade with Russia has made during the last five years, are remarkable. In 1894-95 the total exportation was valued at £24,458; in the year under report it is valued as has been stated at £124,792.

AFGHAN EXPORTS.

The export trade with Afghanistan is unimportant and calls for no special remarks.

EXCHANGE.

The following remarks on exchange have been kindly furnished by the Manager of the Meshed Branch of the Imperial Bank of Persia.

The Imperial Bank of Persia is now the principal medium for exchange facilities which, owing to the ever-increasing trade with Russia, is a matter of some importance to traders.

There are one or two good native houses who also transact banking business.

During the past year the price of the rouble has varied between krans five (5) and krans five-fifty-five (5·55).

In May the Russian Government issued their notice prohibiting the import into Transcaspia of the Persian kran, and it was expected that a general and steady rise in the value of the rouble in Meshed would result, and importers of Russian goods were extremely nervous at the prospect. This effect was very temporary, however, being checked by the difficulty of importing silver bullion into Persia through Russia who imposed a duty of roubles three per Russian pound even on silver in transit.

Russian notes and gold are found in considerable quantities in the bazars, but the price is subject to the fluctuations of the exchage.

Goldsmiths find the gold in the Russian coins very good and profitable for their work, and it is estimated that 100,000 roubles of Russian gold coins is turned into jewellery during the year.

Rupee drafts are much in request by Afghan wool traders who buy in India English goods for the Afghan market and bring wool to Khorassan for Russian purchasers. During the year about 3,00,000 rupees have been taken up in this business. The rupee rate for the year has fluctuated between 28 rupees to 30 rupees the hundred krans.

ANNUAL REPORT ON

THE POST OFFICE OF INDIA

FOR THE YEAR

1898-99.

No. 29, dated the 8th November 1899.

From—A. U. FANSHAWE, Esq., C. S. I., Director General of the Post Office of India,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department.

I have the honour to submit the Annual Report on the Post Office of India for the year 1898-99.

Charge of the Post Office.

2. The administration of the Department was in my hands throughout the year.

Principal events, Inland Post.

3. The new Post Office Act, which was passed by the Legislature during the preceding year, came into force on the 1st July 1898.

During the year, the plague, which made its appearance in Calcutta, the Madras Presidency, Mysore, and the Punjab, and prevailed to a serious degree in Bombay and Karachi, was a source of special anxiety to the Department, and not less than 124 postal officials fell victims to the epidemic. In Bangalore, when the plague was at its worst, the postal establishment became disorganised for a time, and special measures had to be adopted to meet the emergency.

The system of identification by thumb impressions was introduced, as an experimental measure, for the payment of money orders to illiterate payees in a part of the North Arcot district of the Madras Presidency. Successful results were obtained, and steps have now been taken to extend the system to the whole of the Madras postal circle.

The sale of quinine through the agency of the Post Office was re-introduced experimentally in certain districts of the Punjab.

During the year, the value-payable system was extended to unregistered parcels ; the scale of postage for inland letters was revised and made cheaper; a new rate of quarter of an anna for four tolas was added to the scale of postage for registered newspapers, and the system of privileged publications was withdrawn. The limit up to which an article can be insured was raised from R1,000 to R2,000, and the procedure in connection with the insurance of articles was at the same time simplified, the sender of an insured article being no longer required to declare its contents or to fill up any form for presentation at the post office.

The scheme for the continuous delivery of letters and other postal articles, which had been introduced experimentally in certain parts of Calcutta in the preceding year, was adopted as a permanent arrangement, and extended throughout Calcutta during the year under review. The scheme was also introduced in selected parts of Bombay towards the close of the year, and although special difficulties had to be contended with owing to the prevalence of the plague, the measure was working satisfactorily when the year ended.

Two large Military camps of exercise were held during the winter, one at Delhi and the other in the neighbourhood of Attock, and the postal arrangements in connection with these camps were carried out with complete success.

There were several serious breaks during the year on the marginally named railways which caused interruptions in the mail service, and necessitated special arrangements being made for the carriage of the mails.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Bengal and North-Western, Southern Mahratta, South Indian, Nizam's Guaranteed, and Burma State railways.

Principal events, Foreign post.

4. The following were the principal events of the foreign post: The Acts of the Universal Postal Congress held at Washington in May and June 1897 came into operation on the 1st January 1899. The foreign parcel post was extended to Russia in Europe, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Brazil, Bolivia, Netherlands-India, Nigeria, the New Hebrides, the Banks Islands, the Santa Cruz Islands, the Cook Islands, Samoa, the Native State of Selangor in the Malay Peninsula, the French Soudan and the French Colonies of Obock, New Caledonia and Réunion. In consequence of the changes in the parcel post service with the United Kingdom, and of the establishment of direct parcel post exchanges, on the Union system, with France and Germany, a general revision was carried out of the rates and conditions applicable to parcels for countries served through the United Kingdom, France, and Germany. The parcel post to Greece, which had been temporarily suspended on account of quarantine restrictions, was resumed during the year, only, however, to be again suspended shortly after the expiry of the year; and the foreign money order system was extended to Fiji and to certain offices in Corea and Formosa.

The most important event of the year, however, was the introduction, on Christmas Day, 1898, of the Imperial Penny Postage scheme in accordance with which letters are now exchanged between the United Kingdom and the great majority of British Colonies and Possessions, including India, at a uniform postage rate of one penny the half-ounce.

Working of the P. and O. contract.

5. According to the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company's time tables, as approved by Her Majesty's Postmaster General, the steamers with the European mails were due in Bombay at noon on Saturday of each week. During the year under review, the contract time was exceeded on four occasions, in one instance, owing to an accident to the steamer, by 33 hours and 23 minutes. On 17 occasions the mail steamers arrived on Friday, on 32 occasions on Saturday, and on 3 occasions on Sunday. The shortest time occupied in transit by the mail from London to Bombay was 12 days 8 hours and 31 minutes, while the average time for the year was 14 days 3 hours and 40 minutes. In the opposite direction, that is, from Bombay to London, the quickest transit was 12 days 20 hours and 22 minutes, while the average time for the year was 14 days 6 hours and 34 minutes.

Post offices, letter boxes and rural delivery.

6. Appendix I shows the numbers of post offices, letter-boxes and village postmen of the Imperial Post in each circle on the 31st March 1899, as compared with the numbers at the close of the previous year, and the marginal abstract shows the figures for the past two years for the whole of India, for both the Imperial and District Post. The total number of post offices has increased by 244 and of letter-boxes by 1,066. The increase was greatest in the Punjab and in Bengal, as regards post offices, and in Bengal and Madras as regards letter-boxes. The total number of post offices entrusted to the charge of schoolmasters and other persons not belonging to the Department, was 6,773 at the end of the year under review, as compared with 6,520 at the end of 1897-98.

It will be observed that there is one post office in India for every 126 square miles as against 129 square miles in 1897-98, and one letter-box for every 44 square miles, as against 45 square miles in the previous year. In this respect Bengal, including Bihar and Eastern Bengal, continues to be the most favoured province as regards post offices and letter-boxes, while Burma and Rajputana are still the most backward.

Section II.—Postal Lines.

Postal communications.

8. Statistics showing the distances over which mails were carried in each circle by the various agencies of the Imperial Post Office during 1898-99 will be found in Appendix II. An abstract of the appendix is given on the margin for facility of reference, with additional columns for District Post, Political and Military lines managed by the Post Office. It will be seen that there was a slight decrease under the head of Steamer Lines, and an increase under all other heads. The increase was most marked in the case of railways; and this was chiefly due to the opening of the section from Bezwada to Ennur of the East Coast Railway in Madras and of the sections from Bulrampur to Tulsipur, Man to Revilganj, and certain other sections of the Bengal and North-Western Railway in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The increases in other circles were due to the opening of short lines.

The use of light hand carts or rickshaws for carrying mails was still further extended, especially in Bombay, and the Postmaster General of that circle reports very favourably regarding this mode of conveyance.

The experiment of using bicycles for postal purposes which was tried last year in parts of Madras and in Lahore was extended during the year under report to the town of Bombay, with successful results. The experience gained so far shows that the bicycle is not a suitable means of conveyance for mails over lines of any length in the interior of the country, but for short communications over good roads in or in the vicinity of the larger towns, it is clear that the services of runners can be efficiently and economically replaced by employing bicycle riders.

Section III.—Correspondence and Parcels.

Postal Traffic.

9. The estimated number of postal articles of all kinds, exclusive of money orders, issued for delivery during the year, amounted to more than 477 millions or 12 millions in excess of the number during the preceding year. The increase has been 35·62 per cent. since 1892-93 and 40·66 per cent. since 1891-92. Statistics showing the different classes of articles delivered in the various postal circles during 1898-99 will be found in Appendix III, and a summary of the general results is given in the following statement:—

YEAR.	Post cards.	Letters (paid).	Letters (unpaid).	Letters (registered).	Total of letters and postcards.	News-papers.	Book and pattern packets.	Parcels (registered).	Parcels (unregistered).	GRAND TOTAL (all postal articles except money orders).

It will be seen that, except as regards unpaid letters and registered parcels, there was an increase in the total number of articles issued for delivery under every head. The percentage of increase in all articles taken together was highest in the Bengal circle where it was 6·17 per cent. As usual, the increase in the number of post cards (more than 10 millions) far exceeded the increase in any other class of postal articles.

As in the previous year, the total number of postcards exceeded the number of paid letters in the case of Bengal, Bombay, the Punjab and Eastern Bengal circles. The total number of letters registered during the year was more than 9½ millions, and registration continues to be more popular in Madras than in any other part of India—the total number of letters registered in that presidency being over 2 millions. The fall of ·37 per cent. in the number of registered parcels was trifling, and it was more than made up by the increase of 84,626 or 42·66 per cent. in the number of unregistered parcels. In the case of unpaid letters there was a decrease of 1,395,244, at the rate of 4·68 per cent., in the number issued for delivery. During the preceding five years the number of unpaid letters has shewn a small but steady increase, and it is impossible to say as yet whether the falling-off now recorded has any special significance.

Average number of postal articles per head of population.

10. The following table, prepared from the last census returns, shows for each circle the number of letters and other postal articles per head of the total population and per head of the literate portion of the population. Bombay, Sind and Baluchistan, the Punjab and Burma rank highest as regards the number of articles per head of the population, and Sind and Baluchistan, the Punjab and Bombay rank highest as regards the number of articles per head of the literate population :—

Foreign Correspondence.

11. The figures in Appendix III include the foreign correspondence received in India for delivery, but a special table is given at the end of this paragraph showing separately the quantity of correspondence which passed in each direction between India and the United Kingdom, and between India and all other parts of the world. As regards the mails exchanged with the United Kingdom, the results of the year show a marked increase in the number of letters and post-cards, but a falling-off in that of newspapers and packets. In the case of the homeward mails, there was an increase, over the normal increase, of nearly 7 per cent. in the number of letters and post-cards, and of about 3½ per cent. in the number of newspapers and packets. As regards the mails received from the United Kingdom, there was a still further development of the unusual increase, which occurred in 1897-98, in the number of letters and post-cards received, the increase during the year under review being at the rate of 17·44 per cent., or about 4 per cent. in advance of that of the previous year; but, in the case of newspapers and packets received from home, which had increased by more than two millions in the years 1896-97 and 1897-98, there was a falling-off, which it is not easy to account for, of upwards of 300,000 during the year under review. The increase over the figures of the previous year in the number of letters and post-cards, both sent and received, is, without doubt, largely to be attributed to the lower postage rate, on letters, of a penny (or one anna) the ½ oz., which was in force during the last three months of the year. As regards mails, exchanged with other countries, statistics used to be taken once in three years. The last statistics were taken in May 1896 and, under the terms of the Principal Convention of Washington, no further statistics are to be taken during the currency of that Convention. The figures given in the table are, therefore, merely a repetition of those of the last two years, and do not call for any remark :—

In the year under review there was an increase of 12,676 or 5·1 per cent. in the total number of foreign parcels and of ₨38,033 in the Indian share of the revenue from the foreign parcel post :—

Parcel exchange with the United Kingdom.

13. More than 69 per cent. of the whole foreign parcel traffic was with the United Kingdom. As regards the parcel exchange with the British Post Office, there was an appreciable increase, as compared with the figures of the preceding year, in the traffic to and from the United Kingdom by the Brindisi route newly adopted for parcels; there was also an increase in both directions in the number of parcels received in India by the sea route viâ Gibraltar, but a considerable falling-off in the number despatched from India by this route. The figures relating to both routes, if taken together, show, however, that there was an increase of 4,584 in the number of parcels exchanged in both directions. As regards the exchange through the agency of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, there was a further falling-off in the number of parcels, and, as remarked by me last year, this exchange has practically now ceased to be of any importance. If the figures relating to all the parcel post services to and from the United Kingdom be taken together, they show a total increase of 3,795 in the number and of R26,447 in the net revenue of the Indian Post Office, over the figures of the preceding year.

Parcel exchanges with countries other than the United Kingdom.

14. In the exchange with Continental Europe, the number of parcels despatched from India shows a slight increase in the traffic, while the number received in India is 1,556 in excess of the number received in the previous year. The accompanying increase in the net revenue of the Indian Post Office is R6,637. In the exchanges with other countries, there was again a satisfactory development of the traffic in both directions, an addition of 7,220, at the rate of 11·5 per cent., having been made to the number of parcels, and of R4,949 to the net Indian revenue. The increase in the number of parcels sent to non-European countries is again to be attributed in great measure to the steady growth of the parcel post with Ceylon, while there was, at the same time, a distinct development of the traffic with the British East Africa Protectorate, the number of parcels sent to that Protectorate having risen from 2,312 to 4,494.

15. The progress of the foreign parcel traffic as a whole since 1878-79, will be seen from the table in the margin.

Delivery work of the year.

16. The figures given in paragraph 9 of this report show that 477,336,258 letters, post-cards, newspapers, packets and parcels were issued for delivery during the year. These figures are calculated from actual enumerations made for a week at a time twice during the year, and approximately represent the delivery of mail articles properly so called. In order, however, to ascertain the entire delivery work of the year, it is necessary to add the number of money orders which are delivered and paid by postmen and village postmen. The entire delivery work of the year is shown by the following figures :—

Sent out for delivery (including 11,989,826 money orders)	489,326,084
Received back undelivered (deducted as representing articles either again sent out and delivered or sent to the Dead Letter Office)	14,559,120
Balance actually delivered	474,766,964
Sent to Dead Letter Office	4,369,396
Total number received for delivery (counting each article only once)	479,136,360

These figures show that the percentage of articles delivered on the whole number received for delivery was 99·09, as compared with 99·03 in the previous year.

Dead Letter Offices.

17. The total number of letters, post-cards and other articles, excluding money orders, that reached one or other of the ten Dead Letter Offices was 5,777,360, as compared with 6,106,203 received in the previous year. The distribution of these articles among the different Dead Letter Offices, and the ways in which the articles were disposed of, are shown in detail in Appendix IV, of which a summary is given below :—

Articles undisposable			1,092,724	1,045,906	25·95	26·26

Of the total number of articles 824,530 were successfully disposed of by being redirected and then delivered to the persons to whom they were addressed, while 2,111,900 were returned to the senders, and 1,045,906 were found to be unreturnable. This last figure is only 0·2 per cent. of the total number of articles given out for delivery in the year, and a large proportion of the 1,045,906 articles were from their nature not capable of delivery. From special statistics kept by the Bengal Dead Letter Office for three months, it appears that some 3,000 letters, 5,600 newspapers and 1,800 packets were posted in the Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam circles without any address at all. As usual, a large amount of valuable property was found in letters and other articles posted without addresses or with addresses so incorrect and incomplete that the covers had to be opened in order that the senders might be traced. In articles opened in the five more important Dead Letter Offices were found cheques, hundis, currency notes, bills of exchange, coins, and other property amounting in value to R3,88,200-15-7, £1,940-15, 180 francs and 420 dollars, and the whole of this property was successfully delivered to the owners, with the exception of money and other articles of the total value of R24,635-0-11, £88-16-6 and 400 dollars. There has been nothing, however, of any special interest brought to notice in the reports on the working of the Dead Letter Offices.

Sale of postage stamps, etc.

18. Particulars regarding the issues from treasuries of post-cards, postage stamps, embossed envelopes and stamped wrappers will be found in Appendix V, and similar information regarding service post-cards, service postage stamps, and service embossed envelopes will be found in Appendix VI, to which is added an abstract of the two appendices, showing the issues of each kind of post-card, postage stamp, embossed envelope and stamped wrapper. The total value of the issues of ordinary stamps was R1,34,56,936, and of service stamps R26,96,325, there being an increase over the figures of the preceding year of R1,84,181 in the value of ordinary stamps, and of R32,044 in the value of service stamps.

The issues of ordinary stamps were largest in the Bombay circle, where they amounted to over 27 lakhs of rupees. Bengal and Madras come next with issues of nearly 24 lakhs of rupees each. The inland single post-cards continued to command the highest sales, the total issues being over 125 millions in number. The small ½ anna envelope had the next largest sale, over 74 millions being issued during the year. Of the ½ anna adhesive stamps, over 63 millions were issued, of the ½ anna reply post-cards, over 18 millions, of the 2 anna adhesive stamps, nearly 7 millions, and of the 4 anna adhesive stamps, over 2 millions. Of the new 3 pies stamps, which were introduced on the 1st October 1898, nearly 7½ millions were sold. Owing to the introduction of the Imperial penny postage scheme from the 25th December 1898, the sales of 2½ anna adhesive stamps fell from 3 to 2½ millions, and of 2½ anna envelopes from nearly half-a-million to something under one-third of a million, while the sales of one anna adhesive stamps rose from about 11 millions to over 12 millions, and of one anna square envelopes from 63 thousand to over a lakh. In the case of the ordinary ½ anna square envelopes, and of the one anna service and soldiers' envelopes, the sales declined ; but there was an improvement in the number of ½ anna square service envelopes issued, and there was also an increase in the sales of ordinary registration envelopes, of both sizes, over the figures of the previous year.

The issues of ½ anna wrappers rose from some 329 thousand in the preceding year to some 332 thousand during the year under review, but there was apparently a falling-off in the demand for one anna wrappers, of which the issues decreased from some 56 thousand in the previous year to about 48 thousand in the year under review.

Apart from the sales of postage stamps, one anna revenue or receipt stamps to the value of R4,13,095 were sold during the year, through the agency of the Post Office. Non-judicial stamps and Court-fee stamps are also sold at many post offices, but, except in Burma, the postmaster acts, as regards these stamps, as a private vendor, and the stamps do not form part of the post office balance. In Burma, where general stamps are kept by the postmaster in the same way as other stamps, the sales on this account amounted to R79,732.

Section IV.—District Post.

Management of the District Post.

19. There has been no change in the management of the District Post during the year under report. It was administered, as usual, by the heads of postal circles subject to the control of the several Local Governments and Administrations.

General results of the year.

20. The comparative statement given on the next page shows the establishments, income, and expenditure of the District Post, and also the work done under this head for the years 1897-98 and 1898-99. The total income of the year under report was R12,25,257, and the total expenditure R11,72,556. There was an increase of 2 in the number of post offices, and of 170 in the number of letter-boxes kept up out of District Post Funds, while the number of postmen and village postmen decreased by 79 and the length of District Post mail lines by 1,187 miles, due, of course, to the postmen and lines being taken over by the Imperial Post. There was also a decrease of 1,252,030 or 6·96 per cent. in the number of articles of all kinds received for delivery by the District Post agency, and of 1,036,761 or 8·49 per cent. in the number of articles posted in post offices and letter-boxes kept up by District Post. Appendix VII gives details according to circles of letters and other postal articles sent to, and received from, the District Post.

Section V.—Money Orders.

Inland money orders—General results.

21. The total number of money order offices at the end of the year under review was 11,712 as compared with 11,491 at the close of the previous year. The number of inland money orders issued, including telegraphic money orders, but excluding all transactions with Native States, was nearly 11¾ millions, of the aggregate value of over 24½ crores of rupees, while the commission realized amounted to well over 30¾ lakhs of rupees. The table in the margin shows the yearly progress made in this branch of business since it was undertaken by the Post Office. The increase in the number of money orders is smaller than it has been for several years past, but there is reason to believe this is due to temporary causes. The table in the margin shows that for the last six years the average value of an inland money order has remained remarkably constant at a figure standing a little lower than R21.

As in previous years the money order business of the Bengal circle was far greater than that of any other postal circle. The number of orders issued and paid in the Lower Provinces during 1898-99 was more than one-third of the total transactions for all India. The payments in Bihar, Bombay and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh were considerably in excess of the issues as in former years, while the issues in Assam, Burma, the Central Provinces and Sind and Baluchistan largely exceeded the payments.

Revenue Money Orders.

23. The revenue money order business in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh continued to increase. The number of orders rose from 168,118 in 1897-98 to 206,444 in the year under review, and the amount from R37,46,711 to R46,12,982. In the Central Provinces, where there had been a falling-off during the previous year owing to the prevalence of famine, the number of orders rose from 9,976 to 18,338 and the amount from R4,48,834 to R6,89,528. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal, including Eastern Bengal and Bihar, there was an increase in the number of the transactions, but a slight falling-off in their aggregate value. The value of the orders issued in those provinces fell from R18,91,028 in 1897-98 to R18,83,069, while the number rose from 193,278 in the previous year to 202,187. In the Punjab, the total number of revenue money orders rose from 11,030 in 1897-98 to 14,065 and the amount from R7,05,213 to R9,51,618.

Remittances of miscellaneous Government dues by Money Orders.

24. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal 99,624 official money orders of the aggregate value of R21,80,141 were issued during the year under report, as compared with 93,933 orders of the aggregate value of R20,32,378 in the previous year. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh also the system continued to make steady progress; the number of orders rose from 28,916 in 1897-98 to 33,764 during the year under report, and the value from R5,83,856 to R6,55,590. In the Punjab there was an increase of 1,469 in the number and of R37,321 in the value of official money orders, the total number of orders and their amount being 5,492 and R1,39,892 as compared with 4,023 and R1,02,571 respectively, in the previous year. In Madras 4,169 official money orders of the aggregate value of R73,623 were issued during the year under report as compared with 4,416 orders of the aggregate value of R74,633 in the previous year. In Burma 92 official money orders of a total value of R6,778 were issued as against 119 of the value of R6,665 in the year 1897-98.

Rent Money Orders.

25. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the progress shown last year in the rent money order business was well sustained during the year under report. The total number of orders rose from 59,055 in 1897-98 to 68,375 and the amount from R8,39,608 to R9,37,730. In the Central Provinces this business, which had declined during the previous year on account of famine, showed considerable improvement during the year under review. The number of orders rose from 1,450 in 1897-98 to 1,838 and the amount from R24,102 to R32,156. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal also there was an advance both in the number and value of rent money orders as compared with the figures for the previous year. The total number of orders issued rose from 49,819 in 1897-98 to 51,774 during 1898-99, the amount of rent remitted being R7,61,794, as compared with R7,34,892 in the preceding year.

There was an increase of nearly 3 lakhs of rupees in the value of the issues and of more than 1¼ lakhs of rupees in the value of the payments, in these Native States. It will be noticed that the payments made by the Imperial Post Office on account of money orders issued by Native States have been much larger than the drawings of the Imperial Post office on those States. This result was mainly due to the issues of the Gwalior State.

There was an increase in the number of telegraphic money orders, both issued and paid, but a decrease in their aggregate value and this is to be accounted for by the fact that in the preceding year the remittances by telegraphic money order were of an abnormal character owing to the system having been largely used by grain dealers for the purchase of stocks of grain for the famine-stricken districts of the Deccan. The postal commission on telegraphic money orders amounted to R1,94,706 in addition to R1,59,826, the cost of the telegrams, which is paid by the remitters along with the postal commission but credited to the Telegraph Department.

The average value of a telegraphic money order for the last six years is shown in the marginal statement. There is curiously little change in the inter-provincial use of this system. Burma, owing no doubt to its geographical position, continues to issue many more orders than any other province, the number issued during the year under report being 44·44 per cent. of the total number for the whole of India. Many of these orders are payable in Madras, and, as in previous years, the total payments were larger in that province than in any other, while Burma stands second in the matter of payments.

Foreign money orders in sterling.

Foreign money orders drawn on and received from the United Kingdom, British Colonies, Foreign European countries and most of their colonies and possessions, and Egypt are issued in sterling, payments being made by the remitters and to the payees in India at rates of exchange fixed from time to time by the Post Office:—

During 1898-99 the number of sterling money orders issued rose from 63,350 to 68,430 and their value from £224,346 to £233,331. The increase was as usual chiefly due to an increase in the remittances made to the United Kingdom. In the case of sterling money orders received for payment in India, there was a slight decrease of 495 in number and £59 in value, owing mainly to a falling-off in the number of money orders advised by the United Kingdom. The average value of a money order issued by India in 1898-99 was £3-8-2 as compared with £3-10-10 in 1897-98 and that of a money order paid in India was £5-12-7 as compared with £5-11-3 in the preceding year. The average of the rates of exchange in force in 1898-99 was 15¾*d* per rupee as compared with 15¼*d.* in the previous year.

As in former years so in the year under review, the remittances received from these countries and colonies largely exceeded the sums remitted to them by India, except in the case of the Portuguese Settlements. The heaviest drawings on India were by Ceylon, British East Africa, the German Protectorate in East Africa, Mauritius, Zanzibar and the Straits Settlements, and the total amount paid on account of the drawings from abroad was more than seven times the amount of the orders issued by India for payment in those countries. The average value of a foreign rupee money order issued by India in 1898-99 was R37-10-9, as compared with R37-12-3 in 1897-98, and that of an order paid in India was R43-7-5, as compared with R42-14-3 in the preceding year.

Telegraphic money orders between India and Ceylon.

30. The marginally noted statement shows the telegraphic money order transactions between India and Ceylon during the years 1897-98 and 1898-99. The money orders issued by India on Ceylon increased by 71 in number and R8,774 in value; but there was a decrease in the issues on India by Ceylon, which was to be expected, as the Ceylon drawings of the preceding year were abnormally high owing to unusually large purchases of grain in Southern India for export to that Colony.

British postal orders.

33. From the marginally noted statement showing the sales of British Postal orders during the last two years it will be seen that during the year under review there was a marked increase in the number as well as in the value of the orders sold. The total number of orders sold in 1898-99 was 68,481, as compared with 59,058 in the preceding year, and the total value (including poundage) £44,222 as compared with £38,370 in 1897-98. As in former years, the orders most in demand were those of the 5 shillings, 10 shillings, and 20 shillings denominations; 51,910 of these orders were sold; while the total sales of orders of all other denominations only amounted to 16,571. The net commission realized by the Indian Post Office on the entire sales of the year was R2,071.

Section VI.—Savings Banks.

General results of the year.

34. The usual statement is appended showing in detail, according to postal circles, the savings bank transactions of the year, as compared with those of the previous year. At the close of the year there were 755,871 active accounts as compared with 730,387 at the end of the year 1897-98, there being thus a net increase of 25,484 or 3·48 per cent. in the number of depositors. Exclusive of transfers from one post office to another, the amount deposited in the year was about 331 lakhs of rupees as compared with about 322 lakhs of rupees in 1897-98; the amount withdrawn was about 344½ lakhs as compared with a little over 335 lakhs in 1897-98, and the interest paid was nearly 27½ lakhs as compared with something over 28 lakhs in 1897-98. The total amount standing at the credit of depositors at the close of the year was 942⅗ lakhs, showing an increase of about 14 lakhs, as compared with the balance at the close of the preceding year.

The average balance of each account was 124·73 as compared with 127·15 in the previous year. Of the 755,871 active accounts at the end of the year, 37,710 were security deposit accounts with a balance in favour of depositors of over 47½ lakhs, giving an average of R125 for each account, the maximum limit for a security deposit account being R500. The number of public accounts was 5,854 with a balance of over 32 lakhs, giving an average of R551 for each account, as compared with 5,735 accounts with a balance of nearly 31½ lakhs at the end of the previous year, giving an average of R549 for each account. There were 169 regimental and other conjoint accounts with a balance of nearly 10 lakhs, giving an average of R5,893 for each account. There is no limit of deposit in the case of regimental and other conjoint accounts. Of the remaining 712,138 active accounts with a balance of about 853 lakhs, 91,777 with a balance of over 155½ lakhs were held on behalf of minors by their parents, relatives and guardians, and the rest were accounts opened and held by depositors on their own behalf. It will be seen, therefore, that 94·21 per cent. of all the accounts in the Post Office Savings Banks and 90·47 per cent. of the total balance of 942⅗ lakhs, represent the savings of private persons, deposited either for their own benefit or for the benefit of their children, minor relatives and wards.

Depositors—Europeans and Natives of India.

35. The statement below shows the number and value of accounts held by Europeans and Eurasians, as compared with the number and value of accounts held by natives of India. The proportion of accounts held by Europeans and Eurasians was highest in the Madras and North-Western Provinces and Oudh circles; but 90·84 per cent. of the total number of accounts at the close of the year were held by natives of the country, showing a slight decrease as compared with the percentage for the preceding year:—

Depositors according to occupation.

36. In the following statement the depositors are classified according to their occupation. As in the four preceding years, the largest number of accounts were held by the undermentioned classes of depositors in the following order:—

(1) persons of no occupation or whose incomes are derived from others or from their own property—classed as "Indefinite" in the statement;

(2) the professional class, and

(3) the domestic class.

The highest percentage of increase was, however, in the agricultural class, the number of whose accounts increased at the rate of 9·88 per cent. during the year under report:—

Investment in Government securities.

37. There were 603 investments in Government securities through the Post Office during the year, the nominal value of the investments being R4,18,300 in the aggregate, as compared with 657 purchases of the nominal value of R7,42,600 in the preceding year. The sales of securities through the Post Office were 37 as compared with 35 in 1897-98. The nominal value of the securities held in the custody of the Comptroller General at the close of the year, on account of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank, was R8,43,700 as compared with R7,31,200 on the 31st March 1898; and it may be interesting to note that of this balance in the hands of the Comptroller General, R7,76,600 represented the nominal value of securities of the $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. loan, while the balance, R67,100, was held in 3 per cent. loans.

Percentage of increase (+) or decrease (—).	—2·12	—·09	+2·45	+1·39	+1·05	+1·01	+1·75

It will be seen that there was an increase in the total business of the year as regards both the number and value of the articles insured, notwithstanding a fall in the number and value of insured letters. In Bombay, where the insurance business last year showed the largest increase, there was a marked decrease during the year under report, the total number of insured articles having fallen from 85,330 in 1897-98 to 79,242 in 1898-99. As was stated in last year's report, the increase in the insurance business in Bombay was due to the fact that Marwari and other foreign traders in the town and island of Bombay left for their homes in considerable numbers owing to the panic caused by the plague and made large use of the postal insurance system to send their valuables away. No such exodus took place during the year under report, and the decrease in the number of articles insured in Bombay is partly due to this cause. Another reason given by the Postmaster-General, Bombay, for the decrease is that there was not so much speculation in gold during the year under review, owing to exchange having been practically stationary, and consequently there were fewer insured parcels containing gold despatched from Bombay. In Madras, on the other hand, there was a large increase in the insurance business. The number of insured articles rose from 67,568 to 71,790, and the value insured from more than 16 millions to nearly 19 millions of rupees. The Postmaster-General, Madras, attributes this increase to the same cause as that which operated in Bombay last year. That is to say, on the plague breaking out in Bangalore, Mysore, and other places, many Marwaris and others trading at these places fled to their homes and resorted largely to the postal insurance system for the safe conveyance of their valuables.

The average value for which each letter was insured during the year 1898-99 was R264 as compared with R258 in the previous year, and the average value for which each parcel was insured was R324 as compared with R327 in 1897-98.

Claims for compensation.

39. The number of claims for compensation on account of the loss of insured articles or the abstraction of their contents during the year under review was 72, as compared with 34 in the previous year. The increase was due to the fact that 39 insured articles were lost when the British India Steam Navigation Company's Mail Steamer Mecca, carrying the mails for Burma, was wrecked on the 24th May 1898. Thirteen claims arose out of losses by highway robbery of mails—five claims on account of losses in British territory, and the remainder on account of losses in Native States. Out of the 72 claims made during the year under review, 63 were admitted, and in 11 of these 63 cases the loss was caused by fraud or negligence on the part of servants of the Post Office. The usual statement showing the cases in which compensation was actually paid or in which the claims were admitted during the last two years is given on the margin. It will be seen that the claims admitted by the Post Office in the year under report amounted to R29,822-5 or 11·03 per cent. of the total amount realized from insurance fees, as compared with a percentage of 2·65 in the previous year. Of the nine cases in which claims were not admitted, six were actually rejected, the remaining three being still under enquiry at the close of the year. In four out of the six cases in which compensation was refused, the Post Office declined to accept responsibility on the ground that the insured articles had been delivered in good condition and on a clear receipt, and in all six cases there was sufficient evidence to justify the conclusion that the articles said to be missing were not inside the insured covers when the latter were posted. In two instances the contents of the insured parcels were declared at the office of posting to be gold but were found on delivery to be pieces of lead and stones.

Section VIII.—Value-payable system.

Value-payable post.

40. The table in the margin shows the development of the value-payable business since its introduction in December 1877. The steady progress which has characterized this class of postal business from the first was well maintained during the year under report. The total number of articles of all kinds sent through the post under the value-payable system was 2,347,569, as compared with 2,180,465 in the previous year; the total amount specified for recovery from the addressees was more than $2\frac{3}{4}$ crores of rupees, as compared with something over $2\frac{1}{2}$ crores, while the commission realized was nearly half a lakh more than in the previous year. There was thus an increase of 7·66 per cent. in the number of articles, of 9·88 per cent. in the value specified for recovery and of 10·20 per cent. in the commission realized. There was no change in the general conditions under which Calcutta is responsible, year by year, for nearly two-fifths of the entire business. Out of a total of 832,291 articles sent by the value-payable post in the whole of the Bengal circle, 785.448 were posted at the Calcutta General Post Office and its town sub offices, and of the sum of nearly 92 lakhs of rupees recovered from the addressees of value-payable articles posted in that circle, more than $86\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs of rupees were payable to the tradesmen of Calcutta.

The value-payable business with Ceylon has been steadily increasing every year since its introduction in 1891. During the year under report 24,840 value-payable articles of the aggregate value of R2,20,723 were despatched from India to Ceylon, as compared with 23,697 articles of the aggregate value of R2,07,000 in the preceding year. The value-payable system has not yet been introduced between India and any other foreign country.

Classification of value-payable articles.

41. In the statement on the margin details are given of the different classes of articles sent through the post under the value-payable system. As compared with the figures of the previous year, the result is an increase of 12·56 per cent. in the number of value-payable railway receipts and of 10·06 per cent. in the number of value-payable unregistered packets, and a decrease of 8·38 per cent. in the number of value-payable registered parcels and of ·51 per cent. in the number of value-payable registered letters and packets. The decrease in the number of value-payable registered parcels is no doubt due to the admission of unregistered parcels to the value-payable system from the 1st April 1898. There was, however, no falling-off in the total traffic in value-payable parcels. Over 100,000 unregistered parcels were posted during the year under the value-payable system and the total number of value-payable parcels (registered and unregistered) was in excess of the number posted in the previous year by 42,248, showing an increase of 5·44 per cent. The average value of each article, taking all classes of articles together, was R12-0-2. The table in the margin shows the average value during the last six years. The average commission on each article was practically the same as in the preceding year.

Post Office Guarantee Fund.

42. The following statement shows the transactions of the Post Office Guarantee Fund during the year under report. The balance at the credit of the Fund, including the nominal value of Government securities purchased on its behalf, rose from R6,69,225 on the 31st March 1898 to R7,10,872 on the 31st March 1899. The subscriptions realised from postal servants amounted to R25,605, while the amount decreed against the Fund in connection with frauds committed by officials of the Department was R13,935, as compared with R14,195 in the previous year, and with an average amount of R16,675 for the last 10 years. A sum of R24,600 was added to the Fund on account of interest during the year under report :—

Complaints by the public.

43. The number of complaints made by the public during the year under review was 20,075 against 19,055 in 1897-98. There was thus an increase of 5·35 per cent. in the number of complaints made in 1898-99 as compared with the previous year's figures. The proportion of cases in which the complaints were found to be well founded was only 36·23 per cent. of the whole number and the entirely groundless complaints were 40·47 per cent. of the total. In the remaining cases the investigation of the complaints had either not been completed at the end of the year or, although the enquiry had been completed, no definite conclusion had been arrived at.

There is nothing that is new to be said on the subject of complaints. The relations of the Post Office with persons of all classes of life are so intimate that it is perfectly natural that many complaints should be made under the immediate sense of being aggrieved, without due enquiry. If indeed the necessity for verifying facts before taking action were more generally recognized even by the well-educated, the work of public officials would be different to what it is. As to the attitude of the Department towards complaints, I can only repeat what I said last year :—

"It should be added that the difficulty of making effectual enquiries regarding the loss or miscarriage of unregistered articles, and the danger of complaints being treated as mere matters of routine, have been fully recognized by the Post Office of India as it is recognized by all postal administrations. The clearest instructions on this subject are contained in the rules of the Department, and it may be fairly claimed that it is a constant endeavour on the part of those in authority to ensure that investigations shall be thorough, and that every reasonable complaint shall receive real attention. That there should be some failures is inevitable when the enormous mass of business of the Department is looked to, but it can only be repeated that complaints, when facts can be given, are really welcomed by the administration, and that year by year much care and patient trouble is expended on putting these complaints to their proper purpose."

Complaints regarding special classes of articles.

44. The usual statement is given below showing the number of complaints received during the year regarding registered letters, ordinary parcels, insured letters and value-payable articles. These figures are included in the number of complaints shown in paragraph 43 of this report.

	1898-99.				TOTAL.
	Registered letters.	Ordinary parcels.	Insured letters and insured parcels	Value-payable parcels and value payable registered articles.	1898-99.	1897-98.
I.—Cases in which enquiry showed either that no loss occurred or that the loss had not occurred through the fault of postal officials	244	203	35	94	576	503
II.—Cases in which the postal establishment was proved to be in fault, or in which there was strong ground for believing it to be so	157	147	33	77	414	284
III.—Cases in which no definite conclusion was arrived at or which were pending	64	68	10	35	177	208
TOTAL	465	418	78	206	1,167	995

It will be seen that out of a total of 1,167 complaints relating to these special classes of articles, 576 or 49·36 per cent. were groundless, and that the proportion of cases in which postal officials were proved to be in fault was 35·47. The percentage of cases in which it was not found possible to arrive at any definite conclusion, or which were pending at the close of the year was 15·17. Against the increase of 172 in the number of complaints it should be noted that the number of these special classes of articles dealt with during the year was in excess of the number that passed through the post in the preceding year by 166,886 registered letters, 74,246 parcels, 167,104 value-payable articles and 3,444 insured articles. Complaints which proved to be well-founded were made by the public in respect of only 157 out of 9,542,537 registered letters, 147 out of 3,040,236 parcels, 33 out of 330,089 insured articles and 77 out of 2,347,569 value-payable articles.

Offences by servants of the Post Office.

45. The number of cases in the several postal circles in which servants of the Post Office were found guilty of offences punishable by law is shown in Appendix VIII, and a summary of the figures is given on the margin.

Number of legal convictions	145	161
Number of cases departmentally punished	161	163
	306	324

The total includes 73 cases of misappropriation of office cash, 132 money order frauds, 10 savings bank frauds and 64 cases of theft from mails and post offices. Most of the remaining offences relate, as usual, to letters, parcels, and other mail matter properly so-called. Among the offenders convicted or departmentally punished were 72 departmental postmasters and 17 clerks, 80 extraneous agents in charge of post offices, 3 signallers, 4 treasurers, 99 postmen and village postmen, 1 telegraph messenger, 5 overseers, 8 runners and 6 others employed on various other duties in post offices. The amount of the defalcations and losses was R37,371-4-9, as compared with R34,285-15-11 in the previous year, and R37,020-3-7 in 1896-97. A sum of R22,319-11-1½ was recovered from the offenders or their sureties; R6,090-1-1 was decreed against the Guarantee Fund, and R8,961-8-6½ remained unadjusted at the close of the year.

Offences by persons not belonging to the Post Office.

46. There were 6 cases of fraud in respect of money orders to the value of R117, and 2 cases of fraudulent withdrawals, amounting to R240-12, from the Savings Bank, in which persons not belonging to the Post Office were concerned. Besides these, there were 32 cases of house-breaking and theft of Government money from post office safes and from the mails, apart from the cases of highway robbery which are separately dealt with. The total amount stolen was R7,395-11-7, of which R2,028-14-1 was recovered, R737-1-11 was written off as finally lost, and R4,629-11-7 was unadjusted at the close of the year.

Highway robberies and attacks upon the mail.

47. The usual abstract is given on the margin showing the number of cases in which mails were plundered by highway robbers during the year under review and in the previous year, whether in British territory or in Native States. There were 30 cases of the kind during 1898-99 as compared with 37 in 1897-98. Of these 30 cases, 26 occurred in British territory as compared with 27 in the previous year, and 4 in Native States as compared with 10 in the previous year, so that the falling-off in the total number of highway robberies was mainly due to their decrease in Native States. In Bombay, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Central Provinces, the number of cases of highway robbery decreased while in Sind and Baluchistan, where there were no cases of the kind last year, one occurred during the year under report. In Bengal, Madras, the Punjab and Bihar, the same number of cases occurred during the year under report as in the previous year, while there were no mail robberies at all in the Assam, Burma, Eastern Bengal and Rajputana circles.

Character of mail robberies.

48. In 11 out of the 30 cases of highway robbery the mail carriers were wounded by the robbers, and in 2 cases so severely as to necessitate their detention for some time in hospital. In a case that occurred in Waziristan, two runners who were conveying the mails were attacked by a party of Waziris. The runners were accompanied by two men of the Border Police, one of whom was killed and the other severely wounded. One of the runners too was severely wounded by a bullet and the other disappeared and has not been heard of since that time. The raiding party has not been traced, but as the mails were not plundered and ultimately reached their destination in safety, the motive of the attack is not apparent. In a case which occurred in the Morvi Native State, an organized attack was made on the tram car, in which the mails were being conveyed from Morvi to Vavanya, by a number of men who fired a volley at it, wounding severely the escort who was on the car. Five men concerned in the case were arrested, and all of them, on conviction, were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. Another case, involving a loss of life, occurred in the Central Provinces, in the Rajnandgaon Native State, where a runner carrying the mails was killed and his body thrown into a well. Five men were arrested on suspicion in connection with this crime, two of whom were sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for life. In a case that occurred in the Punjab, in the Kohat district, the attack was the work of local bad characters, and was apparently directed against the mail contractor. The object does not seem to have been to plunder the mails, as although some of the mail bags were cut open, none of the contents were carried away. In a case which occurred in the Nadia District, in Bengal, it is reported that the mail runner, who was an ignorant man and lived in constant fear of ghosts, on being assaulted from behind while travelling along a by-path in the late evening, immediately fell down senseless from terror and did not recover consciousness till after the mails had been carried away.

There were only 11 cases in which Government suffered any loss and the total loss amounted to R3,597-14-0; of this amount a sum of R511-0-0 was abstracted from the mails in actual cash, while a sum of R3,086-14-0 represents the compensation that had to be paid for insured articles. In 9 cases the entire mail was recovered, in 11 cases a portion was recovered and in the remaining 10 cases the entire mail was lost. Prosecutions were instituted in 9 cases, in 8 of which convictions were obtained. In addition to the cases of actual highway robbery mentioned above, there were 3 unsuccessful attempts to rob the mails, two of which took place in British territory and one in a Native State.

Casualties.

49. There were various other casualties during the year, many of them illustrating the perils that have to be encountered,—perils by flood, by storm, and by wild beasts—in maintaining the mail service in this country. In the North-Western Provinces two village postmen were drowned during the monsoon of 1898 while attempting to ford streams in flood. In Kashmir two mail carriers were swept away by avalanches and killed, one while carrying mails over the Zojila pass on the road to Leh, and the other while crossing the Lowari pass on the Chitral line. Two other mail carriers were injured by avalanches, but in none of these cases were the mails lost. In the Lower Provinces of Bengal, two mail carriers were killed by tigers, while in the execution of their duty, one in the Lohardaga District in October 1898, and the other in the Jalpaiguri District in March 1899, and a mail carrier on the Leh line was severely mauled by a bear.

There were, also, two happily unusual cases in which servants of the Department were murdered by their own subordinates. In April 1898 a mail overseer in the Akola District, Berar, had a quarrel with a man who was working temporarily as a runner, and struck him, whereupon the latter retaliated with his spear inflicting several wounds on the overseer, from the effect of which he died. The runner was sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment. A still more serious case occurred in the Rewah Native State, where a sub-postmaster was murdered by the signaller of his office. The signaller had been reported by the sub-postmaster for serious neglect of duty and misconduct, and orders had been issued to place him under suspension. Before the orders could be carried out, the signaller, who had been drinking deeply, made a brutal attack on the sub-postmaster with a dagger and stabbed him to death. For this offence the signaller was sentenced to death, but on appeal the sentence was commuted to one of transportation for life.

In four instances mails were lost while the carriers were attempting to cross flooded streams, and in two other cases by the foundering of boats, but in one of the latter cases most of the mails were subsequently recovered. The most serious disaster of the year, however, was the sinking, on the 22nd May 1898, of the British India Steam Navigation Company's mail steamer Mecca when conveying mails from Calcutta to Rangoon in consequence of a collision with the Lindula, a steamer belonging to the same Company. All the mails on board, including a number of insured parcels, were totally lost.

During the year seventeen post offices were destroyed by fire, and one post office was blown down by a storm, while, owing to a fire breaking out in a luggage van attached to a passenger train on the East Indian Railway containing mail bags, which were being conveyed under the weighment system, one of the bags was completely destroyed and the contents of the others were partially damaged.

Post office staff.

50. The establishment of the Imperial Post Office in the various grades is shown according to postal circles in Appendix IX, and an abstract of this Appendix is given in the margin. The total numerical strength of the Post Office staff was 53,489 on the 31st March 1899, as compared with 51,966 on the same date of the previous year. The increase under the several heads was due to the general development of Post Office work, the largest purely postal increase being under the head of postmen and other servants. The staff of the Post Office included 173 pensioned soldiers of the native army, of whom 38 were Non-Commissioned Officers and 135 Sepoys. These men were employed in various capacities, such as sub and branch postmasters, clerks, postmen or packers. Out of the total number of 173 pensioned soldiers, 98 were serving in the Punjab and 35 in the Madras circle. During the year 1898-99, 42 women were employed in the Post Office, of whom 37 were European or Eurasian. Of these 42 women, 8 were postmistresses of sub-offices, 4 of branch offices, while 29 were clerks and one a postwoman.

Cost of printing by private presses.

51. The charges incurred during the year on account of printing work done by private presses amounted to R4,270, as compared with R3,717 in 1897-98 and R3,676 in 1896-97.

Section X.—Non-postal Branches of the Post Office.

Postal Telegraph (Combined) Offices.

52. During the year 106 new combined post and telegraph offices were opened, and 11 previously existing combined offices were closed. There was thus a net increase of 95 in the total number of combined offices, as compared with a net increase of 63 during the previous year. Of the new combined offices, 92 were opened at places which had previously been without a Government telegraph office, and 68 at places where there had been neither a Government nor a Railway telegraph office.

The Punjab circle heads the list with twenty-one new combined offices opened during the year. Madras stands second with fourteen new offices, then Bengal with thirteen, and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh circle with twelve new offices. The total number of combined offices open on the 31st March last, in each postal circle, is shown in the statement given in the next paragraph. On that date 1,719 Government telegraph offices were open, of which 247 were under the control of the Telegraph Department, and 1,472 were combined post and telegraph offices controlled by the Postal Department.

Traffic Statistics of combined offices.

53. The usual statement is given below shewing the traffic statistics of combined offices, arranged according to postal circles. Although there was an increase in the number of combined offices during the year under review, the revenue fell off by a little over 10 per cent. There was a decrease of 23,402 or 1·12 per cent. in the number of messages sent, and 2,801 or 0·12 per cent. in the number of messages received, while the revenue showed a decrease of R2,11,444, as compared with 1897-98, and an increase of R18,486 as compared with 1896-97. There was also a slight decrease in the number of transit messages. The total revenue from messages despatched by combined offices, which amounted to R18,72,556, exceeded the expenditure on the establishment of these offices by R13,72,863:—

* Excluding 126,291 free messages.

In 1897-98 there was an abnormal increase in revenue owing to the military operations on the North-Western Frontier, and to famine, plague, and the earthquake which occurred in June 1897 in Assam and Eastern Bengal. The decrease during the year under report is partly due to the cessation of these abnormal causes, and partly to a considerable increase in the number of deferred messages owing to the introduction of the system of sending out this class of telegrams by messengers instead of delivering them through the post as in former years.

During the year under review 295 servants of the Post Office qualified as signallers, and 113 were under training at the close of the year. There were 520 boys employed as telegraph messengers in combined offices on the 31st March 1899, as compared with 456 on the 31st March 1898.

Telegraph Receiving offices.

54. In addition to the work done during the year by the 1,472 combined offices, telegrams were received from the public at 1,765 post offices for despatch by post to the nearest telegraph offices, as compared with 1,859 such offices during the year 1897-98. The number of telegrams booked at these receiving offices was 34,403 and the revenue realized was 31,758 as compared with 38,016 messages booked and R35,371 revenue realized during the previous year. The falling-off in the transactions is probably again due to the reduction in the number of receiving offices consequent on an increase in the number of combined offices.

The number of messages booked by post in the Persian Gulf on account of the Indo-European Telegraph Department was 236, as compared with 289 in the year 1897-98, and fees to the amount of R4,456-8-0 were realized, as compared with R3,081-1-0 in the previous year.

Post office Passenger and Bullock Train Service between Kalka and Simla.

55. The gross expenditure on the combined Passenger and Bullock Train Service was R3,37,457 as compared with R3,76,326 during the previous year, showing a decrease of R38,869 during the year under report. The receipts amounted to R3,25,712 as compared with R3,55,401 during 1897-98, and there was, therefore, an excess of charges over receipts of only R11,745, although the goods traffic on the line was considerably affected by the fact that the cantonment at Dagshai was not occupied during the year under report, and by the retention at Simla during the winter of 1898 of the offices of the Military and Public Works Departments of the Government of India. If these offices had gone to Calcutta as usual, the goods service would have received payment for carrying a large quantity of records and stores on behalf of these Departments to and from Kalka.

Receipt of salt revenue at post offices.

56. The system of employing the Post Office as an agency for receiving salt revenue continued in force during the year at a few selected post offices in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Rajputana; but, as in the previous five years, the transactions were very small. During the year under report, the Post Office was made use of to forward to the salt depôts a total of 350 indents for 52,658 maunds of salt of the gross value of R1,42,618, on which R714 was realised as postal commission.

Sale of quinine at post offices.

Net decrease 198 lbs. 5,913 grains.

* Revised figures.

It will be seen that there was a decrease in the supplies obtained during the year to the extent of nearly 199 lbs. This decrease was due chiefly to a large falling-off in the demand for the drug in the Madras circle, owing partly to the general panic caused by plague measures, and partly to the price of 5-grain packets having been raised last year from 2 to 3 pies each, under the orders of the Local Government. There was also a marked falling-off in the sale of the drug in the Lower Provinces, the decrease being greatest in Bihar. There was also a small decrease in Rajputana and Sind and Baluchistan. In the Punjab, the Local Government asked that the system of selling quinine at post offices, which had been discontinued, as stated in last year's report, should be given a further trial under more favourable conditions. It was not, however, found possible to re-introduce the scheme until towards the close of the present year, and figures regarding the sales are not, therefore, available. In all the other circles there was an improvement, especially in Bombay, where the sale was nearly 126 lbs. more than in the previous year.

Postal Life Insurance, Endowment Assurance, and Monthly Allowances.

58. A separate report has been submitted, as usual, on the administration of the Postal Insurance Fund. During the year, 1,470 new policies were granted of the aggregate value of R26,95,575. Of these 1,146 were Endowment Assurance policies of the aggregate value of R21,06,575.

It was stated in my last report that the system of Endowment policies was likely to prove the most popular form of insurance. This is sufficiently established in the year under report, by the fact that out of the total number of policies taken out this year, nearly 78 per cent. were Endowment Assurance policies. As regards the scheme for monthly allowances, the increase noted in my last report was sustained in the year under review. Fourteen new contracts were issued as compared with eleven in the preceding year, and there were 32 contracts in existence at the close of the year, as compared with 19 at the close of 1897-98. Since the Postal Insurance Fund was started on the 1st February 1884, 4,436 lives have been insured, and at the close of the year under report, there were 3,834 active policies in existence, 1,973 of which were held by Post Office servants, and 1,861 by servants of other Departments. Thirty-three claims, amounting in all to R33,550, were paid during the year on the deaths of insured persons, and the aggregate sum insured at the end of the year was R60,39,550. It should be added that six life annuities were purchased under Article 867 of the Civil Service Regulations, during the year under report.

Payment of Military pensioners through the Post Office.

59. The total number of pensioners of the Native Army whose pensions were paid through the agency of the Post Office in the Punjab, during the year under report, was 26,075 and the amount paid to them was R18,71,515-12-10. The following table shows the yearly transactions in this branch of business from its introduction :—

Section XI.—Financial Results.

Receipts and expenditure according to Departmental accounts.

60. The receipts and charges of the year, as shown in the Post Office accounts, are given in detail in Appendix X, under two main heads, Postal Service proper and Non-Postal branches, a summary of which is given in the statement below :—

	RECEIPTS.		CHARGES.

TOTAL .	1,86,85,208	1,90,46,887	1,42,60,137	1,42,79,3[illegible]

Under Postal Service proper, the net receipts, after deducting the amounts due to the British, Colonial and other Post Offices, were R3,91,248 in excess of those of the previous year, while the charges increased by only R67,035. The improvement in the revenue was due chiefly to a decrease of R2,05,267 in the payments made to British and other Post Offices. Under the head "Non-Postal Branches," there was a decrease of R29,569 due to the falling-off in the receipts on the Simla-Kalka line. The receipts on the whole, however, exceeded the charges by R47,67,497 as compared with R44,25,071 last year.

Financial position of the Post Office.

61. In Appendix XI will be found a comparative abstract of the receipts and charges of the Post Office for the year, including, under a distinct head (III), certain receipts and charges which appear in the Finance and Revenue Accounts but not in the Post Office accounts. The entries under this head are shown on the margin, and if these totals be added to the totals given in the preceding paragraph, the entire receipts of the year amount to R1,91,39,577, and the entire charges to R1,72,49,052. There was thus a surplus of R18,90,525 on the year's transactions, as shown in the Finance and Revenue Accounts. The charge on account of District Post Establishments has, however, to be excluded, as it is entirely met by grants from District Post funds, which, with the exception of R92,690 shown in the marginal table, are not credited to the Post Office in the Finance and Revenue Accounts. The actual accounts of the year therefore show a surplus of R31,00,057. In order, however, to bring out the complete financial results of the year in the usual way, the net balance of the items marginally shown, must be deducted from the surplus just noted, and the net financial result is a surplus of R21,22,174 as compared with R18,75,709 in 1897-98 and with R12,51,973 in 1896-97. In this estimate of the financial position of the Post Office, no allowance has been claimed, as stated before, on account of the services rendered by the Department to Government in the management of the Post Office Savings Bank and in carrying official correspondence at exceptionally low postage rates. It will be seen from the figures noted above, that, in spite of the continuance of plague and the consequent suspension of business in certain parts of India, and notwithstanding the reduction made during the year in the rates of postage for letters and registered newspapers, the Post Office continues to make steady progress in its financial position.

62. It has been requested that information should be furnished each year as to the financial results of the working of the Imperial posts in Kashmir, and a few words are accordingly added here on the subject.

Financial results of working the Imperial posts in Kashmir.

The revenue derived by the Post Office in Kashmir rose from R91,774 in 1897-98 to R97,840 in 1898-99, showing an increase of R6,066, while the expenditure fell from R1,62,082 in the former year to R1,56,448 in the latter, showing a decrease of R5,634. The deficit was thus reduced from R70,308 in 1897-98 to R58,608 in 1898-99, showing a net improvement of R11,700.

Section XII.—Notice of Post Office Officials.

Mention of Officers of the Post Office.

63. I have much pleasure in bringing to the special notice of Government the services of Mr. Curtis, I.C.S., who has been doing excellent work as Postmaster General, Madras, and had to contend with unusual difficulties during the year owing to the serious outbreak of the plague at Bangalore, Mysore, and other places. I also have much pleasure in again placing before Government the name of Mr. Owens, Presidency Postmaster of Calcutta, who acted for short periods as Postmaster General of Madras and Bengal during the year. The achievement of Mr. Owens in carrying out completely and successfully the scheme of continuous delivery in Calcutta merits high praise; and he has given me valuable assistance in concerting measures for its introduction into Bombay and Madras. In connection with its introduction into Bombay, I wish to mention the name of Mr. E. R. Jardine, who, as Officiating Presidency Postmaster of that city, was responsible for carrying out the measure, and addressed himself to the task with much energy and ability in the face of serious obstacles caused by the prevalence of plague. I beg also to bring to the special notice of Government the good services rendered by Khan Bahadur C. J. Lalkaka, Deputy Postmaster General, in his administration of the posts in the Central Provinces and Berar. In particular, he has done much of late years, with my sanction, in the way of opening up postal communications with the Feudatory States in the Chhatisgarh division of the Central Provinces, and improving our relations with those states, with the result that the Commissioner of the division has lately recorded his opinion that, owing to the sympathetic and liberal spirit displayed by him, the attitude of these Feudatory Chiefs towards the Post Office has now become one of cordial appreciation and gratitude. The services of the following officers, also, who have been mentioned by the heads of circles, deserve special recognition: Rai Bahadur Daulat Ram, C.I.E., for the tact and good sense with which he dealt with special difficulties caused by the plague in his division, and also for his successful management of the Simla-Kalka line, the entire cost of the mail service over which was less than R12,000 for the year, the best result that has ever yet been obtained; Mr. C. J. Hogg, Superintendent of Post Offices, for successfully carrying out the re-organization of the Punjab railway mail service under exceptional difficulties; Mr. A. B. Thompson, Superintendent of Post Offices, for the efficient manner in which he made complete and satisfactory arrangements for two large camps of exercise in the Punjab: Mr. Rhenius, Postmaster of Bangalore, for restoring that office to a state of thorough efficiency after the establishment had become disorganized by the plague; Babu Radhica Mohun Lahiri, Superintendent of Post Offices, for specially good work in re-organizing the Dacca division, and Mr. J. P. Barker, Personal Assistant to the Postmaster General of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for his excellent services in making several difficult enquiries.

During the year, the Department sustained two serious losses by the resignation of Mr. Symonds, I.C.S., in order to take up an appointment under the Bombay Government, and by the retirement of Mr. Sheridan. Mr. Symonds had been Postmaster General of Bombay for nearly ten years, where his work was characterized by much soundness, and fairness of mind and I constantly received from him valuable advice in dealing with the larger questions affecting the Post Office, especially in matters relating to the Foreign Post. Mr. Sheridan retired from Government employ on the 1st January 1899 after a service of 38 years, during which he had risen through the ranks of the Department to be Postmaster General. To his intimate knowledge of detail, quickness of grasp and initiative, the Post Office owes some of its most successful schemes, and successive Directors General have left on record their appreciation of his ability and devotion to work. To him, moreover, was due the main credit for the successful postal arrangements for the Field forces employed on the North-West Frontier of late years. And I cannot close this report without referring to the still more serious loss which the Department has lately sustained by the death at home in September last of Mr. H. Farrer, Deputy Director General of the Post Office. Mr. Farrer had been ten years Postmaster General of Madras before taking up this appointment, and by the vigour and thoroughness of his general administration, as well as by the complete success with which he carried out the important measure of amalgamating the Mysore Anche Post with the Imperial system, rendered signal services to the Post Office of India. By his death, Government have lost one of the most capable and zealous officers who ever belonged to this Department, while I have personally been deprived of a trusted and valued colleague.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

A. U. FANSHAWE,

Director General of the Post Office of India.

Column 2.—These figures represent the net proceeds of the sale of ordinary postage stamps after deducting discount to vendors.

Column 3.—The great differences observable in this column are due mainly to changes of system in the treatment of official correspondence, which was charged at full letter rates up to 1865-66, at the same rates as ordinary correspondence (letters, packets, etc.) from that year to 1872-73, and afterwards at a low privileged letter rate of one anna for 10 tolahs (about 4 oz.).

Column 8.—The figures in this column show the revenue undisturbed by the changes of system in respect of official correspondence mentioned in the note regarding column 3.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, January 13th, 1900.

A few showers, probably due to thunderstorms, have been received during the week in Assam, Upper Burma, the south of the Peninsula and in the West Coast districts. The largest amounts reported were Coimbatore 5·57 inches on Wednesday, Cochin 1·37 inches on Tuesday, Goa 1·07 inches on Friday, and Salem ·90 inch and Wellington ·48 inch on Wednesday. Pressure gave way briskly to rapidly over the whole Indian region on Sunday, the fall being largest in North-East India. On Monday the fall extended westwards and was brisk to very rapid in North-West India, Baluchistan and Persia, while pressure had risen briskly to rapidly in Upper Burma and North-East India. A large general fall of this nature advancing from the east is a remarkable occurrence for the time of the year, but it was probably due to the action of some general cause operating over a large extent of country, and had no effect upon the weather which continued fine during its progress in both India and Persia. On Tuesday the barometer rose briskly to very rapidly except in the Central Provinces, Berar, South India and Tenasserim, and a shallow low pressure area was shown over the Central Provinces which, however, filled up on Wednesday. On Thursday a slight to brisk fall of pressure occurred in Baluchistan and North-West India followed by a brisk to rapid fall in Baluchistan, the West Punjab, Sind, Rajputana and Gujrat. On Friday the fall continued in Sind, Rajputana and the west of the Central Provinces, and on Saturday a very shallow ill-defined depression had entered Gujarat and had given a few drops of rain at Akola, Hoshangabad and Saugor. All the amounts received, however, were less than one-tenth of an inch.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, January 7th—Pressure had given way briskly to rapidly over the whole Indian region, the fall exceeding a tenth of an inch, except in the South-West Punjab, Sind, Rajputana, Kathiawar, the West Coast, South India, Lower Burma and Tenasserim. Showers had been received in Assam and Ceylon. Mean temperature was slightly below the normal in Assam, Sind and the West coast and normal in the Punjab. It was in large excess in Berar, the Central Provinces, Orissa and Chota Nagpur.

Monday, January 8th.—Pressure had risen briskly to rapidly in Upper Burma and North-East India, had fallen briskly to very rapidly in North-West India and Baluchistan, and slightly to briskly in the Peninsula. Temperature had fallen generally in Northern India, the Central Provinces and Berar; the fall being very rapid in Rajputana and the North-Western Provinces. Mean temperature was in slight to moderate defect in the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, Assam, North Bengal and the West Coast. It was from 3° to 6° above the normal in Central Burma, Orissa, the North Madras Coast, the Central Provinces, Berar, Mysore, the Madras Deccan and South India. Very light showers had fallen at Bhamo, Sibsagar and Colombo.

Tuesday, January 9th.—Pressure had risen briskly to very rapidly, except in the Central Provinces, Berar, South India and Tenasserim, where it had been steady or had risen by only small amounts. Temperature had been steady or had fallen slightly to rapidly in Northern India, and with the exception of the West Coast, had risen slightly to rapidly in the Peninsula. Mean temperature was normal or in defect over the whole of Northern India, except Chota Nagpur; and was in considerable to large excess over the whole of the Peninsula, except the Konkan. Cochin and Trincomalee had received showers.

Wednesday, January 10th.—Pressure had been steady in Bengal, Assam, and Upper and Central Burma and had risen slightly to rapidly elsewhere. Mean temperature was in defect over the greater part of Northern India and in slight defect in the Konkan, but was in excess over the remainder of the Peninsula. The excess averaged 8½° in the Madras Deccan and 4° to 5° in Orissa, the Madras Coast, the Central Provinces and Berar. Showers, probably due to thunderstorms, had occurred in the south of the Peninsula. Coimbatore had received a heavy fall of 5½ inches, Salem one inch and Wellington half an inch.

Thursday, January 11th.—Pressure had risen slightly to briskly in Upper Burma and North-East India and had fallen slightly to briskly in Baluchistan and North-West India. Mean temperature was in excess in Lower Bengal, but in all other parts of Northern India it was either normal or in defect. It was in general excess in the Peninsula. Thunderstorms had given a few very light showers to the south of the Peninsula.

Friday, January 12th.—The barometer had fallen briskly to rapidly in Baluchistan, the West Punjab, Sind, Rajputana and Gujarat, and slightly in the North-Western and Central Provinces. Temperature had risen rapidly in Baluchistan, Upper Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, Central India, Berar and the Bombay Deccan and had fallen very rapidly in Orissa. Mean temperature was in considerable excess in Baluchistan, but continued in defect in Northern India, except in Gujarat where it was above the normal. It was in excess in the Peninsula, the largest excess occurring in Berar and the Deccan. A few showers probably due to thunderstorms had fallen on the West Coast.

Saturday, January 13th.—Pressure had given way briskly to rapidly in Sind, Rajputana and the west of the Central Provinces. A very shallow ill-defined depression was lying over Gujarat and had given a few drops of rain to Akola, Hoshangabad and Saugor. Temperature had risen very rapidly in Rajputana, Central India and the Central Provinces, and mean temperature was in large excess in Berar and the adjacent districts. It was in excess over the remainder of the Peninsula, Rajputana, Gujarat and Central India, and normal in the Punjab. It was below the normal in Sind, the North-Western Provinces, Chota Nagpur, Bihar, Bengal and Assam.

Temperature.—Large and important changes in temperature have occurred during the week. On Sunday, the 7th January, mean temperature was in sight defect in Sind, the West Coast and Assam, and normal in the Punjab, and was in excess in all the remaining provinces, the excess being most strongly marked in Berar (+6°·7), the Central Provinces (+5°·5), Orissa (+5°·3) and Chota Nagpur (+5°·2). On Monday temperature had fallen in Northern India, and was below the normal in Assam Bihar, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, Sind, Rajputana and Gujarat, and was normal in Central India. Temperature continued changing by large amounts, the general tendency of these changes being to decrease temperature in Northern India and to increase it in the Peninsula. On Friday temperature had commenced rising again in North-West India, due to the increase of cloud accompanying the advance of the depression which entered Gujarat on Saturday, and in Gujarat temperature was 2°·2 above the normal and normal in the Punjab, but it was in defect in all other parts of Northern India and in slight to large excess in the Peninsula.

Temperature rose very rapidly during the next 24 hours in Rajputana and Central India, and was in moderate to considerable excess in those provinces on Saturday. The following gives the largest changes in 24 hours which occurred during the week. The changes are calculated on an average of the stations in each province.

Monday.—North-Western Provinces—5°; Rajputana—6°.

Friday.—Orissa—4½°.

Saturday.—Rajputana +5½°; Central India + 6°; Central Provinces + 4°.

The mean temperature for the whole week was in slight to moderate defect in Assam, Bihar, the North-Western Provinces and Sind; normal in Bengal, the Punjab, Rajputana, Gujarat, Central India and the West Coast. The excess in the remaining provinces was largest in Berar (5°·9), Mysore and the Madras Deccan (4°·9), and Orissa (4°·2).

The following table gives mean temperature variation data of the week :—

Rain.—The rainfall returns received show that showers have fallen in the Brahmaputra Valley, South Oudh, the North-Western Provinces and Punjab Hills, the Konkan, the Bombay Deccan, Berar, the Central Division of the Central Provinces, and over the south of the Peninsula in Malabar, Mysore, Coorg, the south of the East Coast and in South and South Central Madras. The average fall of the division has exceeded a tenth of an inch in Malabar (·34 inch), South Central Madras (·81 inch) and South Madras (·37 inch). The rainfall received has been in excess of the small normal amount in these three divisions, and in Mysore, the Konkan, the Bombay Deccan and Berar.

The last three columns of the table at the end show that the rainfall of the period, 31st December to 13th January, has been normal, or in excess of the normal in Upper Burma, the Surma and Brahmaputra Valleys in Assam, Malabar, South Central and South Madras and Mysore.

The largest falls received at individual stations during the week are :—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 20th January.—Light scattered showers fell in the Carnatic, central, and southern districts, but were insufficient to do much good. No rain fell elsewhere. Irrigation supplies continue to diminish, and cultivation is confined to areas under some larger works, and wells. Standing crops are deteriorating generally. The main harvest is almost over in the Circars. The yield is fair under large irrigation works, but poor on uplands. Elsewhere harvesting continues, yielding indifferently. Pasturage is scarce, but fodder suffices generally and cattle are in normal condition. Prices are almost stationary now, but since the end of December prices in the Circars and Deccan have risen slightly and elsewhere considerably; and now, except in the former tracts, they are materially dearer than in January 1897. No measures of relief are yet found necessary.

Bombay.—For week ending 22nd January.—Slight rain has fallen during the week in Ahmednagar and in three districts of Sind. The harvesting of early crops is completed in almost all districts. The standing spring crops are in good condition in the Konkan and parts of Sind, and in irrigated lands in Gujarat and three districts of the Deccan. Autumn crops have withered in parts of Nasik, Satara, Bijapur, and Dharwar, and been damaged by frost in parts of three districts of Sind. Fodder is scanty in Baroda and in parts of the Deccan and Karnatak. Cattle are suffering severely owing to insufficiency of fodder in Rajkot and four districts of Gujarat, and in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, and Satara. Prices have fallen in five districts, have risen in two districts, and are stationary elsewhere. The daily average numbers on relief are as follows:—British districts:—On test works, 32,375; on relief works 573,574; dependants, 162,093. Total on works, 768,043. In poor-houses, 8,646; on village relief, 28,802. Total on gratuitous relief, 37,454. Grand total on relief, 805,497. Native States:—On relief works, 270,024; dependants 35,321. Total on works, 305,345. Poor-houses, 18,334; village relief, 6,837. Total on gratuitous relief, 25,171. Grand total on relief, 330,516.

Bengal.—For the week ending 22nd January.—General rain fell during the week throughout Bihar and Chota-Nagpur, and showers are also reported from parts of Bengal Proper and from Balasore and Angul. The rain has been beneficial to the spring and poppy crops, and prospects in Ranchi, Hazaribagh, and Palamau have improved. In Singhbhum, however, the fall was insufficient. Slight damage to the poppy by hail is reported from Patna and Shahabad. The pressing of sugarcane is going on. The price of common rice is practically stationary, there being slight variations in a few districts only.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 24th January.—The unsettled weather which began last week has continued and good rain has fallen. The rainfall in Dehra Dun was over 2¾ inches, and in Lucknow over 2¼. Between 1½ and one inch fell in Garhwal, Moradabad, Pilibhit, Allahabad, Jaunpur, and Mirzapur. In the western sub-montane districts and Upper Doab the fall has exceeded half an inch. In the Agra Division, which got little rain in the previous week, the rain has during the last few days, according to special telegrams received, been general, nearly half an inch having fallen in most districts, and falls of about the same amount have been general in the Benares, Gorakhpur, Kumaun, Lucknow and Fyzabad Divisions.

In Bundelkhand, Jhansi received 47 cents. The standing crops have been considerably benefited by the rain, and land is being ploughed for sugarcane and extra crops. Slight damage by hail is reported from Bahraich and Jhansi; by rain from Banda; by frost from Shajahanpur, Sitapur, Partabgarh, Cawnpore, Fatehpur, Hamirpore, and Banda; and by caterpillars from Budaun, Kheri and Lucknow. Supplies and fodder are generally sufficient. Prices have slightly fallen in most districts. There were 4,081 persons on three relief works in the Jhansi districts, while the poor-house contained 66 inmates. There were no workers on one test work in Agra which was open. There were 15 persons in the Agra poor-house. Including 60 strangers from Native States, there were 155 inmates in the Muttra poor-house.

Punjab.—For week ending 24th January.—Rain has fallen all over the province averaging from one-fifth of an inch to $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Slight rain is reported from Multan. A fall of snow is reported to have occurred in parts of Dera Ismail Khan, and of hail in this district as well as in Gurgaon, Kurnal and Lahore. The pressing of sugarcane continues in Jullundur, Amritsar and Sialkot. Owing to recent rainfall, further sowings are being made in Amritsar, Sialkot, Jhelum and Peshawar. As the rain was insufficient, no sowings have been made in Hissar. The condition of standing irrigated crops is reported to be good in Hissar, Rohtak (except those irrigated by brackish well water), Gurgaon and Peshawar; average to below average in Jullundur and Rawalpindi; and bad in parts of Multan. Recent rain has benefited the standing crops and improved their condition in Delhi, Karnal, Amballa, Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Gujrat, Shahpur, and Dera Ismail Khan, and will allow the cultivators to sow sugarcane, melons, etc. More rain is still needed throughout the province. Gram and rape crops are still being damaged by caterpillars, but the insects injuring the crops in parts of Dera Ismail Khan have been destroyed by the recent rainfall. The condition of cattle is said to be good in Peshawar and fair in Karnal. Cattle are starving in Delhi, Jhelum and parts of Sialkot, Gujrat and Dera Ismail Khan, and are weak on account of overwork and want of sufficient fodder elsewhere. Fodder is said to be scarce in all districts except in parts of Gurgaon, Multan and Peshawar. If well distributed rainfall continues, there is every expectation of there being a sufficient supply of green fodder. The scarcity of fodder up to the present is keenly felt by the people, as the agricultural stock is mostly fed on leaves of trees, reeds, etc. Prices of almost all food staples are rising in Hissar and Multan; falling in Karnal, Jullundur, Amritsar, Jhelum, Rawalpindi, Peshawar and Bannu; they are unchanged in Delhi, Ferozepore and Gujrat. In other districts prices of certain food grains are fluctuating or stationary. Wheat is selling from $9\frac{5}{8}$ to $12\frac{1}{4}$, gram 11 to $13\frac{3}{4}$, barley $11\frac{1}{2}$ to $12\frac{3}{4}$, great millet $10\frac{3}{4}$ to 14, bulrush millet $9\frac{3}{4}$ to 13, maize 11 to 15 seers per rupee. The average numbers on relief were as follows:—Relief workers:—Hissar, 56,685; Rohtak, 20,115; Gurgaon, 898; Delhi, 2,425. Dependants:—Hissar, 19,261; Gurgaon, 992; Delhi, 517; Karnal, 296. Test workers:—Karnal, 7,938; Amballa, 141; Ferozepore, 4,596; Lahore, 494; Amritsar, 677; Gujrat, 592; Jhelum, 1,167; Gurgaon, 9,098. In addition to the above, 1,515 persons were employed in Native States as detailed below:—Relief workers:—Pataudi, 289; Loharoo, 521; Dujana, 280. Gratuitous relief:—Pataudi, 213; Loharoo, 109; Dujana, 86.

Burma.—For week ending 20th January.—In Lower Burma reaping has been completed in ten districts, and almost completed in two. Threshing and winnowing continue. General prospects are unchanged. In Upper Burma the reaping of wet weather paddy is completed in eight districts. Ploughing and sowing for dry weather paddy, and cultivation of Island crops are progressing. Reaping of jowar continues in Thayetmyo, Lower Chindwin and Sagaing, and has commenced in Myingyan. Prospects are good. The price of paddy has risen in Pegu, Mergui and Thayetmyo, and has fallen in Prome, Thongwa, Bassein, Myaungmya, Amherst, Tavoy and Pakokku.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 23rd January.—Weather generally cloudy and cool. It is misty in Jubbulpore and Narsinghpur. Rain fell in twelve districts, approximating to 1¼ inch in Mandla, to about an inch in Bilaspur, and from ½ an inch to a few cents in the remaining districts. It has benefited late spring crops in Mandla, Balaghat, Seoni and Bilaspur, but has done no appreciable good in Chanda; while in Hoshangabad it has damaged linseed and teora (Lathyrus sativus). Damage to crops by hail is reported from parts of Saugor, Jubbulpore, Narsinghpur, Balaghat and Bilaspur; through cloudy weather from Bhandara and Balaghat; and through frost from Saugor and Damoh. Land is being prepared for kharif sowing. Prices are steady in Saugor, Jubbulpore, Mandla, Narsinghpur, Chhindwara, Balaghat and Sambalpur; and they have slightly fallen in Nimar, Betul, Chanda and Bilaspur; there are local fluctuations elsewhere. No. 106 C. W. T., dated Calcutta, the 20th January 1900.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR 1898-99.

CAPITAL AND REVENUE ACCOUNT.

1. Capital.—The Capital account of the Department was increased by R18,155, so that the capital expenditure to end of the year amounted to R1,15,53,969. The increase represents partly addition to the stores balance, and partly outlay on construction of quarters for the signalling staff at Teheran and on additions to Karachi office buildings.

The following statement shows how the above increase is made up:—

—	Increase.	Decrease.	TOTAL.

Stores	11,335	...	11,335
Other heads	...	4,724	—4,724
TOTAL	22,879	4,724	18,155

A summary of the year's transactions on Capital account is given in Appendix A.

2. Revenue.—Appendix B is a summary of the earnings and expenditure.* The earnings amounted to R14,65,825, or a decrease of R74,328, as compared with 1897-98, when the sum realised was R15,40,153. The expenditure during the year was R7,68,522, against R7,81,981 in the previous year, or a decrease of R13,459, due chiefly to a smaller expenditure on stores for line maintenance in the Persian Gulf. The net result is a profit of R6,97,303 on the year's working, against that of R7,58,172 in 1897-98, or a decrease of R60,869, as compared with that year.

* Excluding the cost of the London Office Establishment (1,632*l*.), which is included as part of the Establishment of the Secretary of State.

3. The following statement shows the chief differences between the earnings and expenditure of the current and previous years. For details, see Appendix B :—

4. There was thus a decrease of R74,328 in the earnings of 1898-99, as compared with the preceding year. The rupee figures under Traffic earnings show a falling off, due chiefly to an improvement in the value of the rupee, which resulted in a smaller amount of rupee collection as the franc equivalent. The earnings of 1898-99 as worked out in francs amounted to 2,905,793, against 2,990,675 francs in the preceding year, and the amount drawn out of the Joint Purse was 1,364*l*. less than last year, owing to a falling off in Indian traffic.

5. The increase and the decrease under the main heads are as follows :—

(1) General Charges.—Gulf and Persian Sections.—The increase under this head in the Gulf Section and the decrease in the Persian Section are chiefly in the pay of superior officers, due to the transfer of Directors and to changes in the superior staff consequent on the death of Lieut.-Colonel H. L. Wells. Taking the two sections together, the net decrease represents a smaller outlay on

* NOTE.—The head "Traffic Earnings" includes the amount collected in India, as also the loss on account of exchange on sterling transactions. The tariffs on International messages are fixed in a gold standard, and the balances due to or from foreign administrations are settled in that standard. The rupee collections in India vary, therefore, in correspondence with the fluctuations in exchange, and the balance received from the Indian Telegraph Department at Karachi in rupees is sufficient to pay the telegraph companies and foreign administrations in the gold standard and retain the share of this Department in a gold standard also.

exchange compensation allowance and on stationery and printing. The expenditure in England on general superintendence has also been less, owing to the absence of any tour charges of the Director-in-Chief as in the preceding year. The decrease under "exchange" is due partly to this cause, and partly to an improvement in the value of the rupee.

(2) Line Maintenance.—Gulf Section.—The decrease represents a smaller outlay (chiefly stores) on repairs to land lines.

(3) Line Maintenance.—Persian Section.—The increase chiefly represents special travelling expenses, and the outlay on repairs and renewals of lines, and carriage of stores has also been somewhat more than in the preceding year.

(4) Signalling.—Gulf Section.—The increase was slight and was caused by annual increment of pay to the signalling staff.

(5) Signalling.—Persian Section.—The decrease represents partly savings in the cost of the signalling staff, due to casualties, and partly short expenditure on exchange compensation allowance.

(6) Cable Maintenance.—The increase is due chiefly to improvement in the pay of the Commander and the Officers of the cable steamer, sanctioned by the Secretary of State in April 1898. There has also been an increased stores expenditure on repairs to cables, but this is partly counterbalanced by short expenditure on coal and repairs to the cable steamer.

NET REVENUE.

6. On a total Capital expenditure of R1,15,53,969 a net profit of R6,97,303 was earned, which gives a dividend of 6·03 per cent. The dividends earned during the past six years are as follows:—

Year.	Interest on Capital.
1893-94	4·28
1894-95	6·50
1895-96	7·42
1896-97	6·17
1897-98	6·57
1898-99	6·03

The higher dividend in 1895-96 was due to the low rate of exchange, that is, a higher rate in rupees collected for the franc equivalent.

CIS-INDIAN JOINT PURSE.

7. Appendix C deals with the transactions in connection with this Agreement, which was entered into in 1878. The number of words carried between Europe and India or Trans-India and vice versâ during the year by the three Administrations (viz., the Eastern Telegraph Company, the Indo-European Telegraph Company, and this Department) rose from 6,469,171 to 6,586,085½, showing an increase of 116,914½, while the net value also shows an increase of 2,204*l.* 1*s.* 1*d.* The Department's share of the whole Purse shows a decrease of 1,364*l.* 4*s.* 0*d.*, owing to the fact that the total Indian traffic, on which this Department receives 18·06 per cent., was 13,747*l.* less than last year, although the total Trans-Indian traffic, on which we only receive 7·44 per cent., increased by 15,951*l.*

11. Interruptions affecting Joint Purse Traffic.—There was no interruption stopping traffic between Teheran and Karachi on the Persian Section during the year. Beyond Teheran to London the Indo-European Company's lines were totally interrupted for 3 days, 5 hours, 13 minutes, but none of these interruptions affected the divisions of Joint Purse receipts.*

12. On the Turkish route interruptions occurred between Fao and Constantinople lasting 54 days, 4 hours, 16 minutes. The working of this route continues to be very unsatisfactory. The Fao-Bushire cable was also interrupted for repairs for 34 hours, 33 minutes.

During the last six years the Turkish route beyond Fao has been interrupted as follows:—

Year.	1893-94.	1894-95.	1895-96.	1896-97.	1897-98.	1898-99.

The Department was only liable to the Joint Purse for 27 days' interruptions on the Turkish route at Fcs. 50 per diem.

AUSTRALASIAN MESSAGE FUND.

13. Full particulars regarding the nature of this Fund are given in the Administration Report for 1893-94 (page 6, paras. 14 to 17), and for 1896-97 (page 7, para. 14).

The Departmental receipts for this year show an increase of 2,484*l.* over the receipts in 1889, on which the original Australasian Message Fund was based. See Appendix C. (1).

* The altered proportions only take effect after the lapse of one clear day, calculating from midnight of the day of the interruption of the line.

TRAFFIC.

14. The service regulations of the Buda-Pesth International Conference of 1896 have been in force throughout the year.

15. Appendix E. shows the traffic carried by the two sections of the Department. The number of words was 1,995,740¼, against 2,122,710 in the previous year, showing a decrease of 126,969¾; the value as stated in francs shows a decrease from 2,990,675 to 2,905,793 francs.

16. The comparative values of the franc and rupee varied once only during the year, rising in the case of the rupee from 1 franc = ·62 in March 1898 to 1 franc = ·60 to 1 April 1898, and continued so until the end of March 1899.

17. The following table gives the amounts paid into the Joint Purse by the Department as compared with its independent traffic revenue :—*

18. Appendix F. gives the number of messages and words carried under the four following classes during the past five years :—

State. Press.
Commercial and Private. "Times" (special rate).

19. The average length of "private and commercial" messages was 12·76 words in 1898-99, as compared with 13·01 words in the previous year. The average length, calculated from the averages of the past seven years, is 13·14, words.

20. In addition to the messages classified in Appendix F. 866 messages, containing 79,658 words, were forwarded to the British Resident at Bushire free of charge. These are called "Government and Press" telegrams, and would, if charged for, yield R17,425 at press rates.

21. The percentages of traffic carried on the Teheran and Turkish routes were 94·74 and 5·26, respectively. The following table gives the respective percentages for the past seven years :—

Years.	Viâ Teheran.	Viâ Turkey.	REMARKS.

1898-99	94·74	5·26

The Turkish route continues to be next to useless, being very slow and inaccurate.

23. The reason of the high rate between Karachi and Teheran during the past three years is owing in great measure to the introduction of a modified system of calculating the daily average delay on the two sections. See para. 23 of last year's Report.

24. Check of Errors.—The accuracy of transmission over the lines of the Department for the past two years is shown below. It will be seen that in this respect the year under review compares somewhat unfavourably with the preceding one, but the accuracy is still very satisfactory, and the slight falling off his due to Bushire transmitting on the main circuit.

The following table gives all details :—

CABLES.

29. The lengths of the various cable sections on the 31st March 1897 and 1898 were as follows :—

showing an increase in length of ·494 since last year, due to an underground line being laid at Bushire.

30. This Department also keeps the Karachi Harbour defence cables in order and a telephone line for the Port Trust connecting the Port Trust Office at Karachi with the Port Office at Manora, and to the Clock Tower at Kimari.

31. Summary of the History of the Cables and their Electrical and Mechanical Condition during the year 1898-99.

I.—Fao-Bushire Gutta-percha Cable of 1864.—Three partial earth faults occurred in this cable during the year, two of which were cut out in October 1898 at 28 and 70 knots from Fao, and the third, which has since developed, remains without detriment to the working. The first was caused by a puncture in the di-electric, and the second by a toredo insect.

This cable, which was practically relaid in 1886, contains 54·6 knots of old wire sheathing retaped, the rest of it being composed of new sheathing wires. Since 1886 69·513 knots have been renewed, principally in the cable lying between 25 and 65 knots from Fao, which locality embraces the toredo ground, and where brass-taped core is now used. The electrical condition of this cable during the year was 34 megohms per knot, and, apart from the slight single fault which now exists, its electrical condition may be considered satisfactory.

II.—Bushire-Jask Gutta-percha Cable of 1885.—No fault has occurred in this cable during the year, and its mechanical condition may be accepted as good. Of the original cable (knots 520·680), laid in 1885, 482·315 knots have not been disturbed. Its average insulation stands at 179 megohms per knot, as compared with 227·5 for the previous year, which although somewhat lower than last year, may be accepted as satisfactory.

III.—Bushire-Jask India-rubber Cable of 1869.—Apart from the failure of a small experimental piece of brass-tape cable inserted between high and low water marks at Bushire, this cable has not been disturbed during the year. It consists of 230·927 knots of new wire sheathing and 271·059 knots of old wire sheathing retaped.

Since 1885 the whole length of this cable has been renewed, and its present mechanical condition seems fairly good. Its average insulation for the past year was 40 megohms per knot, as compared with 60 megohms for the previous year. Of the original india-rubber core laid in 1869, there are still

116·947 knots remaining, the balance, 385·039 knots, being composed of gutta-percha core.

IV.—Jask-Manora Gutta-percha Cable of 1864.—One fault occurred in this cable during the last year, 236 knots from Manora, where the sheathing had completely disappeared through corrosion, and the exposed core was damaged by fish-bites. A new shore end, off Manora, was laid in March 1899 as a precaution against the possible failure of the old shore end, which had been submerged for seven years, but was found on recovery, to be in a very good state of preservation.

The mechanical condition of this section in satisfactory. It is composed of 385·139 knots of new sheathing and 142·828 knots of old sheathing wires retaped. There are 18 knots of india-rubber core conductor in use. The average insulation for the past year was 59 megohms per knot, as compared with 65 megohms for the previous year. Its electrical condition may still be considered satisfactory.

Harbour Cables.—Two faults occurred in these during the year. In one case the end, near a junction box, had perished, and in the other, a joint which had existed for 10 years, failed. The Fowler-Waring cables are giving satisfaction.

Cable Houses.

32. These were inspected during the year and are in a satisfactory state.

34. With regard to the 2·223 knots of cable issued to the Eastern Telegraph Company, I may explain that one of that Company's Aden-Bombay cables having failed near Bombay at a time when they had no repairing steamer in the vicinity, the Managing Director on the 21st April asked for the loan of the "Patrick Stewart" to make the repairs. This request was at once acceded to, and by the 29th April the cable was again in working order. Of course the Company paid all expenses incurred, including the hire of the vessel for the time she was employed.

The buildings at Manora are in good order; the tanks remain in a serviceable condition and the cable machinery is in good working order.

Cable Steamer "Patrick Stewart."

35. During the past official year the Cable Steamer made four trips on repairing duty, viz. :—

(1) Left Karachi for Bombay on 24th April 1898 and repaired the Eastern Telegraph Company's cable near Bombay on 28th and 29th idem. Then went into dock for repairs and returned to Karachi on 10th May.

(2) Proceeded to the Persian Gulf on 4th October 1898, and having repaired the Fao Cable returned to Karachi on the 30th idem.

(3) Between 9th and 14th January 1899 repaired the cable end off Jask.

(4) On the 11th and 12th March 1899 laid a new shore-end cable off Manora.

In addition to the above, the "Patrick Stewart" made three other trips, viz. :—

(1) To Bombay on 27th October 1898, for docking and repairs, and returned to Karachi on 13th November 1898.

(2) To the Persian Gulf on 25th November 1898, with the Director on annual inspection of stations, returning to Karachi on 21st December 1898.

(3) To Charbar on 17th March 1899, where the Director met a Persian Official for the purpose of settling claims, and in arranging for the future payment of subsidies or presents to various chiefs.

During these seven trips the "Patrick Stewart" steamed 8,106·5 knots, and the Cable Establishment was absent from headquarters for 73 days.

The actual earnings of the ship during the year under review amounted to R672.9.3 only. The total earnings shown in accounts, viz., R2111.4.7, includes R1438.11.4 earned in the previous year.

"Working and Testing."

36. A satisfactory improvement in the system of working between Karachi and Teheran was effected during the year :—

(1) By the introduction of Brown and Allan's cable relays in connection with condensers on the Mekran Coast Land Line, and

(2) By the employment of double instead of single working currents.

PERSIAN GULF SECTION—concluded.

The Brown and Allan relays have enabled direct working between Karachi and Jask on one wire to become an accomplished fact throughout the year, except for 8 or 10 hours at night during the monsoon months, when, owing to the excessive dampness, the total insulation of the line falls below 1,200 ohms absolute, and it becomes necessary to put two intermediate stations in translation.

The employment of double working currents has also helped to give stability and consistency to the signals, which are now protected from the disturbing effects of cross leakage from the second wire.

MEKRAN COAST LAND LINE.

37. The lengths of the various sections of this line on the 31st March 1899 were as follows:—

———	Miles of Line.	Miles of Wire.
Karachi to Sonmiani Branch	48·31	96·62
Sonmiani Branch	2·50	2·50
" " to Ormara	159·03	318·06
Ormara to Pasni Branch	89·96	179·92
Pasni Branch	3·20	3·20
" " to Gwadur	75·88	151·76
Gwadur to Charbar	117·18	234·36
Charbar to Jask	198·85	397·70
TOTAL	694·91	1,384·12

The difference in the various lengths of those given in last year's Report is due to the line between Karachi and Gwadur having been re-measured during the last working season, the total length being reduced by 6·48 miles.

Maintenance and Repairs to Land Lines.

38. Karachi-Gwadur Subdivision.—The inspection of this subdivision was carried out by the Assistant Superintendent, who, in consequence of the rising of the Baluchis during the preceding year, was provided with an escort consisting of a native officer and 20 men of the 2nd Baluch Regiment.

The works carried out consisted of diversion of line, 1; renewal of wires, 5; renewal of supports, 1; tarring posts, 1; washing insulators, clamping and renewing top poles, 1.

In this subdivision 46½ miles of wire were renewed on account of corrosion, and 41 upper and 6 lower tubes were also renewed; 410 wooden posts and 1,700 top poles were tarred, and some 10,000 fluid insulators were cleaned.

Gwadur-Jask Subdivision.—The Assistant Superintendent of this subdivision was also provided with an escort consisting of a native officer and 20 men of the detachment of the 21st Native Infantry stationed at Jask. He inspected the whole subdivision, and carried out such work as was necessary, renewing 44½ miles of wire, and 910 strengthening bands on the posts. All insulators were carefully washed.

Interruptions on Land Lines.

39. During the past year only two total interruptions occurred, lasting altogether 21¾ hours. Both were caused by corrosion of the wires. The partial interruptions, i.e., those not affecting communication, were more numerous than usual, mainly through the corrosion of the wires, and amounted to 39 days, 9 hours.

40. The causes of the faults are summarised as follows :—

	Number.	Duration. Hours.
Definitely traced to preventable causes :—
Faulty construction	...	...
Faulty maintenance	25	601

Unpreventable causes :—
Cyclones and storms	5	62
Floods	2	141
Animals and birds	2	53
Malice	1	71
Unknown causes	2	17

Of the 25 faults due to faulty maintenance, 20 were due to corrosion of the line wire. Strict orders have been issued to more extensively renew the corroded wire for the future.

Inspections.

41. All the offices of the Persian Gulf Section, with the exception of Fao, where the Director was not allowed to land owing to the Turkish quarantine regulations against plague, were inspected and were generally found in a satisfactory state.

General Remarks.—Persian Gulf Section.

42. In last year's Report the murder of Mr. Graves in December 1897 was referred to. One of the murderers was killed during a fight with the Persians; the second was captured and hanged at Jask; a third gave himself up and is now in prison. A child, the son of a fourth murderer, was taken by the Persians as a hostage for the surrender of his father, but this man and one other murderer are still at large, and there appears no immediate prospect of their capture.

43. In the Geh and Dashtyari districts it was decided that the services of the headmen residing along the route of the telegraph line should be enlisted to secure its better protection. With this view, new arrangements have been made, and came into force on 1st January 1899, whereby 13 headmen of the district between Sadaich and Charbar have agreed, for a small yearly present, to protect the telegraph line and employés in their respective districts.

44. The Baluchis in Mekran were quiet throughout the year, and in the Lus Beyla district the telegraph line and the property of our employés have been as safe as if in British territory.

46. Line Maintenance.—Exceptionally high floods near Shiraz brought to light the fact that portions of the alignment were standing on ground below flood level or subject to inundation by floods. This necessitated a diversion of about 9 miles. In addition to this a diversion of about 2 miles was made at the site of the total interruption caused by the snowstorm of March 1898. Several long spans were eliminated and a safer alignment adopted.

47. Offices—The same storm which caused floods in the neighbourhood of Shiraz, caused considerable damage to the buildings at Dasht-Argin, Shiraz, and Sivand, and it was considered necessary to re-roof the first-named with corrugated iron sheeting in place of the mud roof, which leaked badly. All other damages have been repaired, and ordinary repairs were carried out to all the other buildings.

48. Interruptions.—No total interruption occurred in this section throughout the year. The faults from all causes, including contacts between the wires during the past three years have been—

The reason for the decrease is doubtless due, to a great extent, to the frequent representations which have been made to His Highness the Sadar Azam and the other Persian Authorities. The amount claimed for damages from the Persian Government was *Krans 7,490; of these, Krans 2,117·50 have been collected locally, and the balance, Krans 5,372·50, was deducted from the Jask royalty. Of the sum collected locally, all but Krans 20 was recovered from the Governor-General of Fars.

Of the 376 acts of wilful damage committed during the year ending 31st January 1899,† no less than 359, of which 3 caused faults, were cases in which one or more insulators were broken by stones or gun shots.

General Remarks.

52. The principal events which occurred in Persia affecting this Department are as follows:—

On three occasions linemen were attacked, one having his leg broken by some soldiers. These men were subsequently arrested, beaten, and made to pay compensation.

On one occasion the postman carrying the mail between Shiraz and Bushire was shot dead and the mails looted.

Two of the Persian staff received compensation for outrages committed in 1896 and 1897.

Buildings.

53. The work, mentioned as remaining to be finished, to the buildings for the clerks' quarters in last year's Report, has been completed, and, in addition, eight small cellars were built, one for each of the eight sets of quarters occupied by unmarried clerks. A well for drinking water, 210 feet deep, was sunk (a water-bearing stratum was struck at 204 feet) but owing to scanty snow and rainfall during the past winter, the water level has since fallen, and it has become necessary to continue the well-sinking during the current year, so as to obtain a minimum depth of 3 feet of water under the most unfavourable circumstances.

Medical.

54. The year 1898-99 will long be memorable in Teheran on account of the serious cases of illness from which the staff and the members of their families suffered.

During the summer five cases of typhoid fever occurred among the Europeans, resulting in three deaths, and one infant died from acute meningitis. In addition to these cases an unusual amount of malarial fever and diarrhœa occurred. During the winter the health of the staff was good, but amongst the members of their families three cases of diphtheria and three cases of scarlet fever occurred; happily all recovered.

It has been an anxious time for our Medical Superintendent, Dr. Odling, C.M.G.

Meteorology.

55. Telegrams reporting the state of the weather in Persia were, as usual, sent to India from 15th November 1898 to 15th March 1899.

* Krans 354=100 rupees.

† For the Convenience of the Persian Government these claims are sent in annually, the year commencing in February.

TEHERAN-MESHED LINE.

56. Mr. S. Butcher, Acting Assistant Superintendent, was in charges this line throughout the year. Four hundred and ninety-seven new juniper pole were erected, and 516 old poles were re-erected after the rotten bases had been cut off; 1,109 field service insulators were fixed.

No money was received from the Persian Government during the year towards the maintenance of the line. There is still a balance of 5,091 krans from the old grant, which will be expended on poles. Frequent representations have been made to Her Britannic Majesty's Minister and His Excellency the Mukhber-ed-Dowleh, pointing out the necessity for a further grant being made by His Imperial Majesty the Shah, but so far these have been fruitless.

Offices.

57. These were inspected by the Assistant Superintendent and are satisfactory.

Interruptions.

58. The interruptions to communication from all causes during the past three years are given in the statement below :—

Wilful Damage.

59. One hundred and forty-five cases of wilful damage occurred, in which 131 insulators, 20 posts, and 94 yards of wire were carried away.

The figures were for the years —

Personal.

62. On the 31st August 1898 the sad death of Lieutenant-Colonel H. Lake Wells, R.E., C.I.E., a Director in this Department, occurred at Karachi, just one month after he assumed charge of the Persian Gulf Section on transfer from the Persian Section, to which he had been attached for 18 years. Lieutenant-Colonel Wells' loss to the Department was great, his energy and watchfulness in preventing any unnecessary expenditure of Government money were unceasing, while his control of the traffic largely helped in maintaining the Indo-European Telegraph route as the most accurate and most rapid communication between Europe and India and the Far East.

To Mr. Sealy and Mr. Barker, the Directors, my continued special acknowledgments are due, and also to Mr. Twisaday, the senior clerk in my office, whose thorough knowledge of all traffic matters and of the rules of the International Telegraph Convention is at all times most valuable.

Note reviewing the Administration Report of the Indo-European Telegraph Department for the year 1898-99.

The following statement shows the financial results of working the Department during the past five years:—

Year.	Total Capita Outlay.	Gross Receipts.*	Expenditure.	Net Receipts.	Percentge of
					Net Receipts to Capital.	Expenditure to Gross Receipts.
	R	R	R	R	R	R

* This represents the revenue of the Department after adjustments made in accordance with the provisions of the Joint Purse arrangement.

The Capital account was increased by R18,155.

The total earnings of the Department show a falling off of R74,328 as compared with the previous year. This is due to (I) a decrease of 2,350*l.* in the Indian traffic; (II) improvement in the value of the rupee, which resulted in fewer rupees being collected as the franc equivalent, and (III) a decrease of 809*l.* in the value of Australian traffic. On the other hand, the value of the Far East traffic (excluding Australia) shows an increase of 2,678*l.*

The expenditure shows a decrease of R13,459, which is mainly due to fewer repairs being necessary on the Persian Gulf Land Lines.

The net result is a profit of R6,97,303, or 6·03 per cent. on the capital, against 6·57 realised last year.

The proportion of Indian traffic carried by the Indo-European route is about 18 per cent. higher than that on which the Joint Purse was based, but on the other hand, the proportion of Trans-Indian traffic carried by the Indo-European route is about 8 per cent. less than it should be.

Australasian traffic again shows a large falling off, the total value only being 332,441*l.*, against 361,590*l.* last year.

The general working of the Department has been very satisfactory, and there was not any interruption of the land lines or cables which caused an interruption of traffic.

The mechanical and electrical condition of the cables is, considering their age, satisfactory.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

No. 167-G., dated Fort William, the 29th January, 1900.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Foreign Department.

READ—

Resolution of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 1633-G., dated the 9th October, 1896.

OBSERVATIONS.—It has been pointed out that the above Resolution, which provides that officers of the Political Department will be eligible, under the rules obtaining in the adjoining Presidency or Province, for rewards for passing examinations in the vernacular languages spoken in the Agency or Province in which they are serving, places those officers at a disadvantage as compared with officers serving under the Punjab Government. Under Rule VII of the revised rules for examination in the Pashtu and Baluchi languages, which were approved by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in his Public despatch No. 120, dated the 4th August, 1898, junior officers of the Punjab Commission who pass the examination in Pashtu or Baluchi by the Higher Standard and senior officers who pass the same examination "when actually posted to the frontier or likely to be sent there" are eligible for rewards of R500 and R1,000 respectively, without reference to the language spoken in the district where they are serving at the time of passing the examination: whereas officers of the Political Department of the Government of India are, by the terms of the above-quoted Resolution, debarred from obtaining these rewards, unless at the time of passing the examination they are actually serving in a frontier district, where Pashtu or Baluchi is spoken.

RESOLUTION.—With a view to encourage the study of frontier languages by officers of the Political Department of the Government of India, it is desirable that they should be placed on the same footing as regards rewards for passing examinations in those languages with officers of the Punjab Commission. The Government of India have, therefore, decided that the following rules shall henceforth be held applicable to officers of the Political Department of the Government of India :—

(i) Any officer below the substantive grade of Political Agent, 2nd class, who shall pass the examination in Pashtu or Baluchi by the Higher Standard, when serving in an Agency in which a Pashtu or Baluchi language allowance is not admissible, shall receive a reward of R500. Rewards for both languages may thus be earned by the same officer, and an officer in receipt of a language allowance for having qualified in one language may obtain the reward of R500 for qualifying in the other.

(ii) Officers of or above the substantive grade of Political Agent, 2nd class, who are actually posted to the frontier or likely to be sent there may, with the permission of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, appear for examination in Pashtu or Baluchi by the Higher Standard, and shall receive a reward of R1,000 on passing each such examination.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded * to Local Governments and Administrations and Political officers under the Foreign Department; and to the Military Department for information.

* The Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St. George.
The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay.
The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.
The Chief Secretary to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.
The Chief Secretary to the Government of the Punjab.
The Chief Secretary to the Government of Burma.
The Chief Commissioner of Assam.
The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.
The Resident at Hyderabad.
The Resident in Mysore.
The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.
The Agent to the Governor-General in Rajputana.
The Agent to the Governor-General in Baluchistan.
The Agent to the Governor-General in Khorassan.
The Resident at Baroda.

The Resident in Kashmir.
The General Superintendent of Operations for the Suppression of Thagi and Dakaiti.
The Political Agent for Dir, Swat and Chitral.
The Political Officer in charge of the ex-Amir.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Home Department, for information and any further action considered necessary, and also to the Finance Department, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

NOTIFICATION.

Abu, the 25th January, 1900.

No. 83-C—984.—The following rules for regulating the procedure in the acquisition of land under Act I of 1894, and the award and payment of compensation for lands acquired thereunder, together with rules regarding land required for Railway purposes and for disposal of land relinquished after permanent appropriation, are issued for information and guidance :—

APPROPRIATION OF LAND.

1.—Rules for procedure in the acquisition of land under Act I of 1894.

[1] PART I.—PERMANENT APPROPRIATION.

1. After publication (under section 4 of the Act) of a notification that land is likely to be needed for any public purpose in any locality, the Collector of the district shall take measures for informing the residents in that locality that such land may be required for a public purpose. To this end the Collector shall cause a notice (in Form I) to that effect, to be affixed at convenient places in the locality—in a town at the police station, and in a villege at the Hatai—and shall also cause the same notice to be published by proclamation in the locality. The notice should also warn all persons not to obstruct the operations of any officer who may be authorized by Government to survey or take levels of the land, and to mark off the ground which may be required for public purposes, under the penalties prescribed by section 46 of the Act.

2. The Collector, on the requisition of the departmental officer entrusted with the conduct of a preliminary investigation under section 4 of the Act, will depute a tahsil officer, usually the naib tahsildar or kanungo, to attend that officer for the purpose of showing boundaries of estates or villages, at the same time furnishing such officials with the field maps of all villages concerned. When the departmental officer has determined, as nearly as he can, the direction in which the road, canal or railway will run, or the site on which the building or public work will be erected or constructed, he shall send to the Collector of the district a map showing the land required and the names of the villages.

3. The departmental officer shall then, in consultation with the Collector of the district, prepare and submit for sanction an estimate, as accurate as the dâta at the time before him will admit, of the total amount which will probably have to be paid to the owners and occupiers of land in those villages on account of land, trees or houses taken up, and of the revenue to be remitted.

4. When it has been finally determined what land is to be taken up permanently, the Chief Commissioner will, under section 6 of the Act, issue a declaration, specifying the purpose for which the land is required, the name of the district, pargana and village, and (approximately) the area required.

5. As soon as possible after the publication of the notification under section 6, the Executive Engineer or other departmental officer shall, after marking off and making a detailed cadastral survey of the land required, send to the Collector of the district a subordinate officer to point out the same. Should the departmental officer, in lieu of a fresh survey, accept the existing village map, it shall be furnished to him by the Collector, and he shall indicate thereon the limits of the land required by him and return it to the Collector.

6. The Collector of the district shall immediately depute the Revenue Extra Assistant Collector or other Revenue officer to the duty of calculating the compensation payable for the land taken up. He shall furnish him with an establishment consisting of a surveyor and two chainmen; the cost of such establishment to be charged in the manner laid down in rule 14.

7. The Revenue officer thus deputed shall enter on this work within seven days from the date of receiving the order. He shall direct the patwari of each village to be present, and shall, where a fresh survey has been made under rule 5 of these rules, obtain the map of the land prepared by the departmental officer, and shall cause to be prepared for each village a khasra (Form III), showing the interests of owners and occupiers, the area and quality of the land, the crops on it, and the number and quality of trees, houses, wells and other such property. When the existing revenue map is not accepted, he shall compare the departmental officer's map and the above mentioned khasra with the settlement map and khasra of the village, if procurable, and shall himself go over the land; and in case of doubt test the measurement, and in all cases the record-of-rights, qualities, etc., in the khasra; and shall refer to the departmental officer and the Coilector any considerable and unexplained differences between the survey (in cases where a departmental survey is made) and the settlement map. The Collector shall thereupon, if necessary, arrage a date on which the Revenue Extra Assistant Collector or other Revenue officer and an official deputed by the departmental officer shall re-visit the land in quistion, to test the measurement in concert and correct any errors that may be found. The Collector shall at the same time make inquiries into the market value of land, according to the instructions laid down in the Compensation Rules (Appendix), and shall make an estimate in Forms IV and V of the compensation required to be paid and revenue to be abated or reduced.

8. The Collector* shall, on the receipt of these papers, issue a notice (Form VI) under section 9, and, if necessary, a notice (Form VII) under section 10, stating the particulars of the land to be taken up, and calling on all persons possessed of an interest in it to appear personally or by agent before the Collector at a specified place and on a specified date—at least 15 days subsequent to the date of the publication of the notice—to state the nature of their respective interests in the land and the amount and particulars of their claims to compensation, and their objections (if any) to the measurements made under section 8. The contents of the notice shall be communicated to the patwari and lambardar of each village, and a copy affixed at the village Hatai or in a conspicuous place in the village site.

9. The Collector will also serve, in the mode prescribed by section 45 of the Act, a like notice (Form VIII) on the occupier (if any) of the land, and on all persons known or believed to be interested in the land, or to be entitled to act for persons so interested that reside within the district If such person reside elsewhere, notice shall be sent to him by post registered.

10. If the estimate framed by the Collector under rule 7 exceeds by more than 20 per cent. the estimate prepared by the departmental officer under rule 3, the Collector shall inform him of this excess. If within seven days the departmental officer reports to the Collector that in consequence of the difference in price he abandons, or has recommended that Government should abandon, the land which it was proposed to take up, the Collector shall postpone further action until definite instructions from Government shall be received, and till he learns that the department does not intend, in consequence of this excess, to abandon the land it is proposed to take up.

11. Except in the case described in rule 10, the Collector, on the date specified, shall proceed to enquire into the objections (if any) which any person interested has stated, whether to the measurements of the land, the amount of compensation, the person to whom it is payable, or the apportionment of compensation among the persons interested, and shall make an award regarding each of the matters at issue as provided in section 11 of Act I of 1894. He shall then give immediate notice of his award to such of the persons interested as are not present personally or by authorized agent when the award is made. If the parties interested accept the award, the Collector shall direct them to file a razinama (Form IX) and shall pay the amount to them. If they refuse to accept the award and apply to the Collector in writing within the period prescribed in section 18 (1), clauses (a) and (b), for reference to the Court, the Collector shall deposit the amount of the compensation in the Court to which a reference under section 18 would be submitted.

12. The Collector shall then take possession of the land, and shall hand it over to the departmental officer in behalf of whom it was taken up.

13. Section 54 gives either party (Collector or claimant for compensation) the power of appeal from the decision of a Judge. Should the Collector consider it right to appeal, he will, under the existing rules for the conduct of suits in which Government is a party, apply to the Commissioner for instructions. If the other party appeals, the Collector will forward to the Commissioner a copy (with translation) of the memorandum of appeal and of his proposed reply, with a report on the circumstances of the case. The Commissioner shall submit such application or report for the orders of the Chief Commissioner.

14. Charges incurred in connection with the acquisition of land for public purposes shall be debited according to the following rules :—

(a) Where the operations are extensive enough to keep a civil officer and his establishment in full occupation, and such officer is placed at the disposal of the Public Works Department as Public Works Department disburser [vide Civil Account Code (fifth edition), Chapter 7, article 104], the pay of such officer and any special establishment entertained by him under the orders of Government is charged to the department or company concerned.

(b) Where a temporory subordinate establishment is specially engaged to work under officers of the Revenue Department not placed at the disposal of the Public Works Department, the cost of such establishment is debitable—

(i) to the Revenue Department if the purpose for which the land is acquired is a Government purpose ;

(ii) to the company concerned if the contract with the company provides that the cost of land acquisition shall be paid by such company.

The debit of incidental charges, such as those marginally* noted, which may be treated as contingencies of establishment, will follow the same rule as the allocation of establishment charges proper.

* 1. Stamp duty.
2. Law costs, including pleaders' fees and Court costs.
3. Process fees
4. Batta of process-servers.
5. Registration fees.

15. When the whole compensation money has been paid for any village, the Collector shall forward to the departmental officer a statement (Form X) showing the area of the land and the amount paid in that village. A copy of the same statement shall be submitted to the Chief Commissioner through the Commissioner.

The Collector shall maintain in Form XII in English a register of all permanent appropriations of land for public purposes other than railways (for which special registers are prescribed). Entries shall be made in this register on receipt by Collector of the Chief Commissioner's order sanctioning the adjustment of the claim reported by the Collector in Form X. The entries in the register should be made chronologically and not necessarily by departments.

* N.B.—From this point the Collector must be understood to mean the Collector of the district, or any officer specially empowered as defined in section 3 of the Act.

PART II.—TEMPORARY APPROPRIATION.

16. When it has been dicided what land is to be taken up temporarily—i.e., for a term not exceeding three years—a notification under section 6 is not necessary, but the procedure in rules 1, 7, 8 and 9 will be followed. The Collector, having calculated the compensation due, will make his offer to the parties interested and will, in other respects, proceed as is laid down in sections 35 and 36 of the Act, and will report to the departmental officer and to the Chief Commissioner through the Commissioner in Form XI.

17. The Collector shall maintain an English register in Form XIII of all temporary appropriations of land for public purposes other than railways, and it shall be his duty to see that land which is thus taken up is either—

(a) restored to the owners on the expiry of the term of occupation, which will not exceed three years; or

(b) if the owners refuse to receive the land back, disposed of under the orders of the Chief Commissioner; or

(c) if the department taking up the land is unwilling to restore it, continued in the occupation of such department at the pleasure of the owners, either for a further term or permanently.

When any land is restored to the owners, report shall be made to the Chief Commissioner through the Commissioner.

18. If the land is continued in the occupation of the department for a further term or permanently, in the former case the compensation shall be calculated for a term; in latter it shall be calculated as in the case of permanent acquisition, the amount already received by the owners being deducted.

APPENDIX.

Rules for guidance in awarding compensation for lands required under Act I of 1894.

1. Houses.—The rental of houses shall be calculated, when possible, on the actuals of the three years preceding compensation: and the market value shall ordinarily be eight times the average of such rental. Where no guide to the rental exists, the calculation shall be based upon an estimate of the cost of material and re-building, thd former being deducted, if made over to proprietor. For the land occupied by the building compensation shall be given under rule 13.

2. Wells and tanks not used for agricultural purposes.—The cost of re-construction shall ordinarily be tendered as compensation under section 11 of the Act, provided—

(1) that if the well or tank has fallen into disuse, compensation shall be allowed on the present value of the material only;

(2) that if the well or tank is in bad repair, deduction shall be made on this account.

3. Wells or tanks used for agricultural purposes.—The cost of constructing a similar new well or tank shall, with the same provisos as in rule 2, be tenderd as compensation; but—

(1) if the construction of a new well or tank diminishes the culturable area of any part of a cultivator's holding, compensation shall (if no compensation has been awarded under these rules for the lands occupied by the old well or tank) be tendered for such lands under the rules for awarding compensation to landlords and tenants for land;

(2) if the irrigated area of the holding is likely to be lessened in any way, compensation shall be tendered to the landlord by reducing his revenue by the difference between an irrigated and unirrigated revenue-rate on the land, and to the cultivator under rule 14.

4. Trees.—The market value of timber, and eight times the annual value of fruit in the case of fruit trees, shall be tendered in compensation: provided that the owners may be given the option of cutting down trees without compensation for timber.

5. If any tenant possesses by local custom any right in the timber or produce of any tree, the award shall be apportioned according to the custom regulating the distribution of profits or the price of the timber.

6. Crops.—In the case of ripe crops the owners shall be required to cut and remove them, and no compensation will be necessary. If it is necessary to cut an unripe crop, its value will be calculated at the estimated value of similar ripe crops in similar neighbouring land.

7. Landholders' interests.—A, Cultivated land.—(1) The recorded rental of the jamabandi shall be ascertained for that portion of the appropriated area which is occupied by tenants; and if the landowner object that the recorded rent is less than the rent actually paid, such objection shall not be heard.

(2) The annual value of that portion of the area appropriated which is cultivated by the proprietor, shall be calculated at the recorded rents for similar neighbouring lands with similar advantages paid by tenants-at-will.

(3) In the case of lands for which rents are paid in kind, if no money rates for similar neighbouring lands with similar advantages exist, the annual value shall be estimated at the mean market value of the landlord's share of the average recorded outturn during past three years.

8. B, Culturable land.—(1) The rental of "cultivable land recently thrown out of cultivation" (meaning by that term land lying out of cultivation for a term less than three years) shall be estimated at not less than one-third, and not more than two-thirds of the rent of dry cultivated land of similar capacity, according as such land is ordinarily left waste for a longer or shorter term.

(2) The profits of cultivable land yielding assets (as from dhák jungle, grass, etc.,) or the piscary from tanks, shall be estimated at the average receipts of three years.

9. The revenue borne by the appropriated area, if not ascertainable from the record-of-rights, shall be calculated on the basis of the assessment rates on the different classes of soil contained in the area; that on gauhán land, for instance, being calculated at gauhán rates, that on bhur land at bhur rates. If no separate rates were assessed on classes of soils, the rate of the whole revenue on the total cultivated area of the mahál or patti may be taken, allowance in all cases being made according as the land taken up is above or below the average, and care being taken to exclude from the calculation any part of the revenue which is due to waste land.

The difference between the revenue, plus local and patwaris' rates and cesses, and the rental thus calculated, is the landlord's net profits.

10. The profits of land exempt from Government revenue, if in such land the proprietary and grantee right be distinct, and if settlement have been made between the proprietor and grantee, shall be calculated in the mode prescribed under rule 7 for the calculation of land paying revenue to Government. If the proprietor and grantee are the same, and in all cases in permanently settled districts, the declared rental of the lands recorded in such mahâls, checked by the recorded rents of similar land held by the same class of tenants in adjacent villages, after deduction of cesses, and in mahâls paying revenue, in the permanently settled districts, after deduction of cesses and revenue, shall form the basis of calculation.

11. The number of years' purchase of the profits to be allowed in the case of land assessed to land-revenue, or of which the land-revenue has been assigned or redeemed must be determined by the Collector on a consideration of the market value and local custom as to sale of such land; but in the case of lands paying revenue to Government not more than 16 years' purchase, and in the cases of lands of which the land-revenue has been assigned or redeemed not more than 25 years' purchase, shall be paid without a reference to the Commissioner, under rule 16. The provisions of this rule together with those of rule 9, clause 2, are applicable to land subject to málikána appropriated for railway purposes.

12. In the case of cultivable land lying waste beyond the term of three years, or yielding no assets, or having no appreciable value owing to proximity to a town or village or otherwise, and not taken into calculation under the above rules, a price may be offered, not exceeding two rupees per acre. In the case of fruit and other grove lands compensation should be offered, not exceeding Rs. 2 per acre plus the market value of the timber, and in the case of fruit trees eight times the annual value of the fruit, under rule 4 above.

13. In the case of barren land yielding no assets, or having no appreciable value from proximity to a town or village or otherwise, a nominal price shall be offered, not exceeding one rupee per acre. In the case of such land, or of land under rule 12, situate within, or in the vicinity of a town or village, compensation shall be based, if ascertainable, on the market value of similar land. Should no selling price be ascertainable, compensation shall be estimated at eight times the annual value of any fees customarily paid to the proprietors by occupants of houses for the use and occupation of the land on which such houses are erected. In the absence of sales or fees from such land, a nominal price shall be paid, not exceeding one rupee per 100 square yards.

14. Interests of tenants.—The compensation tendered to tenants with rights of occupancy shall not be less than three years' purchase, nor without a reference to the Commissioner more than six of the rental determined under rule 7 (1) as the basis of compensation. In proportion as the rent approaches to a rack-rent, the number of years' purchase tenderedi n compensation shall be diminished. In the case of ex-proprietary tenants, 20 per cent. shall be added to the rental on which the compensation to tenants with rights of occupancy holding similar land is calculated.

A larger number of years' purchase should be awarded in cases where the tenant's position is much injured by the absence of other available land in the vicinity than in cases where other land is easily obtainable. To tenants-at-will, besides the compensation prescribed under rule 6, one year's rent shall be awarded.

15. The officer determining the amonnt of compensation awarded shall record clearly in every case for which no fixed rate of compensation is awarded the grounds on which his award is based.

16. Cases for which rules here laid down do not provide or in which the compensation provided appears, for any special reasons, inadequate or excessive, shall be forwarded for orders to the Commissioner of the Division, who, if he agrees with the Collector in recommending a departure from the rules, shall refer the case for instructions to the Chief Commissioner.

17. Nothing in these rules shall be construed to override any of the provisions of section 23 of Act I of 1894.

18. Care should be taken in every instance of permanent appropriation to add 15 per cent. to the ascertained market value of the land under section 23 (2). Arrangements should also be made for the payment of interest from the date of occupation to the date of payment of compensation, or to the date fixed for payment of compensation, whether the occupation is permanent or temporary.

2.—Instructions for preparation of Forms X and XI.

[2] 1. The entries in columns 2, 3 and 5 should be compared with the notifications published in the Gazette and all variations explained.

2. In column 13 only three descriptions of land, viz., cultivated, culturable and barren, will ordinarily be shown. Any further detail will be entered in column 27.

3 The particulars of rental, remission and reduction of revenue and cash compensation awarded for each class of land shown in column 13 must be separately specified in columns 14—26 of the statement.

4. In column 15 the revenue assessed on the class of land per acre, and not the revenue assessed on the plot appropriated, must be shown.

5. In columns 16 and 17 the remission and reduction of revenue must ordinarily be in full rupees.

6 The difference, whether excess or deficiency, between the sum remitted under this rule and the full revenue borne by the appropriated land, shall be capitalized at 5 per cent.: and if the difference is an excess, the amount so capitalized shall be deducted from the cash compensation payable; if it is a deficiency, it shall be added to such cash compensation.

Thus, suppose the revenue on 10 acres of appropriated land is found by strict calculation to be R20-14-0. The remission shall be R21, and the difference R0-2-0, capitalized at 5 per cent. (i.e., multiplied by 20), is R2-8-0, which shall be deducted from the cash compensation payable to the proprietors.

On the other hand, suppose the revenue of the same land was R20-7-0; then only R20 will be remitted, and the proprietors will receive an addition to their cash compensation of 7 × 20, or R8-12-0.

7. In column 16 the revenue remitted from the date of appropriation up to the close of the revenue year in which the statement is submitted to the Board will be shown.

8. Where more than one description of land is appropriated in a village, a total of the entries in columns 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, 22, 23, 24, and 25 for all the land appropriated in that village should be given; and where the land is appropriated in several villages, a grand total of those columns should be given at the foot of each sheet.

9. In columns 19 and 21 fractions of years, and in column 26 fractions of rupees, should be shown in decimals to two places.

10. When interest is granted on a claim, the date from and up to which it has been allowed should be specified.

11. The remission of revenue and cesses to be considered in calculating the price per acre in column 26 is the value capitalized at 5 per cent. of the revenue and cesses per acre remitted; thus, if the price awarded for an acre of land to proprietors and cultivators on account of loss of profit is R30, and the revenue and cesses remitted are R1, the price to be shown in column 26 will be R50.

12. A cash compensation certificate will be furnished where the compensation is a charge affecting the Civil, Imperial or Provincial Budget. Where the compensation is chargeable, as part of the cost of the work to be constructed, to the Public Works Department Budget, no cash compensation certificate is required

13 The foregoing instructions are applicable, mutatis mutandis, to the preparation of Form XI.

3.—Payment of compensation for land taken up for public purposes under the Land Acquisition Act of 1894 and the audit of such payments.

The following rules prescribed by the Government of India in their Resolution Nos 2209A., 3469A., and 5253A., in the Department of Finance and Commerce, dated the 10th May 1895, 12th August and 12th December 1896 respectively, must be followed in future in regard in to the payment of compensation for land taken up for public purposes.

LAND ACQUISITION OFFICERS.

2. After all preliminaries in respect to estimate, etc., that may be required under departmental rules in force for the time being have been duly carried out, the land will be taken up under the Act either by the Collector or by some special officer who is placed at the diposal of the Public Works Department and invested with the powers of a Collector under the Act. The procedure differs in the two cases.

PROCEDURE OF SPECIAL OFFICERS APPOINTED UNDER THE ACT.

3. Officers who are specially employed for this work, being invested with the powers of a Collector under the Act and placed at the disposal of the Public Works Department, are regarded as Public Works disbursers, and are supplied with funds in the manner prescribed in Article 467 of the Civil Account Code. The following procedure shall be observed by such officers.

4. When an award is made under section 11 of the Act, the officer shall have a statement prepared in the appended form (marked A) showing the amounts payable to each person under the award, and shall, on the day the award is made, forward a copy of the statement signed by himself to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts with whom he is in account. Before signing the copy, the officer should carefully satisfy himself that it correctly shows the amounts due under the award, and should himself enter the total of column 6 of the statement in words both in the original and copy. A subsidiary statement in Form AA, giving particulars regarding the acceptance, by the persons concerned, of the amounts entered in column 6 of the award statement should also be furnished to the Examiner as soon as possible. If the subsidiary statement is not complete on the day that the award is made, the necessary entries in column 7 of statement A will be made in the Examiner's office on receipt of the statement in Form AA.

5. In cases where an award has been made by a court under section 26 of the Act, a second award statement should be prepared in the accompanying form (marked B) by the land Acquisition Officer as soon as the decision of the Court is ascertained, and a copy thereof forwarded to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts. On receipt of this statement the Examiner will proceed to check the entries in columns 1 to 4 with the original award by the officer.

6. Any change in the apportionment of the officer's award made by a court under section 30 of the Act should also similarly be communicated to the Examiner for the necessary corrections in the award statement. And if under section 31 (3) of the Act, it has been arranged to grant a compensation otherwise than in cash, the nature of such compensation should be clearly specified in the column of remarks in the award statement.

7. In giving notice of the award under section 12 (2) and tendering payment under section 31 (1) to such of the persons interested as were not present personally or by their representative when the award was made, the office shall require them to appear personally or by representatives by a certain date, to receive payment of the compensation awarded to them, intimating also that no interest will be allowed to them if they fail to appear. If they do not appear, and do not apply for a reference to the Civil Court under section 18, the officer shall, after any further endeavour to secure their attendance that may seem desirable, cause the amounts due to be paid into the treasury as revenue deposits payable to the persons to whom they are respectively due, and vouched for in the accompanying form (marked E). The officer shall also give notice to the payees of such deposits, specifying the treasury in which the deposits have been made. When the payees ultimately claim payment of sums placed on deposit, the amounts will be paid to them in the same manner as ordinary revenue deposits. The officer should, as far as possible, arrange to make the payments due in or near the village to which the payees belong, in order that the number of undisbursed sums to be placed in deposit on account of non-attendance may be reduced to a minimum. Whenever payment is claimed through a representative, whether before or after deposit of the amount awarded, such representative must show legal authority for receiving the compensation on behalf of his principal.

8. In making direct payments to the persons interested under the award, the officer shall take the receipt of each person to whom money is paid on a separate voucher in the accompanying form (marked C), containing a reference to the item showing the amount due to that person in the statement prescribed in paragraph 4. In cases where payments are made to a number of persons under a single award, an acquittance roll in Form CC may be substituted for separate receipts in Form C. The Officer shall forward the separate receipts of the payees, or the acquittance roll, as the case may be, to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts with whom he is in account, when forwarding to him the account of the month in which the payments are made.

9. All payments into court for deposit under the Act should be made by means of cheques in favour of the presiding officer of the court, payable by order of the court to credit of Civil Court Deposits. The cheques should be accompanied with receipts in triplicate in Form D duly filled up, of which one will be retained by the court for record, and the other two returned duly signed to the Collector, who will keep one copy and forward the other to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts with the accounts of the month in which the payments are made. Payments of the amounts deposited shall be made under the rules for the payment of Civil Court Deposits.

10. When a court has awarded any compensation in excess of the officer's award, the further payment due, as entered in column 6 of the award statement in Form B, should be made into the cou t by means of a cheque, and the procedure described in the preceding paragraph should be followed, Form D being used with the necessary changes to give full particulars of the order of the court.

11. A Local Government may authorize any particular Land Acquisition Officer to make all or any of his payments by cheques, provided no inconvenience is caused thereby to the payees in consequence of the property being situated at a distance from the Treasury. The use of cheques should be safeguarded by a strict observance of the following rules :—

(1 Every cheque-book should contain a certain number of cheques, with consecutive printed numbers and each book should contain its own serial number.

(2) The serial number of the cheque-book, and the number of cheques it contains, should be reported to the Treasury Officer before the book is brought into use.

(3) The cheque-book should be kept under lock and key by the Land Acquisition Officer himself.

(4) The cheques should be filled up by the Land Acquisition Officer with his own hand in words, as well as figures, and cheques should be enfaced "under R "

(5, A periodical examination of pass-books from the Treasury with the counterfoils of the cheque-book should be made by the Land Acquisition Officer himself.

PAYMENTS UNDER THE ACT AFTER THE SPECIAL OFFICER IS RELIEVED OF HIS SPECIAL DUTIES.

12. In any case in which a reference is made to the Civil Court, and the award of the court is not made till after the special officer has been relieved of his special duties, the further payments due under the award shall be made by the Collector, who will observe the same procedure as if the reference to the Civil Court had been made by himself, as prescribed in paragraphs 9 and 10 above.

PROCEDURE OF COLLECTOR OR OTHER CIVIL OFFICER NOT SPECIALLY EMPLOYED FOR LAND ACQUISITION.

13. When the land is taken up by the Collector or other Civil Officer not specially employed for the work, such Collector or Civil Officer is not a Public Works disburser, but draws money for payment due under his award from the Civil Treasury. Such Collector or Civil Officer shall, as soon as he makes the award, or as soon as he ascertains that an award has been made by the Civil Court, prepare a statement in Form A or B, or in both, as the case may be, showing the amounts due, and forward a copy thereof to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts concerned in the manner prescribed in paragraphs 4 and 5. Additions and alterations in the award statement should also be communicated to the Examiner as prescribed in paragraph 6, and a subsidiary statement in Form AA should, if necessary, be furnished, as laid down in paragraph 4. The procedure laid down in paragraph 7 should also be observed by such Collector or Civil Officer.

14. In making the payments due under the award, the Collector shall take from each person to whom payment is made a receipt in Form C, containing a reference to the particular entry in the award, showing the amount due to the payee. In the case of payments to a number of persons under a single award, an acquittance roll may be substituted for separate receipts as laid down in paragraph 8. These receipts will be the Treasury Officer's vouchers for the payments, and shall be forwarded by him with the accounts of the month, to the Accountant General of the Province, who will in ordinary course, forward them to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts. For payments into Civil Courts, the procedure laid down in paragraphs 9 and 10 should be observed.

15. The Treasury Officer has no concern with the award or with the award statement; he makes the payments on the authority of the Collector or other officer assessing compensation. The Collector may either draw the amount to be disbursed to each payee separately, in which case he should countersign the receipt in Form C, and make it payable at the Treasury to the payee, altering the words "Paid in my presence $\frac{\text{in cash}}{\text{by cheque}}$" to "Pay;" or he may draw the total amount to be disbursed by him under the award on his won receipt as an advance, and after making the payments, forward the receipts of the payees to the Treasury Officer in adjustment of the advance. In the former case an advice list of the forms passed for payment should be sent to the Treasury Officer, who in turn, should send weekly an advice of orders paid.

AUDIT BY ACCOUNT OFFICERS.

16. Whether the payment is made by a special officer or by the Collector (or other Civil Officer), the audit of the Examiner of Public Works Accounts shall consist in seeing that every payment is supported by a receipt in Form C or D, and that the amount paid on such receipt is the amount payable under the award, as shown in the statement of which he will have received copies under the preceding orders. The Examiner will also note in the last column of Form A the date on which possession is taken, as reported to him by the Executive Engineer or other officer.

17. The Examiner will, as he receives the vouchers, fill in the entries in the appropriate columns of the award statements (Forms A and B); and as he receives the reports of possession, he will fill in the entries in column 10 of the statement in Form A: when all the vouchers showing either payment to the payee or payment into the court on deposit, and the reports of possession have been received, he will forward a copy of the completed statements in Forms A, AA and B to the Chief Revenue Authority. This will complete the audit of the Examiner; any other or further returns or reports from the officers who assess or pay compensation, will be disposed of by the Chief Revenue Authority without reference to the Examiner.

18. When the land is acquired for, and the cost is debitable to, the Military Works Department, the procedure above laid down will be observed, the Examiner of Military Works Accounts being substituted for the Examiner of Public Works Accounts.

19. When the land is acquired for, and the cost is debitable to, any other Department than the Public Works Department or Military Works Department, the procedure will also be the same, the Account Officer who will audit the payments being substituted for the Examiner of Public Works Accounts.

PROCEDURE WHEN NO MONEY COMPENSATION IS PAID.

20. In cases in which compensation is granted in the shape of other land in exchange, or remission of revenue, as provided in section 31 (3) of the Act, and the land is acquired for Government purposes, no adjustment of the value of the land given in exchange will be required, unless it is separately purchased by Government. If, however, the land is acquired for a body financially independent of Government, the value of the Government land given in exchange, and the capitalized value of the abatement of Land Revenue should be charged against advances of funds (paragraph 22) made by that body.

INVESTMENT OF COMPENSATION MONEY DEPOSITED IN COURT.

21. Investments under sections 32 and 33 of the Act of money deposited in court, should be arranged for, in the case of purchase of Government securities, in communication between the court and the Civil Accountant General concerned, and purchases of land should be effected under the court's orders through the Collector or other Revenue Authority of the Province. The Accountant General will inform the court what sum should be remitted to enable him to make the investment, and this amount will be paid from the deposits in court

AUDIT, ADJUSTMENT, AND RECOVERY OF PAYMENTS ON BEHALF OF BODIES FINANCIALLY INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT.

22. In any case in which land is acquired for a municipality or other body financially independent of Government, the Local Government may direct that the payments, instead of being made and audited in the same manner as the ordinary payments of such body, shall be made and audited as if the land were being acquired for Government. If the Local Government issues such an order, the Collecter or other officer who makes payments on account of the land acquired, shall draw funds from the Treasury, and make payments in the manner laid down in these rules, using the forms prescribed, and shall render his accounts to the Civil Accountant General. The municipality or other body will pay the estimated cost of the compensation to the credit of Government in advance on such dates and in such instalments as the Local Government may direct, further payment to Government being required as soon as the Accountant General reports that the payments made exceed the amount received in advance. The Accountant General will deal with the accounts and payments as prescribed in these rules, debiting the payments against the advances received from the Municipality or other body.

4.—Special rules regarding lands required for Railway purposes containing.

Rules by the Government of India (Public Works Department Circular No. VI, dated 7th July 1892).

I.—Railways constructed by Government.

1. On railways constructed by Government, land is divided into two classes, viz. :—

I.—Permanent land.
II.—Temporary land.

2. Permanent land.—Land which will be required permanently after the railway is open for traffic and the work of construction is complete. Under this head will be included all land to be occupied by the formation of the permanent line of railway, with side-slopes of banks and cuttings, and the berms connected therewith; the entrances to tunnels and shafts belonging to the same; the sites of bridges and protection or training works; station-yards; landing places for railway ferries; ground to be occupied by works belonging to the railway, such as gas-works, arrangements for water supply, etc.; ground for the storage, manufacture, or acquisition of materials; land for cemeteries, plantations, gardens and recreation grounds; sites for permanent stations. offices, workshops, dwelling-houses and other buildings required for the purposes of the railway, or the accommodation of the staff, with the grounds, yards, roads, etc., appertaining thereto.

Under this head will also be classed land which will be permanently occupied by the diversion of roads, or rivers, or for other works undertaken for public purposes incidental to the construction of the railway, although such land will cease to be held by the railway authorities on the completion of the works.

3. Temporary land.—All land which is required for temporary purposes only, and which is relinquished after the work of construction is complete.

*II.—Railway constructed by Companies.

4. On railways constructed by Companies land is divided into four classes, viz.,—

I.—'Class A' land.
II.—'Class B' land.
III.—'Class C' land.
IV.—'Class D' land.

5. 'Class A' land.—Land which the Company receives for permanent occupation free of charge under its contract or other arrangement with Government. Under this head is included all land required for the permanent works of the railway, including the formation of the line with its side-slopes, berms, bridges, etc., and for all stations, workshops, permanent store-houses, and the like necessary for the line when opened, and which, under the contract or other arrangement, is to be provided by Government free of cost to the Railway Company. The occupation of this land by the Company will be so far permanent that it will cease only when the contract is terminated or surrendered and the whole lapses to Government.

6. 'Class B' land.—Land which the Railway Company receives for temporary occupation free of charge under its contract or other arrangement with Government. Under this head is included all land essential for the execution of the permanent works of the Railway, but not required after the completion of the line in part or whole. Such is land for spoil-banks, for extra excavation to make banks, and for the storage of material held in stock by the Railway Company pending the construction of the line or their despatch to the works.

7. 'Class C' land.—Land which the Railway Company has to provide at its own cost. Under this head is included land which is required for the provision or preparation of materials, for purposes contingent on the actual execution of the works on the line, or for other miscellaneous objects which the Government recognises as falling legitimately within the scope of the Railway Company's operations, though not giving the Company a claim to the provision of land free of charge. 'Class C' land will be taken up by Government and handed over to the Railway Company for occupation at a fixed rental.

8. 'Class D' land.—Land which. being required in consequence of the works of a railway, still does not come directly into the occupation of the Railway Company at all. Under this head is classed land required outside the Company's boundary, for the diversion of roads or rivers, and for the construction of roads which are made for public purposes, and which will not afterwards be maintained by the Company. 'Class D' land will be provided by Government free of charge.

Amount of land required—

9. In estimating for the amount of land to be taken up for a railway, care should be taken to make provision not only for the land which will be required permanently for the purposes of the open line (such as those indicated on page 41 under 'Permanent Land'), but also for such land as will be required during construction only, for spoil-banks, side-cuttings, quarries, stacking and preparation of material, temporary offices, workshops, and quarters, and for temporary purposes generally, to be relinquished after the work is complete.

10. Land is everywhere (except under the special sanction of the Government of India previously obtained) to be provided of a width sufficient to allow of the line being doubled For this purpose the minimum width required for the 'Permanent land' (in the case of a railway

* The classification given here would apply fully only in the case of a railway for which land was taken up on terms similar to those adopted for the old Guaranteed Companies. The conditions under which land is occupied by other Railway Companies in India vary according to the terms of their respective contracts (or other arrangements) and are in some cases practically the same as specified above for railways constructed by Government.

constructed by Government) or 'Class A land' (in the case of a railway constructed by a Company) under ordinary circumstances is as follows* both for the 5 feet 6 inches and for the metre gauge :—

Cutting	. .	76 feet + 2 slopes.

11. It is to be remembered that the width here specified is, in each case, the minimum, and that it may frequently be necessary to arrange for extra land which will be required after the line is open, for repairs to embankments, for stacking material, or for other purposes. Land so provided would be additional to the minimum permanent land shown on the diagram, and during the construction of the line should be reserved and kept free from excavation or spoil.

12. At station-yards the cutting or filling for the formation of the main line and sidings may sometimes be arranged for in the general levelling and improvement of the plot of grouud to be permanently acquired. Where this cannot be done, provision should be made outside the proposed boundary of the station-yard for such additional land as may be required for side-cuttings or spoil-banks.

13. Where a piece of ground is to be reserved for a plantation or other similar purpose. care should be taken that proper arrangements are made for sufficient land outside and distinct from such piece of ground, for the side-cuttings or spoil-banks which may have to be provided for.

14. In making provision for land for side-cuttings, the width will, under ordinary circumstances, depend upon the nature of the soil, height of bank, facilities for getting earth, and other local conditions. Under special circumstances, as, for example, in the neighbourhood of large towns or where land is unusually expensive, it may be advisable to equalize the quantities for cutting and filling, and take the material for banks from the adjacent cuttings.

General arrangement, side-widths, etc.—

15. For the line between stations, the general arrangement shown on the sections,—Appendix I, pages 53 and 54, is to be followed, and the side-widths set out accordingly.

16. Where practicable for low banks or shallow cuttings, the land taken up for side-cuttings or spoil-banks should be on one side of the line only.

17. In setting out land for side-cuttings, arrangements should be made for berms at suitable intervals to allow convenient access to the line during construction, and prevent the side-cuttings ultimately developing into water-courses alongside the embankment. A width of 40 feet in a length of 200 feet is generally suitable for this purpose ; that is to say, each excavation would be 160 feet long and separated from the next excavation by an interval of 40 feet of undisturbed earth.

18. In setting out land for spoil-banks, care should be taken to leave sufficient space for arrangements for drainage and for catch--water drains, where required, to prevent surface water from the adjacent land running down the slopes of the cutting.

19. The sides of spoil-banks and side-cuttings, next the line, are to be sloped off (as shown on the sections, Appendix I, pages 53 and 54 before the earthwork is finished and in setting out side-widths the distance allowed to the nearest part of the excavation or spoil must be such as to preserve the specified width of strip of clear unbroken ground after this sloping has been carried out.

20. In arranging the side-widths, the line for the fencing and for the inner edge of side-cutting or spoil should be continued straight in portions as long as practicable. That is to say, these lines should follow the average variation in height of bank or depth of cutting over considerable lengths, not be made to zig-zig to suit the local variation at each chain peg. Where the variation in side-widths would be comparatively unimportant it will often be advisable to neglect such local variations entirely, and take up the land in a parallel strip for some distance.

Plans to be made—

21. To enable the civil authorities to take action for the acquisition of land required for railway purposes, it is necessary† that proper plans should be made for reference by all concerned.

22. The scale for these Land Plans should, under ordinary circumstances, be 400 feet to 1 inch ; but where this would not admit of sufficient detail being shown with clearness, the scale should be 100 feet to 1 inch.

23. The data for the preparation of the Land Plans should generally be obtained during the progress of the survey for the location of the line, and the general instructions for the preparation of plans to accompany a project for a railway, when submitted to the Government of India, are to be held to supply also to plans required for the acquisition of the land necessary for the construction of the railway.‡

24. The following additional information is to be supplied on the Land Plans ;—

(a) In the case of a railway to be constructed by Government or by a Company under the terms of whose contract land is divided into two classes, 'permanent' and 'temporary,' the plans made out for the first acquisition of the land will show the outer boundary line; and all land, for whatever purpose it may be required, will be taken up as for permanent occupation. This land will be distinguished on the Land Plans by being coloured pink.

* For details see sections showing widths of land to be taken up, Appendix I, pages 139 and 140. The ditch shown on these sections need not be dug, unless required ; but whether the ditch is required or not, a width of not less than 24 feet must in every case be preserved from toe of slope to edge of side-cutting, or from edge of cutting to foot of spoil-bank.

Land for a railway on the metre gauge should ordinarily be taken up of the full width required for the 5 ft. 6 in. gauge, as specified above. In special cases, however, where it may be considered as practically certain that the railway will, at no future time, be converted to the 5 feet 6 inch gauge, the width given in the diagram for metre gauge may be worked to.

N. B.—This rule applies only to the copies of the plans made for the civil authorities for use on the acquisition of the land, and is not intended to prevent Engineers from marking on their office copies the intended disposition of the land as 'permanent' and 'temporary,' or any other information which may be found convenient for use during construction, or for the purpose of the estimate.

† See Land Acquisition Act, 1894, sections 6 and 8.

‡ See Rules for the preparation of Railway Projects, pages 11 and 12 (not printed in Board's Circulars).

As early as practicable, after the line is opened, and it is known definitely what land can conveniently be relinquished the original plans will be corrected (or fresh plans made), showing the boundaries of the land required for permanent occnpation ('Permanent Land') and also those of the land to be relinquished ('Temporary Land'). On these latter Land Plans, the two classes of land are to be distinguished by colour as follows—

Permanent Land—Pink.
Temporary Land—Yellow.

(b) In the case of a railway constructed by a Company, by the terms of whose contract (or other arrangement with Government) land has to be taken up under special classes A, B, C and D as defined on page 42 of these rules, or under other conditions of a like nature, the plans made out for the first acquisition of the land will show clearly the boundaries of the land to be taken up under each of these classes.
As early as practicable, after the line is opened, the original plans will be corrected (or fresh plans made), showing the disposition of the land as determined after the work of construction is completed.

On these Land Plans, the four classes of land are to be distingnished by colour as follows :—

Class A Land—Pink.
Class B Land—Yellow.
Class C Land—Purple.
Class D Land—Green.

(c) Detached portions of land should be referred to some fixed point on one of the main sheets with distances and compass or other bearings, or such reference to the published maps of the neighbourhood as will ensure a ready identification of the land. A corresponding entry should in each case be made on the nearest main sheet to draw attention to the detached plot.

(d) On all Land Plans, whether made out under clause (a) or under clause (b), the position of the boundary of each class of land is to be determined by dimensions written on the plan; these dimensions to be sufficiently complete to enable such boundaries to be, at any time, readily ascertained or verified.

(e) The names of villages to which the land belongs are, in each case, to be written on the plan alongside of the line indicating the village boundary. If the boundary line crosses the railway line, the names are to be repeated on the other side of the railway line, and the chainage of the crossing point noted.

(f) When boundary marks have been erected for the demarcation of the land occupied by the railway, the position and corresponding number of each detached boundary mark is to be shown on the Land Plans.

25. The Land Plans are to be made up in sets for continuous portions of land, each set being complete for a revenue district or charge of a Collector or Deputy Commissioner (or length of Native State). On each end sheet (first and last) of every set of Land Plans, a sufficient portion of the continuation sheet of the next set should be repeated, to enable the two sheets to be connected or traced together, if required. For each set of Land Plans the sheets are to be numbered consecutively throughout, and the name of the Civil district (or Native State) to which the set belongs, is to be marked conspicuously on each sheet.

26. For a railway constructed by Government, the minimum number of sets of Land Plans required is two, viz., one for the Civil authorities and one for the railway. For a railway constructed by a Company, the minimum number of sets of Land Plans required is three, viz., one for the Civil authorities, one for the Railway, and one for the Consulting Engineer.

27. Each set of Land Plans is to be signed by the officer immediately responsible for its preparation, and by the Chief Engineer of the Railway. In the case of land required for a line already opened, the Manager will also countersign the plans before sending them on.

28. Land Plans are to be kept up to date either by adding to the existing plans or substituting new sheets, as may be necessary. Each such addition or alteration is to be carefully checked by the officer in immediate charge of that portion of the railway and attested by his signature. It is to be understood that the Land Plans at any date must show a clear and accurate record of the land occupied by the railway on that date.

29. A complete series of Land Plans for the whole line is to be kept in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Railway.

Acquisition of land—

30. All arrangements for the acquisition of land required for the construction of a railway will be made by the local Civil officers.*

31. To this end each Civil officer in charge of a district, in which land is required for railway purposes, is to be furnished with particulars of such land, as follows :—

(a) a complete set of Land Plans prepared in accordance with the instructions given above;

(b) a complete set of Schedules prepared in the form given as Appendix II (see pages 55 and 56).

*This rule is not intended to prevent preliminary enquiries regarding the probable cost of land being made by the railway officer direct from the owners.

32. On receipt of sanction for the construction of the railway a statement containing the following information should at once be sent to the Secretary to the Local Government or Administration, with a request that the notification required under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act of 1894 may be inserted in the local official Gazette, and that the District Civil officers concerned may be instructed to arrange for the transfer of the land required :—

(b) a copy of the order of Government sanctioning the construction of the railway;

(c) a brief general description of the route to be followed by the railway, with the names of the more important villages or towns through or near which it is intended that the railway shall pass;

(d) a list of the civil districts in which land will be required for the purposes of the railway with the approximate area in acres of the land required in each;

(e) for each civil district the name or description of the place or places at which the Land Plans for that district will be available for inspection by the public.

33. With the statement above specified should also be sent, for the information of the Local Government or Administration, a general index plan to a scale of 1 mile to 1 inch showing the route to be followed by the railway.*

34. On receipt of the information specified above, the Local Government or Administration will publish in the local official Gazette the notification required under the provisions of section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act of 1894, together with such statements as may be considered advisable under section 3, clause 1, of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act of 1885, and will instruct the Local Civil officers to arrange for the acquisition of the land required, and its transfer to the railway.

35. When orders are received for the construction of the railway, the land required should be properly marked out, unless this has already been done.

36. Except so far as may be necessary for the proper survey or marking out of the land required, work must not be commenced or damage done, materials deposited, or any excavation or demolition put in hand until the land has been formally made over or unless approval in writing has been obtained from the local Civil authorities.

37. Where land required for railway purposes forms part of a cantonment or camping ground, the Military Authorities in the Quartermaster-General's Department should be consulted before steps are taken for the acquisition of such land.

Under Government of India Resolution No. 2646, Military Works, dated 7th September 1894, forming the enclosure of Government of India, Public Works Department, Circular No. XIII, dated 2nd November 1894, all applications for the transfer of lands in cantonments to civil departments, railways, etc., should be submitted to the Government of India in the Military Department for sanction, through the local military authorities only, in order to avoid much unnecessary correspondence consequent on their submission through different channels.

38. In the case of a railway to be constructed by a Company, all arrangements with the Civil authorities (or with the Political Officers for Native States) for the acquisition of the land required will be made through the Consulting Engineer, who will be responsible that the proper procedure is followed, and that the Land Plans and Schedules are drawn up in accordance with these rules. All such Land Plans and schedules will be furnished by the Company to the Consulting Engineer, in triplicate. The Consulting Engineer will countersign all three copies, and will then return one set to the Company and forward a second set to the Civil authorities, retaining the third set for record in his office.

Valuation and Payment—

39. The valuation of the land and assessment of all claims and payment for the same will be made by the Civil authorities.†

40. All land for railway purposes, whether required temporarily or permanently, will be taken up in the first instance as for permanent occupation, and valued accordingly. It is to be understood that the distinction between 'Permanent' and 'Temporary' land or 'Class A' and 'Class B' land, is merely of the nature of a forecast showing what the disposition of the land will probably be on completion of the work.

41. In the case of a railway constructed by Government, or by a Company under the terms of whose contract land is divided into two classes 'Permanent' and 'Temporary,' the railway will, in the first instance, be debited with the full cost of all land which may be acquired, and will afterwards be credited with the amount realized by the sale of such land as may be relinquished.

42. In the case of a railway constructed by a Company, by the terms of whose contract (or other arrangement with Government) land has to be taken up under special classes A, B, C and D, as defined on page 42 of these rules, or under other conditions of a like nature 'Class C' land will be acquired by Government and leased to the company, the rent being fixed at 5 per cent. on the cost of the land, plus any Government revenue with which the land may be chargeable. An annual settlement of accounts connected with the re-sale of 'Class C' lands will be made between Government and the Company; the Company bearing any loss owing to diminished value and being credited with any gain arising from enhanced value.‡ Houses, trees, tanks, or or other property, on land which is not provided free of charge, and for which special payment or compensation is necessary, will be paid for at once by the Railway Company. In the case of land provided free of charge, the materials, etc., derived from the 'clearance' of the surface (which then will be at the expense of Government) will be disposed of by the Revenue officers to the best advantage.

* This index plan should be prepared in accordance with the instructions given on page 113 of the rules for the preparation of Railway Projects under the head 'Index Plan and Section' (not printed in Board's Circulars).

† The procedure to be adopted by the Civil authorities and Accounts officers in connection with this work is laid down in Government of India, Financial Department, Resolution No. 1580, dated 29th June 1886.

‡ This rule came into force in 1877, and does not apply to land for which, under the previous rules, an enhanced rent had been paid to allow for deterioration (see Government of India, Public Works Department, Resolution Nos. 3755—60R., dated 16th October 1877).

Land Relinquished—

43. Land having been occupied for the purposes of a railway, should, when no longer required be made over to the local Civil authorities, who will arrange for its disposal.

Dealings with Native States—

44. For land required in Native States the procedure laid down in these rules is to be adopted as far as applicable in every respect, the arrangements being made through the Political Officer.—See also Appendix V, page 58.

Demarcation of Land—

45. The following rules for the demarcation of land have been laid down by the Government of India under section 13 (a) of the Indian Railways Act of 1890*:—

(a) All land permanently occupied for the purposes of a railway shall have its boundaries defined on the ground in such a manner as to enable such boundaries to be readily ascertained and identified.

(b) For this purpose the boundary of the railway land may be defined by a continuous wall, fence or ditch, or by detached marks, posts or pillars.

(c) Where the boundary mark is continuous, the boundary of the railway land is to be on the outer edge of the wall, fence, or ditch ; that is to say, the wall, fence or ditch will be situated wholly on railway land.

(d) Where detached marks, such as isolated posts or pillars, are used, the boundary of the railway land will pass through the centres of such marks. Between the marks the boundary will in each case be taken in a straight line from the centre of one mark to the centre of the next mark.

(e) Detached marks are in no case to be at a greater distance apart (centre to centre) than one-eighth of a mile (660 feet). They are to be of a substantial character, not easily destroyed or moved by accident or mischief, and are to be of such size and form as to be readily found and recognised.

(f) Each detached boundary mark is to bear a number, and the position and corresponding number of each detached boundary mark is to be shown on the Land Plan.

(g) Where a fence, wall, or ditch is for convenience situated at some distance within the boundary, and does not mark the actual limit of the railway land, it will be necessary that, in addition to such fence, wall or ditch, the actual boundary of the railway land shall be properly marked and defined in accordance with these rules.

46. In the case of a railway constructed by a Company, the expression 'land permanently occupied' is intended to include not only 'Class A' land, but also such 'Class B' and 'Class C' land as may be required for a considerable period. In the event of any 'Class B' or 'Class C' land enclosed by the boundary being afterwards relinquished, the boundary is to be shifted to mark the new limit.

APPENDIX III (TO PART I, B. C. 7-VIII).

LAND REQUIRED FOR DWELLING-HOUSES FOR EMPLOYÉS OF A RAILWAY COMPANY TO BE PAID FOR AS UNDER 'CLASS C.'

Government of India, Public Works Department, Circular No. 16, dated 6th April 1861.

The following extract of orders, passed by the Governor-General in Council on a reference from Madras, is circulated for guidance in cases where application may be made by Railway officers for land to build dwelling-houses on, or where the Railway officers propose to build such dwelling-houses on land provided at the cost of the State. It will be seen that, whatever may have been admitted in some such cases hitherto, no claim should in future be recognised for the provision of land for such dwelling-houses at the cost of the State.

Extract from letter to Secretary to Government of Madras.

"I am directed to state in reply that the Government of India cannot admit that dwelling-houses for Engine Drivers or Station Masters, and still less for general workmen, are "conveniences" under terms of the contract. This sort of accommodation being given or refused is merely a question of wages."

APPENDIX IV (TO PART I, B. C. 7-VIII).

5—Disposal of land relinquished after permanent appropriation.

[4] THE following rules are framed to give effect to the principles approved by the Government of India in Resolution No. $\frac{13}{44-13}$, dated 30th October, 1896, regarding the disposal of land which has been permanently acquired for public purposes and is no longer required for such purposes :—

1. When any agricultural or pastoral land which has been permanently acquired for public purposes by Government in any department, whether by private purchase or by compulsory acquisition, shall be relinquished under the orders of Government, it shall be made over by the department to the Collector of the district for disposal.

2. The Collector shall cause the land to be surveyed and shall assess it to revenue at such rates as he shall consider fit with reference to the quality of the land, the condition in which it was relinquished and the rent paid for similar land in the neighbourhood. He shall submit the proposed assessment in the form prescribed for summary settlements to the Commissioner for sanction.

3. On receipt of sanction to the assessment, the proprietary rights in the land should ordinarily, as an act of grace, subject to the conditions in rule 5, be first offered to the persons from whom they were acquired, or to their heirs, if discoverable. If at the time of acquisition compensation was paid on account of rights of occupancy in the land to tenants or others, the rights of occupancy extinguished by the acquisition should be offered to the persons who received compensation or their heirs: the proprietary rights being made subject to the rights of occupancy under the provisions of the Crown Grants Act (XV of 1895).

4. The price at which the proprietary rights and rights of occupancy (if any) in the land shall be offered shall be the amount of compensation originally paid for them, less, in the case of proprietary rights and of rights of tenants at fixed rates, the 15 per cent. in excess of the value which will have been paid if the acquisition had been compulsory. This price may be reduced, if necessary, on account of any deterioration that may have taken place in the fitness of the land for agricultural or pastoral purposes while it was in the occupation of Government, but it should not be increased, except in the cases stated below, on account of any rise in its market value during the period.

5. In the case of plots of land which by reason by their situation, size or shape are practically of no value to any one but the owners of the adjoining land, or in the case of land forming a small share of a mahál which it is desirable should not pass into the possession of any one but the owners of the mahál, if these owners are not entitled to receive the first offer of the proprietary rights under rule 3 above, they should nevertheless receive the first offer on condition of their paying to Government the fair market value of the land, any reasonable offer on their part having the preference over that of an outsider.

6. If no one referred to in rules 3 and 5 will accept the land on these terms, the Collector shall, with the approval of the Chief Commissioner, dispose of the land otherwise to the best advantage of Government.

7. The above rules do not apply to building sites or town lands.

By Order,

A. D. BANNERMAN, Captain,

First Assistant to the Governor-General's Agent, Rajputana, and Chief Commissioner Ajmer-Merwara.

MUNICIPAL OFFICE.

Bangalore, the 15th January 1900.

No. 7020.—In exercise of the powers conferred under section 137 (1) (f), (g) and (l) and 137 (2) of the Bangalore Municipal Law, 1897, the Municipal Commission for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore have made the following Bye-law, and the same having been confirmed by the Resident in Mysore as required by section 139, it is hereby notified for public information under section 180 (3) of the said Law :—

BYE-LAW No. OCTROI.

BANGALORE MUNICIPAL LAW, SECTION 137 (1) (f), (g) AND (l) AND 137 (2).

1. The Octroi limits for the purpose of collecting Octroi shall be the Municipal limits.

2. No articles liable to Octroi shall be brought within these limits except by one of the high roads described in the schedule hereto annexed, or by the railway.

3. The Octroi posts at which such goods shall be liable to inspection, etc., under section 63 shall be the Ookads on the high roads described in the schedule, the Bonded Warehouse and the Railway Station. And every person bringing dutiable goods within the station shall report the fact at the first of such posts on the route by which such goods are brought. All officers of the Octroi Department not below the rank of Mutsuddy are authorized to inspect the contents of any conveyance or package under section 63.

4. A table showing the Octroi leviable shall be open to the inspection of any person at the Municipal Office, and copies shall be supplied without charge to any person requiring the same. Such tables shall also be affixed in a conspicuous place at every post or office at which Octroi is collected.

5. When the goods have been examined at the Octroi post, a pass in duplicate for such of the goods as are liable to Octroi duty shall be furnished to the importer by the Octroi Post Mutsuddy. On receiving such pass the importer shall forthwith bring the taxable goods to the Central Octroi Office at the Bonded Warehouse accompanied by a Peon, provided that if the duty to which the goods are liable does not exceed 8 annas, the Octroi Post Mutsuddy may, unless the importer declares that he intends to re-export the goods, receive such duty and give to the importer a permit showing the nature and quantity of the goods and the duty received.

Provided also that in the case of goods imported by railway, the Inspector in charge of the Octroi post at the Railway Station may in the same manner receive duty not exceeding three rupees.

Provided further that Octroi duty may be paid at any post of entry, if notice be given at the Chief Octroi Office by 4 P.M. the previous day: any officer not below the rank of a Sub-Inspector may be duly empowered by the President to collect this duty.

Explanation.—For purposes of this priviso, Sunday is regarded as a dies non.

6. When goods accompanied by a pass as aforesaid are brought to the Central Octroi Office, they may be unloaded and weighed or counted by the Superintendent or other officer for the time being in charge of the office. Upon ascertainment of the amount of Octroi payable on the goods, the importer shall either pay the amount due and receive a permit for the removal of the goods, or shall deposit the same in the Bonded Warehouse. When the duty is paid as above, a permit shall be granted by the Superintendent for the removal of the goods, showing the quantity or weight of the goods, the amount paid in respect thereof and the date of payment. The fact of the receipt shall also be noted on each copy of the duplicate pass, one copy of which shall be filed in the office and one copy returned to the Octroi post from which it was received.

7. With a view to the appraisement of the value of the goods when the tax is assessed on value, the importer may be called upon to produce the invoice of the goods for the inspection of the officer in charge of the Central Octroi Office. Should he fail or refuse to produce the invoice, the value of the goods shall be assessed by the Superintendent at current rates and Octroi levied accordingly.

8. With the previous approval of the President in each case, any carrying Agent through whom goods are imported on behalf of persons resident within the Municipality, or any wholesale importer, may, on depositing as security such amount as may in each case be fixed by the President, not being less than R 250, be exempted from producing the goods imported by him or through his agency for inspection at the Central Octroi Office, provided that he makes arrangements satisfactory to the President for the supply to the Commission of correct and detailed lists of all such goods with the names of the consignees in each case. Every such Agent shall be responsible to the extent of his deposit, for the payment of Octroi on all goods which may have left his premises without Octroi having been paid.

Provided that the President may at any time cancel such exemption by giving notice in writing to such Agent or importer and returning to him the amount of his deposit or such portion thereof as may remain to his credit, or may in any case require such Agent or importer to produce any such goods for inspection at the Central Octroi Office.

9. With regard to timber in log imported from the City Municipality the following special rule shall be observed :—

When such timber is produced at the Central Octroi Office, if it is accompanied by a refund pass from the City Municipality showing full duty has been paid in that Municipality, and that a refund of such duty has been sanctioned, the Superintendent, if he is satisfied that the timber is duly covered by such pass, and that the pass has been duly checked and endorsed as required by the rules of the City Municipality, shall receive the refund pass as full payment of duty, and grant permit for the issue of the timber. All refund passes so received for payment of duty shall be presented in due course for payment at the City Municipal Office.

Bonded Warehouse.

10. The Municipal Commission shall provide a Bonded Warehouse for the custody of goods which may be deposited under paragraph 6.

11. The Bonded Warehouse shall be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily except on Sundays and holidays authorized by the President. Arrangements shall, however, be made by the Superintendent for dealing with perishable articles, such as betel leaves, on such days.

12. Any importer depositing goods in the Bonded Warehouse shall, unless the Superintendent has previously by weighing, counting or appraising, ascertained the amount of Octroi payable thereon, give a declaration of the description, weight, quantity, and, if necessary, the value of such goods.

13. A receipt shall be given by the Superintendent for all goods deposited in the Bonded Warehouse, and a Register of all such goods shall be maintained.

14. Any person who has deposited goods in the Bonded Warehouse may break bulk, or change the packing thereof, on application to the officer in charge of the Warehouse ; or may, on paying full duty thereon, import such goods into the station covered by a permit ; or may export such goods free covered by an export pass, provided that new packages covered by such pass shall, if possible and before they are taken from the Warehouse, be stamped by the officer in charge so as to show that they are under Bond. The export pass shall be in triplicate, the original being retained by the officer in charge of the Warehouse, and the duplicate and triplicate delivered to the exporter.

(2) For every free export pass granted under this rule a fee of one anna shall be charged.

(3) No goods shall be allowed to leave the Bonded Warehouse under free export pass until storage fees have been paid thereon under the following rules :—

(i) Goods shall be allowed to remain for 24 hours free of charge.

(iii) Double rates shall be charged after seven days, provided that the President may in his discretion allow a reduction in, or exemption from, such penal rates.

(iv) The date of admission and removal of goods shall reckon as one day, and Sundays and close holidays shall not be taken into account in reckoning the date from which fees under each class shall be payable. When delay is caused by the inability of the officer in charge of the Warehouse to examine and pass the goods, such delay shall not be reckoned.

15. The President may permit any wholesale dealer to occupy a room in the Bonded Warehouse for the storing of dutiable articles intended for sale to retail traders in the Municipality, and may make such rules regarding the occupation of such rooms as may from time to time be found necessary.

16. When goods stored by a Wholesale trader in the Bonded Warehouse under the above rule are issued on payment of duty, such allowance may be made on the original weight on account of materials used in the packing or on account of reduction of weight owing to dryage or wastage as may from time to time be fixed by the President.

17. All perishable commodities remaining uncleared or unclaimed after 48 hours shall be sold by public auction to the highest bidder at the Bonded Warehouse. All other goods remaining uncleared or unclaimed for a longer period than six months shall be sold in like manner, provided that before selling such goods notice of the fact shall be posted for seven days at the Bonded Warehouse, and at the Municipal Office.

18 When any goods are sold under para. 17 the sale proceeds shall be credited to the Municipal Funds in payment of duty and storage fees due in respect thereof, provided that if the amount realised by the sale exceed the amount so due, the balance shall be kept in deposit for one year, and any claims for such balance received during that time shall be duly considered by the President. At the expiry of one year, or after all claims received during that period have been duly disposed of, the balance shall be credited to Municipal Funds. No claims shall be admitted after the said period of one year, except by special permission of the Commission.

19. The Commission shall not be responsible for any damage that may be caused to goods deposited in the Bonded Warehouse, while such goods are being passed into or out of the Warehouse, or while they remain therein, unless such damage is proved to have been caused by the wilful neglect of the Warehouse keeper, or other person charged with the safe custody of the goods.

20. Any person may, with the sanction of the President, be permitted to use any place as a Bonded Warehouse on payment of the cost of such establishment, and subject to such conditions, as may, in each case, be fixed by the President.

Refunds.

21. On all articles on which Octroi duty has been paid and which are subsequently exported beyond Octroi limits, refunds shall, subject to the following rules, be granted at the rates originally charged at the time of import.

Provided that no refund shall be granted of any sum less than one rupee.

22. Any person claiming refund under the above rule shall produce the goods to be exported at the Central Octroi Office, together with the original receipt for octroi duty paid thereon, and an application for refund prepared in triplicate in such form and showing such particulars as the President may, from time to time, prescribe. Refund shall not be withheld solely on the ground that the person producing the receipt is not the person to whom such receipt was granted in the first instance.

23. Any person who has been exempted under para. 8 from production of goods at the Central Octroi Office on import shall, subject to the same conditions, be exempted from the production of goods to be exported.

24. The Superintendent on being satisfied as to the identify of the goods produced with those for which receipt has been granted, shall endorse the three parts of the application with an export pass, and keeping one part in the office shall deliver the other parts to the applicant.

25. All goods exported under such pass, and also all goods exported under free export pass under para. 14 shall be produced by the exporter, together with the duplicate pass, at the Octroi Station of exit.

26. The Octroi subordinate in charge of the station of exit shall satisfy himself that the goods produced as being covered by the duplicate pass, correspond with the entries in the pass presented with them.

27. If the goods are being exported otherwise than by rail and if the consignment appears to be duly covered by the pass, he shall retain the duplicate pass and return the triplicate pass to the exporter or his Agent, after due endorsement of the particulars specified in the form subjoined; otherwise he shall retain both the duplicate and triplicate passes and shall report the circumstances forthwith for the orders of his immediate superior. If the goods are being exported under refund pass, he shall in either case allow the consignment to proceed. If the goods are under a free export pass, and do not appear to agree with the particulars given therein, they shall be detained until the orders of his superior are received.

28. If the goods are for export by rail, the Octroi subordinate in charge of the station of exit shall retain the triplicate pass, pending production of a railway receipt for the goods covered by the pass. Upon production of the railway receipt, if after due enquiry, the said Octroi subordinate is satisfied that the goods produced are covered by the pass and also by the railway receipt in question, he shall then endorse on the duplicate and triplicate passes, respectively, the number and date of the railway receipt, and shall return the triplicate copy to the person in charge of the goods, but he shall retain the duplicate pass, subject to disposal in the prescribed course of business.

29. In all cases in which refund is claimed, the triplicate pass duly endorsed as provided by paras 27 and 28, respectively, must be produced at the Central Octroi Office by the person seeking the refund, and if after due check the Superintendent is satisfied that a refund of Octroi covered by such pass is duly payable, he shall, if the amount so payable does not exceed R20, forthwith pay the same to the person presenting the triplicate pass. If the amount to be refunded exceeds R20, or if the Superintendent sees any cause to refuse payment of any sum claimed, the claim shall be forwarded for the orders of the President.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

NOTE.—By January next 100 sets only of the Dictionary would be available for sale.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 2nd February, 1900, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. II OF 1900.

An Act to amend the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Transfer of Property Act, 1882; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Transfer of Property Act, 1900; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Addition to section 3, Act IV, 1882.

2. In section 3 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, after the definition of "attached to the earth" the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"Actionable claim" means a claim to any debt, other than a debt secured by mortgage of immovable property or by hypothecation or pledge of moveable property, or to any beneficial interest in moveable property not in the possession, either actual or constructive, of the claimant, which the Civil Courts recognize as affording grounds for relief, whether such debt or beneficial interest be existent, accruing, conditional or contingent."

Amendment of section 6, Act IV, 1882.

3. In section 6 of the same Act—

(i) in clause (e) the words "for compensation for a fraud or for harm illegally caused" shall be omitted; and

(ii) in clause (h) the words "for an illegal purpose" shall be omitted and instead thereof the words "for an unlawful object or consideration within the meaning of section 23 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872," shall be inserted. IX of 1872.

Substitution of new Chapter for Chapter VIII, Act IV, 1882.

4. For Chapter VIII of the same Act, the following Chapter shall be substituted, namely:—

"CHAPTER VIII.

"OF TRANSFERS OF ACTIONABLE CLAIMS.

Transfer of actionable claim.

"130. (1) The transfer of an actionable claim shall be effected only by the execution of an instrument in writing signed by the transferor or his duly authorized agent, and shall be complete and effectual upon the execution of such instrument, and thereupon all the rights and remedies of the transferor, whether by way of damages or otherwise, shall vest in the transferee, whether such notice of the transfer as is hereinafter provided be given or not:

Provided that every dealing with the debt or other actionable claim by the debtor or other person from or against whom the transferor would, but for such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, have been entitled to recover or enforce such debt or other actionable claim, shall (save where the debtor or other person is a party to the transfer or has received express notice thereof as hereinafter provided) be valid as against such transfer.

(2) The transferee of an actionable claim may, upon the execution of such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, sue or institute proceedings for the same in his own name without obtaining the transferor's consent to such suit or proceedings and without making him a party thereto.

Exception.—Nothing in this section applies to the transfer of a marine or fire policy of insurance.

Illustrations.

(i) A owes money to B, who transfers the debt to C. B then demands the debt from A, who, not having received notice of the transfer, as prescribed in section 131, pays B. The payment is valid, and C cannot sue A for the debt.

(ii) A effects a policy on his own life with an Insurance Company and assigns it to a Bank for securing the payment of an existing or future debt. If A dies, the Bank is entitled to receive the amount of the policy and to sue on it without the concurrence of A's executor, subject to the proviso in sub-section (1) of section 130 and to the provisions of section 132.

Notice to be in writing, signed.

"131. Every notice of transfer of an actionable claim shall be in writing, signed by the transferor or his agent duly authorized in this behalf, or, in case the transferor refuses to sign, by the transferee or his agent, and shall state the name and address of the transferee.

Liability of transferee of actionable claim.

"132. The transferee of an actionable claim shall take it subject to all the liabilities and equities to which the transferor was subject in respect thereof at the date of the transfer.

Illustrations.

(i) A transfers to C a debt due to him by B, A being then indebted to B. C sues B for the debt due by B to A. In such suit B is entitled to set off the debt due by A to him, although C was unaware of it at the date of such transfer.

(ii) A executed a bond in favour of B under circumstances entitling the former to have it delivered up and cancelled. B assigns the bond to C for value and without notice of such circumstances. C cannot enforce the bond against A.

Warranty of solvency of debtor.

"133. Where the transferor of a debt warrants the solvency of the debtor, the warranty, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, applies only to his solvency at the time of the transfer, and is limited, where the transfer is made for consideration, to the amount or value of such consideration.

Mortgaged debt.

"134. Where a debt is transferred for the purpose of securing an existing or future debt, the debt so transferred, if received by the transferor or recovered by the transferee, is applicable, first, in payment of the costs of such recovery: secondly, in or towards satisfaction of the amount for the time being secured by the transfer; and the residue, if any, belongs to the transferor or other person entitled to receive the same.

Assignment of rights under marine or fire policy of insurance.

"135. Every assignee, by endorsement or other writing, of a policy of marine insurance or of a policy of insurance against fire, in whom the property in the subject insured shall be absolutely vested at the date of the assignment, shall have transferred and vested in him all rights of suit as if the contract contained in the policy had been made with himself.

Incapacity of officers connected with Courts of Justice.

"136. No Judge, legal practitioner, or officer connected with any Court of Justice shall buy or traffic in, or stipulate for, or agree to receive, any share of, or interest in, any actionable claim, and no Court of Justice shall enforce, at his instance or at the instance of any person claiming by or through him, any actionable claim so dealt with by him as aforesaid.

Saving of negotiable instruments, etc.

"137. Nothing in the foregoing sections of this Chapter applies to stocks, shares or debentures or to instruments which are for the time being, by law or custom, negotiable, or to any mercantile document of title to goods.

Explanation.—The expression "mercantile document of title to goods" includes a bill of lading, dock-warrant, warehouse-keeper's certificate, railway receipt, warrant or order for the delivery of goods, and any other document used in the ordinary course of business as proof of the possession or control of goods, or authorizing or purporting to authorize, either by endorsement or by delivery, the possessor of the document to transfer or receive goods thereby represented."

Repeal.

5. So much of the Policies of Insurance (Marine and Fire) Assignment Act, 1866, as is unrepealed, and so much of the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897, as relates thereto, are hereby repealed. V of 1866. XIV of 18

Execution of warrant.

24. A warrant issued under section 23 may be executed by any officer to whom it is directed or delivered for that purpose in any part of British India, and shall have the same force in any place within British India as if it had been originally issued or subsequently endorsed by the Justice of the Peace or Magistrate or other authority having jurisdiction in the place where it is executed.

Licensee when arrested to be brought up for recommitment.

25. (1) When the licensee, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued under section 23, is arrested thereunder, he shall be brought, as soon as conveniently may be, before the Justice or Magistrate by whom the warrant was issued, or before some other Justice or Magistrate of the same place, or before a Justice or Magistrate having jurisdiction in the district in which the licensee has been arrested.

(Part V.—Persons under Sentence of Penal Servitude.—Sections 26-27. Part VI.—Removal of Prisoners.—Sections 28-31.)

(2) Such Justice or Magistrate as aforesaid shall thereupon make out a warrant under his hand and seal for the recommitment of the licensee to the prison from which he was released under the license.

Recommitment.

26. When a warrant has been issued under section 25, sub-section (2), the licensee shall be recommitted accordingly, and shall thereupon be liable to be kept in penal servitude for such further term as, with the time during which he may have been imprisoned under the original sentence and the time during which he may have been at large under an unrevoked license is equal to the term mentioned in the original sentence.

Penalty for breach of condition of the license.

27. If a license is granted under section 21 upon any condition specified therein, and the licensee—

(a) violates any condition so specified, or

(b) goes beyond the limits so specified, or

(c) knowing of the revocation of the license, neglects forthwith to surrender himself, or conceals himself, or endeavours to avoid arrest, he shall be liable upon conviction to be sentenced to penal servitude for a term not exceeding the full term of penal servitude mentioned in the original sentence.

PART VI.

REMOVAL OF PRISONERS.

References in this Part to prisons, etc., to be construed as referring also to Reformatory Schools.

28. In this Part, all references to prisons or to imprisonment or confinement shall be construed as referring also to Reformatory Schools or to detention therein.

Removal of prisoners from one prison to another in the same Province.

29. Where any person is, or has been, sentenced to imprisonment or transportation by any Court, or, in default of giving security for keeping the peace or maintaining good behaviour, has been committed to, or is detained in, prison under section 123 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the Local Government or (subject to its orders and under its control) the Inspector General of Prisons may order his removal during the period for which he has been sentenced to imprisonment or transportation or the security has been ordered to be given, as the case may be, from the prison in which he is confined to any other prison within the Province.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Whipping Act, 1864, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 2nd February, 1900 :—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the Whipping Act, 1864, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From Chief Commissioner, Coorg, No. 1965, dated 12th August, 1899 [Paper No. 1].
From Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, No. 864, dated 9th August, 1899 [Paper No. 2].
From Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 6601, dated 26th August, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 3].
From High Court, Calcutta, No. 3392, dated 5th September, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 4].
From Government, Madras, No. 1439, dated 8th September, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 5].
From Officiating Agent to Governor General, Baluchistan, No. 7093, dated 19th September, 1899 [Paper No. 6].
From Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 154 L. & L.—4003 J., dated 26th September, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 7].
From Resident, Hyderabad, No. 294, dated 28th September, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 8].
From Government, Burma, No. 480—L-25, dated 11th October, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 9].
From Government, Bombay, No. 7088, dated 16th October, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 10].
From Government, Bengal, No. 1684J.-D., dated 18th October, 1899, and enclosure [Papers No. 11].
From Government, Punjab, No. 1399, dated 20th October, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 12].
From Mr. Zinda Hossain, Vakil, High Court, Patialia, dated 4th August, 1899 [Paper No. 13].
From Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 3186, dated 26th October, 1899, and enclosures [Papers No. 14].

2. Having regard to the adverse criticisms which have been passed on clause 2 of the Bill, which proposed to add rioting armed with a deadly weapon as defined in section 148 of the Penal Code to the list of offences punishable with whipping, we would recommend the abandonment of the proposal and have, therefore, omitted the clause from the Bill as amended by us.

3. We have suggested various amendments in the new section 5 which clause 3 of the Bill as introduced (now clause 2) proposed to add to the Whipping Act. In the first place, we have made the section cover cases in which juvenile offenders abet the commission of, as well as when they commit or attempt to commit, the offences specified in the section. Then, in order to make it clear that the clause covers all laws other than the Penal Code under which the offender is punishable with imprisonment, we have substituted the word "other" for the words "special or local" before the word "law" in clause (b) of the section. Further, we have made it clear that orders by the Governor General in Council under the proviso must be notified in the Gazette of India by introducing express words to this effect Lastly, we have expanded the Explanation so as to indicate to the Courts that, in cases in which the same appears to them necessary, they should make some enquiry before deciding whether an offender is a "juvenile offender."

4. Adopting a suggestion of the Government of Bombay, we have, by an addition to clause 4 (now clause 3) of the Bill, amended section 1 of the Act of 1864 so as to make it clear that it does not restrict the punishment of whipping to offences under the Indian Penal Code.

5 We may add that the papers noted above contain various suggestions for the amendment of the law of whipping which have not been dealt with by us, because in our opinion they lie beyond the scope of the present Bill. We think, however, that some of them are well worthy of consideration when the Whipping Act next comes under general revision.

* In view of the large number and diversified character of special and local laws, I think it would be safer if, instead of including in section 5 all offences under 'other' laws, and then empowering the Governor General in Council to exclude such as he may think fit, it were provided that the section should apply to such offences under 'other' laws as the Governor General in Council may notify from time to time.

Repeal.

3. The words "under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code" in the preamble to the Whipping Act, 1864, the words "under the provisions of the said Code" in section 1 of the same Act, and section 6 of the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1895, are hereby repealed. VI of 1864. III of 1895.

From Government, Bombay, No. 157-M., dated 11th November, 1899, and enclosure [Papers No. 13].

2. We have omitted conditions (ii) and (iii) from the definition of "Company" in clause 2, assimilating that definition to the one enacted in the Companies (Colonial Register) Act, 1883. We see no necessity for imposing any special limitations, either as to the amount of their capital or as to the time for which they must have carried on business, in the case of Indian Companies.

3. We have omitted the words "resident in the United Kingdom" at the end of sub-clause (1) of clause 3. They were reproduced from the corresponding provision in the Companies (Colonial Register) Act, 1883, but having regard to all the circumstances that come into consideration in the present case, the retention of such a qualification in our proposed law seems to us to be undesirable.

4. The last portion of sub-clause (3) of the same clause which contemplates the rectification of a British register in the United Kingdom and provides that it should be done by any competent Court has also been omitted by us. As it appears clear that an Indian Act cannot vest jurisdiction in an English Court, the retention of this provision seems to us misleading and therefore objectionable.

5. We think that a reference to section 60 as well as section 55 of the Indian Companies Act is desirable in sub-clause (4) of the same clause, and we have accordingly inserted the same.

From Messrs. L. J. Cogswell and Geo. Sim, Joint General Managers of the Pioneer, Allahabad, dated 6th January, 1900, and extracts from enclosures [Papers No. 21].

2. We have altered the extent clause of the Bill so as to make it clear that all parts of British India where there are or may be telegraph stations are within the scope of the Bill.

3. In clause 2 we propose to add a proviso permitting publication of telegraphic messages after 18 hours of their first publication at the same place. It seems to us inexpedient that a Calcutta paper, e.g., should be precluded from stating the substance of the news which has appeared in another Calcutta paper of the previous day. In such a case we think the 18 hours protection which we propose will be found sufficient.

4. In the same clause we have added another proviso to make it clear that no paper is precluded from publishing a message received bonâ fide from outside India, merely by reason that a similar message has previously been received and published by another paper. As it seems possible that a message published in British India might be telegraphed to Ceylon or some other neighbouring country, and repeated back and published here as a 'similar message' from outside India, we have added words which will enable the Governor General in Council to prevent any such evasion of the Act by specifying places outside India to which this proviso is not to apply.

5. At the end of the same clause we propose to omit Explanation 1 of the Bill as introduced. The words in that Explanation 'or any comment upon or any reference to such intelligence' have attracted much adverse criticism. It is, no doubt, desirable to prevent the piracy of a message under the guise of comment upon the news conveyed, but we think that under the Bill as amended by us the Courts will be able to deal with such piracy as an appropriation of the substance of the message.

6. The new Explanation 1 which we propose to insert is intended to provide a satisfactory definition of the term "first publication."

7. In clause 3, sub-clauses (1) and (2), we have added the words "on conviction by a Magistrate of the first class." We have added also a new sub-clause, directing that the prosecution is to be at the instance of a party aggrieved. The Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh has asked us to consider whether a sufficiently summary and efficacious remedy cannot be provided by the civil law. But the remedy given by the Bill is, we think, more effective than the remedy by suit, and by imposing a fine we avoid the questions as to proof of damage, etc., which might be raised in a Civil Court.

8. In clause 5, sub-clause (1), we propose to strike out the words 'and states' and to insert 'with a true statement of.' We also propose to add the words 'in British India' at the end of the sub-clause.

* Subject to minute.

I do not think that this Bill is calculated to achieve the object it has in view, viz., a first rate service of telegraphic news. While telegraphic rates remain as high for India as they are at present, the proposed legislation will only succeed in creating a monopoly which, as in the case of all monopolies, will after a certain point cease to care for further improvement. The direct interest of the monopoly will then lie in opposing and obstructing the reduction of rates, in which lies the only real and effectual remedy for the object the Bill has in view. But I have signed this Report as, in the spirit of practical compromise, I appreciate the abandonment of Explanation I to the original Bill which prohibited "the publication of a telegraphic press message, or of the substance thereof, or of the intelligence therein contained, or any comment upon, or any reference to, such intelligence." Paragraph 5 of the Report, dealing with this part of the Bill, is somewhat diplomatically worded, but I trust that it will be possible in Council to make it quite clear that the right of bonâ fide comment and criticism will not be affected.

With regard to the 7th paragraph of the Report, I am unable to agree with the majority of the Committee that a civil remedy would not be so effective as a penal one. I do not think that there would be any difficulty in providing a civil remedy of as summary a character as can be possibly desired.

P. M. MEHTA.

I am thoroughly alive to the importance of a first class service of telegraphic news between England and India: but I feel that the much needed reduction in telegraphic rates, even if accompanied for a few years by a subsidy from Government, will be a far more appropriate method of attaining that object than the creation of a monopoly in news. And if the raison d'être of the present proposals is to protect those newspapers and press agencies who supply special information of current events at heavy expense to themselves, I think that inland as well as foreign telegrams should be included within the scope of the Bill. The real source of an Indian newspaper's popularity lies quite as much in the excellence of its foreign intelligence as in the thoroughness and completeness of its local information. These inland telegrams form quite as formidable an item of expense to more than one great Calcutta paper as their foreign telegraphic service. But as matters now stand, there is nothing to prevent other Calcutta papers from copying these items and sending them up-country in their dâk editions by the same train which carries the dâk edition of the journal which has gone to the expense of obtaining those items at first hand. And similarly there is nothing to prevent an up-country paper from systematically copying such local items from Calcutta journals for the benefit of their Bengal and Behar subscribers. I think, if we are to legislate upon this subject at all, we should do it thoroughly and not confine ourselves to the protection of foreign telegrams.

Then, again, I am of opinion that the Bill should clearly lay down that its provisions are intended to apply only to such cases as those in which two newspapers compete with one another over the same area of circulation. I refer particularly to the case of the Vernacular Press, the existence of which is peculiar to India. The persons who read the Bangabasi or the Oudh Akhbar are not likely to buy the Pioneer or the Englishman, if the former papers are prohibited by law from reproducing the latter's telegrams. The two sets of journals appeal to entirely two different classes of the community. It is quite certain that one of the consequences of this Bill, as it now stands, will be to deprive of all foreign news that large section of the Indian public who cannot or do not read English; and who will not subscribe to Anglo-Indian papers any more than Europeans will subscribe to Vernacular papers. If my information is correct, not one of these Vernacular papers could afford to subscribe to Reuter's telegraphic service under any circumstances, and certainly not while the present prohibitive telegraphic tariff prevails; and I very much doubt if a reduction even in the overland telegraph rates would enable them to do so. They simply have not the means for such a heavy outlay; and they do not compete in any sense whatever with the Anglo-Indian journals who have. I would suggest that the Vernacular papers should be exempted from the provisions of the Bill, and trust it is not too late to do so. It must be remembered that the result of the passing of this Act will be to confer a very substantial boon upon the Press agencies and the wealthy Anglo-Indian newspapers. I hope it is not too much to ask that some generosity of treatment may be extended to the Vernacular papers, which form the only channel of information open to the vast majority of the people of this country.

In conclusion, I wish to advert to Sir Antony MacDonnell's suggestion that the remedy given under this Bill should be civil, and not criminal, in its nature. There has been such a strong feeling expressed against this Bill, as evidenced by the papers which have been placed before us, that I much regret the majority of the Select Committee have not seen their way towards adopting that suggestion. Where other kinds of infringement of copyright are concerned, a civil action for damages must be brought; and I have not been able to discover any reason why copyright in foreign telegrams should be placed in a category of its own. I am of opinion that the Bill should be modified in this respect, and that the Civil, and not the Criminal, Courts should be invested with power to deal with cases of the kind contemplated by the Bill. Proof of damage is surely most essential, whether the matter is looked at from the point of view of the aggrieved party or of the alleged offender.

Subject to these observations, I sign the report of the Select Committee.

RAMESHWARA SINGH.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, January 20th, 1900.

The shallow depression lying over Gujarat on Saturday, the 13th January had moved in a north-north-easterly direction into East Rajputana by Sunday morning, and had developed a secondary depression in the East and Central Punjab. Showers had been received in the west and central districts of the Central Provinces, the east of Central India and the adjoining districts of the North-Western Provinces, and snow and rain had commenced falling in the North-West Himalayas and submontane districts. The rainfall was not heavy, the largest amounts reported being 1·00 inch at Sutna and ·88 inch at Jubbulpore. On Monday pressure had risen briskly in Rajputana, and the primary depression had advanced into the Eastern States of Central India, but had partly filled up. It had, however, given rain to Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and the central and eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces, and showers had fallen in the Central Provinces and Bihar. The depression in the Punjab had also partially filled up and had given rain and snow to the North-West Himalayas and showers in the submontane and East Punjab and the west submontane districts of the North-Western Provinces. The weather was also disturbed in Baluchistan where rain and snow had fallen. Amounts ranging from one to two inches were received at Chakrata, Dehra Dun, Mussooree, Ranikhet, Chaman and Simla. Jubbulpore reported a fall of ·88 inch, Allahabad ·84 inch, Rawalpindi and Sutna ·75 inch and a number of stations amounts ranging from a quarter to half an inch. Pressure rose generally over India and Burma on Tuesday except in the West and Central Punjab, while it had fallen briskly in Baluchistan. The depression in Central India had filled up, but another feeble disturbance had apparently advanced from Baluchistan into the Punjab where it had the effect of intensifying the residual depression in that area. Rain and snow had fallen in the Upper India hill districts and rain in the submontane districts of the Punjab, in the east of the North-Western Provinces, in Chota Nagpur, Bihar, West Bengal, and very light showers in the east of the Central Provinces. The largest amounts reported were: Hazaribagh 1·17 inches; Cherat 1·02 inches; Rawalpindi ·86 inch and Berhampore ·75 inch. The depression in the Punjab advanced Eastwards during the next two days and filled up at the foot of the Kumaon Himalayas. It gave light to moderate snow during these days on the North-West Himalayas and rain in the Punjab and the adjacent submontane districts of the North-Western Provinces. A few showers were also received on Thursday in Chota Nagpur and the eastern districts of the Central Provinces. The largest amounts reported were: Sialkot 1·50 inches and Murree 1·10 inches on Wednesday and Chakrata 1·52 inches, Mussooree 1·42 inches and Bareilly 1·23 inches on Thursday.

On Thursday the barometer fell briskly to rapidly in Persia and snow was falling at Teheran—indications that another depression had formed in Persia which advanced eastwards and entered Lower Sind on Saturday. It gave moderate snow in Baluchistan, the fall at Quetta on Saturday being equivalent to ·76 of rain, and snow and rain had again commenced falling in the North-West Punjab hills and plains.

On Friday and Saturday intensified north-easterly winds gave a few light showers over the south of the Peninsula, chiefly on the Madras Coast. Wellington received ·80 inch and Negapatam half an inch.

Daily Summary.—Sunday, January 14th.—Pressure had fallen briskly to very rapidly in East Rajputana, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand, the Punjab and adjacent districts of the North-Western Provinces, and had been steady or had fallen slightly elsewhere. The shallow depression in Gujarat on Saturday, the 13th January, had advanced into East Rajputana and had developed a secondary depression in the East and Central Punjab. Showers had been received in the Central Provinces, the east of Central India and adjoining districts of the North-Western Provinces, and snow had commenced falling in the North-West Himalayas and rain in the Punjab submontane districts. Mean temperature was in excess in the Peninsula and was normal or in excess in North-West India. It was in defect over the greater part of North-East India.

Monday, January 15th.—The depression in East Rajputana had advanced into the Eastern States of Central India and the adjacent districts and was filling up.

The secondary depression in the Punjab had also partly filled up and was not so well defined as in the previous day. Light to moderate general rain had fallen in the North-Western Provinces, Baghelkhand and Bundelkhand, rain and snow in Baluchistan and the Upper India hills, and showers in the Central Provinces, the Punjab and Bihar. Mean temperature was in excess in all provinces, except in Bihar, where it was in moderate defect, and Burma, Bengal, Assam, Sind and Rajputana, where it was normal.

Tuesday, January 16th.—Pressure had risen generally in India and Burma, but had been steady in the West and Central Punjab, and the depression in the Punjab was better defined than it had been on Monday. The shallow depression in Central India had filled up, and another very shallow depression was shown lying over the Madras Deccan. Rain and snow had fallen in the Upper India hill districts and rain in the submontane districts of the Punjab, the east of the North-Western Provinces, Chota Nagpur and Bihar; and showers in West Bengal and the east of the Central Provinces. Mean temperature was below the normal in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, Gujarat and Rajputana; and in moderate to large excess in Bengal, the Madras Coast, Mysore and the Madras Deccan.

Wednesday, January 17th.—Pressure had risen slightly to briskly in Baluchistan and the West Punjab, and had fallen briskly to rapidly in the Simla and Mussooree hills and the adjacent submontane districts. The depression in the Punjab had moved very slowly in an east-north-easterly direction and though it had partly filled up was still a well defined disturbance with pressure about a sixth of an inch in defect in its central area. Pressure had fallen briskly to rapidly in Persia. Light to moderate falls of snow had been received in the North-West Himalayas and rain in the Punjab. A few light showers had fallen in north-east India and the east of the Central Provinces. Temperature had fallen very rapidly in Baluchistan and the Indus Valley, and a well marked cold wave was entering India from the west. Mean temperature was in very large defect in Baluchistan and Sind and in considerable to large defect in Gujarat, Rajputana and the Bombay Deccan. It was in large excess in the Madras Deccan.

Thursday, January 18th.—Pressure had been steady in the south of the Peninsula and Tenasserim, and had risen elsewhere, the rise having been remarkably rapid in North-West India, amounting to nearly four-tenths of an inch at Khushab and Lahore. The depression in the Punjab had practically filled up. The barometer had continued falling briskly to rapidly in Persia and snow had commenced falling at Teheran. Light to moderate snow had fallen in the Upper India hills and rain in the Punjab and adjacent submontane districts of the North-Western Provinces. A few showers had been received in the east of the Central Provinces and Chota Nagpur. Temperature had fallen rapidly to very rapidly in the Punjab, Sind, Gujarat and Rajputana, and mean temperature was in very large defect in these provinces. It was in considerable defect in the Bombay Deccan and the West Coast, but continued in excess in the east of the Peninsula, Burma, Bengal, Assam, Bihar and the North-Western Provinces.

Friday, January 19th.—Pressure had given way slightly to briskly in the Punjab, Gujarat and on the West Coast, and a shallow depression was advancing eastwards along the Mekran Coast. Light snow had continued in the Simla and Mussooree hills, and showers had fallen in Chota Nagpur, Ceylon and the Madras Coast. Snow had commenced falling at Quetta. Temperature had fallen rapidly in Central India and the west of the North-Western Provinces, but the cold wave had advanced very slowly during the preceding 24 hours. Mean temperature was in large defect in Rajputana, Gujarat, the Punjab, Sind and Central India and in moderate defect in Chota Nagpur and the West Coast. It was normal or in excess in all other provinces.

Saturday, January 20th.—Pressure had given way briskly to rapidly in Baluchistan, the greater part of the Punjab, Sind, Raiputana and Gujarat, and the shallow depression lying over the Mekran Coast on Friday had entered Lower Sind. Snow had fallen in Baluchistan and rain and snow had commenced falling in the North-West Himalayas and the West Punjab. Light showers had been received in the south of the Peninsula. Temperature had risen generally and the advance of the cold wave eastwards had been arrested. Mean temperature was in general excess in North-East India, Burma and the Peninsula; but continued in defect in Sind, Rajputana, Gujarat, the Punjab and Central India.

Temperature.—A well marked cold wave entered India from the West on Tuesday and advanced eastward as far as Central India and the west of the North-Western Provinces by Friday, but its progress was then arrested and a general rise of temperature took place on Saturday. The following gives the more remarkable changes due to the cold wave on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday:—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Weekly Report on the state of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 27th January.—There has been no rain except a few light showers in South Arcot, Madura, and Tinnevelly. Irrigation supplies are diminishing and are generally deficient. Some cultivation is proceeding on small areas under irrigation. The standing crops, except those effectively irrigated, are deteriorating, and are in very poor condition in parts. The harvest of dry crops is yielding poorly in parts. Pasturage is scarce but fodder is generally sufficient. Cattle are in normal condition. Prices are almost stationary. They are very slightly easier in the Deccan and southern districts and slightly dearer in the Carnatic and central districts. No relief has yet been found necessary, but relief measures are being organized for weavers in Cuddapah.

Bombay.—For week ending 29th January.—There was slight rain during the week in Sind. The harvesting of autumn crops has been completed in almost all districts. The standing spring crops are in good condition in the Konkan, Bijapur, Belgaum and Thar and Parkar, and in irrigated lands in three districts of Gujrat and three of the Deccan. Autumn crops have withered in Nasik, Satara and Dharwar, and have been somewhat damaged by frost in the Panch Mahals and four districts of Sind. The fodder supply is scanty in parts of Sindh, the Deccan, and the Karnatak. Cattle are suffering severely owing to insufficiency of fodder in Rajkot, Baroda, and in three districts of Gujarat, and three of the Deccan. Prices have fallen in seven districts, risen in one district, and are stationary elsewhere. The daily average numbers on relief are as follows :—British districts :—On test works, 31,249; on relief works, 608,093; dependants, 185,876; total on works, 825,218. In poor-houses, 8,997; on village relief, 42,352; total on gratuitous relief, 51,349. Grand total on relief, 876,567. Native States :—On relief works, 275,638; dependants, 37,709; total on works, 313,347. In poor-houses, 22,045; on village relief, 7,561; total on gratuitous relief, 29,606. Grand total on relief, 342,953.

Bengal.—For week ending 29th January.—Excessive rain fell in the week in the Patna Division with injury to the spring crops in Saran, Gaya, Shahabad, and Muzaffarpur. Severe hail also caused damage in Patna, Gaya, and Saran. In the west of the Bhagalpur Division also, the rain was excessive and caused some damage; but in the east, and in the Sonthal Parganas, the lighter showers benefited the spring crops. Damage by excessive rain and hail is also reported from Palamau. Slight rain also fell in Hazaribagh, in the Khondmals, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, and Mymensingh. The pressing of sugarcane is going on and the earlier spring crops are being gathered in some districts. Scarcity of water is reported from Chuadanga. Prices, elsewhere practically stationary, have risen in the Patna Division and in Chota Nagpur.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 31st January.—The rain which began on the 21st continued during the week and extended throughout the whole provinces being uniformly heaviest in the Gorakhpur and the Fyzabad Divisions. Pilibhit is reported to have received a fall of over five inches of rain; Azamgarh of four inches; Dehra Dun, Ballia, Gorakhpur, Basti, and Sultanpur of over three inches. In the Agra Division the rain has been more general than in the previous week, Muttra having received 22½ cents and Agra 22 to 87 cents. In Bundelkhand over half an inch fell in two districts, while 20 cents were registered in Jhansi and 37 in Jalaun. In most of the other districts there have been good showers of rain. The standing crops have been greatly benefited by the rain and prospects have improved, but a break would now be beneficial. The rain has facilitated the ploughing of fields for extra crops as well as for the next autumn sowings. Serious damage by hail to some crops is reported from Sultanpur, Partabgarh, Azamgarh, Jaunpur, Balia, Ghazipur, and Mirzapur; while some damage from the same cause occurred in Aligarh, Budaun, Kheri, Barabanki, Lucknow, Fyzabad, Fatehgarh, Allahabad, Benares, Basti, Gorakhpur, Hamirpur, and Banda. Injury by frost is also reported from Hardoi, Rai Bareli, and Hamirpur. Supplies and fodder are sufficient. Prices have generally fallen slightly, but have risen in districts where hail did much damage. There were 3,423 persons on three relief works in the Jhansi district, and 85 persons in the poor-house. There were no workers on one test work in Agra which was open. The Agra poor-house contained 12 persons including three strangers from Native States. In Muttra there were 196 inmates in the poor-house.

Punjab.—For week ending 31st January.—More or less rain has fallen in all districts except Lahore and Amritsar. A fall of snow is reported to have occurred in the plains of the south-western part of the Peshawar district. Over an inch of rain has fallen in parts of Gurgaon, Amballa, Jullundar, and the hilly tracts of the Rawalpindi district. The sowings of extra spring crops have commenced on irrigated areas in parts of Gurgaon, and land is being prepared for sowings of the same crops in Lahore. Wheat and barley mixed are being sown on dry lands in parts of Sialkot and Gujrat. Owing to the recent rainfall certain inferior autumn crops are being sown and land is being ploughed for sowing of sugarcane in Amballa. The condition and prospects of the standing irrigated crops are said to be good in Hissar, Rohtak, Gurgaon, Amritsar, and Peshawar; fair in Karnal; favourable in Sialkot; average in Jullundar, Ferozepur and parts of Rawalpindi, and poor in Lahore. The condition of crops irrigated by brackish wells are still worse in Rohtak and Gurgaon, and that of lands dependent on rain is bad. The recent rain has benefited the standing crops in Hissar, Mooltan, Sialkot, Gujrat, Bannu and parts of Dera Ismail Khan; but it has not materially improved their condition in Gurgaon and Delhi where the rainfall was insufficient. Loans are being given to poor agriculturists in Gujrat. The gram, rape and barley crops are being damaged by caterpillars in parts of Ferozepore. The condition of cattle is reported fair in Karnal. Cattle are starving in Delhi, Lahore, Gujrat, Shahpur, Jhelum, and Dera Ismail Khan; they are weak and out of condition in other districts also on account of overwork and scarcity of fodder. Fodder is said to be scarce in all districts except Peshawar. Cattle are being fed on weeds and leaves of trees where procurable. The prices of almost all food grains are falling in Delhi, Amballa, and Shahpur; and are unchanged in Rohtak, Jullundar, Ferozepore, Lahore, Rawalpindi, and Dera Ismail Khan. In other districts the prices are unsettled, i.e, of some grains they are rising while of others they are falling or are unchanged. Wheat is selling from 9½ to 12; gram, 11 to 14; barley, 11½ to 13½; great millet, 10¾ to 15; bulrush millet, 9¾ to 13; maize, 11 to 17 seers per rupee. Rice is selling from 9 to 9½ seers in Sialkot. The average number on relief was as follows:—Relief workers:—Hissar, 64,563; Rohtak, 21,056; Gurgaon, 921; Delhi, 2,531; Shahpur, 4,473. Dependants:—Hissar, 22,341; Gurgaon, 1,226; Delhi, 549; Karnal, 287; Shahpur, 1,499. On test works:—Gurgaon, 9,138; Karnal, 7,240; Amballa, 179; Ferozepore, 3,540; Lahore, 563; Amritsar, 523; Jhelum, 111. Poor-house inmates:—Hissar, 3,135; Rohtak, 59; Gurgaon, 69; Delhi, 169; Shahpur, 102. Otherwise relieved:—Hissar, 15,306; Rohtak, 2,301; Gurgaon, 336; Karnal, 135. One test work has been newly opened and another closed in Amballa. In addition to the above, 1,645 persons have been employed on relief works in the Native States. The details for each State are given below:—Relief works:—Pataudi, 275; Loharu, 544; Dujana, 287. Gratuitously relieved:—Pataudi 426; Loharu, 119; Dujana, 84.

Burma.—For week ending 20th January.—In Lower Burma the reaping of paddy continues in five districts. Threshing and winnowing are progressing. In Upper Burma reaping of wet weather paddy continues in seven districts. The transplanting of dry weather paddy is in progress in six districts, and the cultivation of Island crops and reaping of jowar and sessamum continue as before. Crop prospects are everywhere good. The price of paddy has risen slightly in Rangoon and Myingyan, and largely in Minbu; and has fallen in Pegu and Toungoo. Elsewhere it is stationary.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 30th January.—The weather is generally cloudy and cool. Light showers of rain fell in Mandla, Bhandara, Chanda and Bilaspur approximating to half an inch and 6, 2 and 3 cents respectively. Only a few drops fell in Wardha. The rain of last week has benefited the spring crops in parts of Saugor, Seoni, Mandla and Chhindwara. Slight damage to crops through cloudy weather is reported from Bhandara and Balaghat; by hail from Damoh; and through frost from Jubbulpore. The damage by frost and hail in the Khurai Tahsil of the Saugor district is reported to be considerable. The agricultural outlook is still very gloomy and has not much altered. The cutting of tur and til crops has been completed in Nagpur, and pressing of sugarcane continues in Betul and Sambalpur. The harvesting of spring crops is in progress in parts. The preparation of land for autumn sowings continues in Nagpur. Fodder and water are generally scanty. Prices are steady in Saugor, Narsinghpur, Hoshangabad, Betul, Chhindwara, Nagpur, Balaghat, Raipur and Sambalpur; they have slightly fallen in Jubbulpore, Mandla, Chanda and Bilaspur. There are local fluctuations elsewhere. The cheapest prices are:—wheat, 12; gram, 15; rice, $11\frac{7}{8}$; juar, 12 seers per rupee. The dearest prices are:—wheat, $8\frac{3}{8}$; gram, $9\frac{1}{4}$; rice, 8; juar $9\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. There are 125 Public Works Department relief camps now open. The numbers on famine relief have fallen substantially in Raipur and Betul, and there is a net decrease of 14,000.
